Wharton, Wicks Join Fichtner Since 1950 for Federal Aid

Brigadier General C. H. Chorpening, assistant chief of engineers for Civil Works, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, has notified Congressman J. Ernest Wharton that through his efforts and those of Senator Arthur H. Wicks $50,000 has been alloted to the district engineer for work of flood control on the upper Esopus creek.

In a letter under date of November 26, 1952, General Chorpening writes Congressman Wharton "you may be assured that these protective measures will be accomplished as expediously as practicable."

Asked Aid in 1950

Since the disastrous floods of 1950 and 1951, both Congressman Wharton and Senator Wicks have been working with Supervisor George G. Fichtner of Shandaken to have a survey made to secure federal assistance.

Senator Wicks was notified recently by Congressman Wharton of the decision of the Army Engineers to allocate money and carry out a program of flood control around Shandaken and Mt. Tremper.

In reference to the allocation of money under the Flood Control Act, Congressman Wharton writes: "I have had quite a time getting this matter around to its present status and we owe a debt of gratitude to John Taber for his able assistance. Will you kindly advise Supervisor Fichtner of the situation in view of his interest in the matter. He has spent a great deal of time and effort with us."

Last October the district engineer in New York was requested by Congressman Wharton to investigate the status of the investigation of the flood problems along the Esopus creek in Ulster county and the report of the district engineer, together with comments of the division engineer of the North Atlantic Division, are now at hand and have been reviewed.

The survey shows that at Mt. Tremper the flooded area along the left bank is immediately downstream from the bank protection works constructed by the State of New York.

Caused Heavy Damage

"In that area the floods of 25 November 1950 and 31 March 1951 caused property damages estimated at $17,400 and $21,000, respectively," states the report. "Somewhat less extensive damages were caused by the subsequent flood on 10 July 1952. In addition, shoaling at the bend in the channel has caused a stream meander which is eroding the left bank and is destroying property. The second problem area is about 10 miles upstream from Mt. Tremper and near Shandaken, New York. At this location the floods of November 1950 and March 1951 overflowed and damaged seven dwellings, five tourist cabins, and three other business establishments. In addition, erosion along a side channel if threatening to destroy a house and other nearby

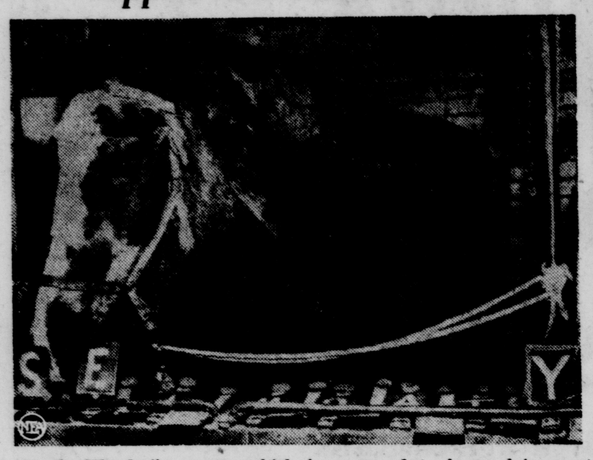
Appeal to Wonder Horse



"Lady Wonder" a mare which is supposed to have clairvoyant powers, answers a question on the typewriter constructed especially for her. The horse, answering a plea of the mother "a missing muto child", told her that the boy was alive, hurt and in a truck in Kansas—miles from his Rhode Island home. (NEA Telephoto).

Police credit the animal with giving them a clue to the whereabouts of a Massachusetts child for whom they had searched for nearly two years. Now a great number of persons are seeking advice from Lady. Hard to believe? Associated Press Reporter Paul Duke thought so too, so he paid a visit to Lady's stall for an "interview." Here's what he found.)

By PAUL DUKE

Richmond, Va., Dec. 9 (AP)—So you're skeptical about Lady Wonder, Richmond's incredible "talking" horse?

So was this reporter when he went out to "interview" her.

A horse that can predict the future and reel off facts like a child prodigy? Just a lot of bunk, I thought.

But after a half hour "chat" with Lady I came away from her tiny stall scratching my head and wondering whether there isn't more fact than fiction to horse sense.

Lots of other folk are wondering the same thing now that Lady has been credited with providing the "tip" that led to discovery of the body of Danny Matson, a four-year-old child missing from his Quincy, Mass., home for nearly two years.

Regular Quiz Program

Since Sunday, Lady's mistress, a gray haired little woman named Claudia Fonda, has been deluged with long distance calls from persons who want the 27-year-old horse quizzed on everything from stolen bicycles to wildcat oil wells.

Mrs. Fonda won't take the requests by telephone, declaring that Lady is not at her best unless the questioner is on hand to get the answer straight from the horse's mouth.

Mrs. Fonda made two exceptions to this rule, however. She agreed to ask Lady sometime today about Phyllis June Ryder, 19-year-old beauty from Eggertsville, N. Y., and an unidentified Chicagoan who recently disappeared.

But about that interview:

Lady flabbergasted me when she correctly answered most of the 15 questions I fired at her.

She does her answering by poking her chin at levers extending out from tiny slides containing numbers and letters. When she touches the levers, the numbers and letters shoot up, spelling out her answers.

Mrs. Fonda stood beside Lady, repeating the questions into the mare's ear. Sometimes Mrs. Fonda grazed Lady's sleek brown back with the swish of a whip. She did this to prod the horse.

Even Figures His Pay

Lady started out perfectly by pecking out my name. When I asked her where I was born, she spelled out Bethlehem, Pa.—the right answer. When I asked her how much money I make weekly, she came back with the exact dollars-and-cents figure.

She flubbed it when I asked her where I went to school. But two questions later, she named the school in a delayed-action reply.

Lady has been playing this question and answer game for more than 20 years. The folks who visit her at Mrs. Fonda's small frame house on the edge of town get three questions for a dollar.

No Signals, They Say

Occasionally, a psychologist or someone prominent in the medical field comes along to try Lady. In 1928, two Duke University psychology professors tested her and concluded:

"There appears to be no loopholes, no reasonable possibility for signalling, either of a conscious or unconscious character."

And in 1946, Dr. Thomas L. Garrett, New York psychologist, said he could find "no trickery involved."

I thought about a tipoff system between Lady and her mistress. But she has answered questions

39 Receive Papers At Monday Court As Full Citizens

Are Welcomed by Elsworth as They Swear Their Allegiance to This Nation

Thirty-nine foreign born residents of the county were admitted to citizenship Monday in Supreme Court before Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth. Four applicants were absent and their applications were continued. In two cases the applications were denied.

Following questioning by the examiner as to whether any petitioner had been absent from the country since the preliminary examination or whether had been arrested or changed their marital status, the group was addressed by Justice Elsworth and took the oath of allegiance.

Welcomed by Judge

Justice Elsworth congratulated the group and extended a "warm welcome to my fellow citizens who have just become a part of the great American family" and then he spoke of the importance of the step which each had just taken by their oath of allegiance to the United States. In renouncing all allegiance to the country of their birth and becoming citizens of their new home country, he told them they had taken one of the most important and solemn steps of their life. In becoming citizens of the United States, Justice Elsworth told the group they were now entitled to enjoy all of the rights of every citizen, save that of becoming president or vice-president of the country, a duty which is reserved for those who have been born citizens of this country. With this one reservation he said they were entitled to enjoy all of the rights of freedom and democracy which goes with complete citizenship.

Sign Final Papers

At the close of the address by the Court and his welcome those admitted went to the supervisors room where they signed the final papers to make them full citizens of the United States:

Those who were admitted were: Josef Knubben, Joseph Fabaino, Cecilia Provenzano, Sarah Dean, Ernst Fink, Michelina Nuzzo, Vivian James Thomas, Catherine Burke, Margaret Holtmann, Katherina Albers, Christiane Marie Van Rijn, Frieda Luise Kaschel, Sam Katz, Pearl Katz, Margaret Leighton Van der Essen, Lena Lea Grosch, Clara Levy, Adolf Levy, Pauline Jacob, Lena Weber, John Reiter, Martin Dinkl, Zoltan Gondor, Danka Sava Milo, Alice Fischer, Helen Fabbie, Paul Eng, Leslie Clifford Karley, Rose Zmiyarch, Barbara Romana Nelting, Wilhelmine Hoeffken, Maria Martha Korchowsky, Marie Hohenberger, Kathleen Emmick, Mary Wilson, John Sternlof, Mabel Gertrude Anderson, Socrate Albano, Johanna Miggins.

Free Society Is Doomed Says Judd

Congressman Advises Churchmen They Are in Crucial Moment of History

Reds on March

Former China Missioner Declares Religion Is Only Hope

Denver, Dec. 9 (AP)—Rep. Walter Judd (R.-Minn.) told churchmen throughout the country meeting here last night that the odds are against the survival of free society.

He told the churchmen "we are in a crucial moment of history when the odds are against us—from the standpoint of survival of our kind of society."

At a dinner of United Churchmen of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., he said, "all civilization has been put on the defensive and communism is on the march."

A one-time missionary to China, Judd said there is "no hope for Korea," and "the Koreans all know it." He said one of the reasons for such a situation is that we are following an old habit of "trying to make a deal" with the enemy.

Religion Only Hope

Some 400 laymen from 20 denominations heard the congressman describe Christian religion as "the only hope." It gives hope because it offers the possibility that men can be changed, he said.

Looking over conditions in the Far East, Judd said, "people talk about Japan being a bastion against communism. They'd like it to be but it can't."

Economic conditions are putting Japan on the ropes and forcing her to look toward Red China for trade; the Philippines is "a dead duck," and Indo China is tottering, he said.

"There was never any chance to save it," he said, "once Communists had consolidated power in China."

Judd said the Americans may be having tough going in Korea, but, "it's worse in Indo-China—and they'll be there."

Communism Spreads

Judd said there has been a "terrible contraction of the places where men are free, and an expansion of where they are enslaved."

"We've been at war for 30 years, and don't know it," he said. "That's why we're losing."

In the Philippines, he said, America has sacrificed 50 years of democratic teachings and leadership, but "there's no way for the Philippines" to remain independent if the Communists rule on the mainland.

Cause Is Lost

In China, he said 135 years of missionary work had been lost because the Christian missionaries wouldn't believe "that the devil was the devil."

"They will have to stand before judgment and answer for that mistake," he said.

The roots of our failure, he said, is that America tried to 'make a settlement, an arrangement with the devil (communism)"—instead of spurning him as Christ did when he was tempted.

Prepare to Return

Independence, Mo., Dec. 9 (AP)—President Truman prepared to start back to Washington today to resume, for six more weeks, the duties of a Chief of State. The President and his family returned to their Missouri home for the funeral of Mrs. David W. Wallace, 90, who was buried yesterday. She was Mrs. Truman's mother. The Trumans were expected to remain in near-seclusion until their departure for Washington at 6:15 p. m. (CST).

Cranes Get Rail Cars Off Tracks

Official Estimates That Schedules Will Be Resumed Today as Wreck Is Cleared

Can't Find Cause

Riders Still Transfer by Taxi; Freights Run on Slow Orders

Three steam cranes, working since yesterday morning until 9:15 a. m. today, had cleared wreckage from the West Shore tracks at Highland where 21 cars of a 54-car freight derailed at about 12:50 a. m. Monday.

A railroad official estimated that the line's regular schedules would be resumed this afternoon as soon as work was completed on the relaying of rails in the area where the cars were slewed and piled along the tracks.

Eastbound Cleared

An official at Weehawken said that the eastbound track had been cleared and made ready for traffic limited to a 10-mile-an-hour speed by 10:20 a. m., and it was expected that the westbound track would be ready by 4 p. m.

Cause of the mishap is not yet positively established, he said, but it is still believed to have been caused by a defective journal on the car loaded with sulphur about midway in the train.

No official estimate of damage was announced other than the fact that it runs into "many thousands of dollars."

Use Other Lines

At least three freight trains since the wreck have traveled over the Wallkill Valley between Kingston and Campbell Hall, on the O & W between the latter terminal and Cornwall, and by the West Shore between Cornwall and Weehawken.

Passengers on the few trains now operating on the road transferred to either side of the wreck by taxi as they did yesterday, up until the opening of travel on the one track. All trains were due to go over the eastbound track between Milton and West Park, until both tracks were opened late this afternoon.

An official said that because of the partial use of the O. & W. and Wallkill Valley detours, not many frieghts would be backed up by the wreck, and that probably those resuming schedules today would run "on slow orders."

100 Men Clean Up

The steam cranes, which cleared the wreckage, were from Selkirk, Weehawken and Rensselaer. About 100 men were employed on the clean-up job.

The journal box on a freight car, believed in this instance, to have caused the wreck, is a unit to curb axel friction.

Cleaning up after the wreck included the repair of electric lines and the replacing of poles which had been pushed over or cut off as the cars buckled and piled in the area between the Highland station and the freight house several hundred feet north.

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., reported two of its poles hit, but said only seven customers in the waterfront area of Highland experienced disrupted service.

Kaplan, Galvin Are On Health Board Again

Harry Kaplan of Kingston was re-elected president of the Ulster County Board of Health at the board's annual meeting Monday night.

Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale, vice president of the board, was also re-elected.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner, acted as secretary of the board.

Eisenhower Faces Full Program on Far East Problems

Due for Three-Day Confab With Military Heads at Pearl Harbor on Arrival

Aboard the USS Helena en Route to Hawaii, Dec. 9 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and his party crossed the International Dateline tonight and faced another Tuesday of full discussions on various aspects of problems in the Far East.

The Helena cut throut the dateline at 8 p. m. Tuesday. That set the clock and calendar back to 8 p. m. Monday.

The ship is due at Pearl Harbor at 9 a. m. (2 p. m. EST) Thursday.

Top-level discussions continued yesterday but there was no announcement or report to indicate their trend. Eisenhower and his advisers met first as a unit, then again broke up into smaller groups.

Pearl Harbor Conference

When the Helena reaches Pearl Harbor at the end of its 3,300 mile trip from Guam, the group will confer for possibly three more days with military leaders and advisers now gathered there.

Then the general will fly back to his headquarters at the Hotel Commodore in New York.

Tough Tony Says Jobs Easy For Cons With Bad Records

Tells Waterfront Probe Fellow Prisoner Got Him Position in Sing Sing

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—A longshoreman recruited for dock work while he was still in Sing Sing prison says the "worse record you had, the easier it was to get a job" on New York's waterfront.

Ex-convict Anthony (Tough Tony) Tischon testified yesterday before the State Crime Commission in its probe of waterfront crime.

The witness stand appearance of Tischon, who was given police protection for fear of possible reprisals, was pointed up by a plea from a shipping firm official for more city and state protection of the docks.

Moving through a fourth day of testimony yesterday, the Crime Commission was given a picture of rackets along the 700-mile waterfront in both New Jersey and New York, which milk the harbor's seven billion dollar shipping industry of an estimated 350 millions annually.

Tischon, who has spent 11 of his 33 years behind bars, testified that a fellow convict offered him a pier job while both were still

McGranery Moves to Take Citizenship From Anastasia

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Attorney General McGranery today ordered proceedings to strip American citizenship from Albert Anastasia, described by the Justice Department as a New York waterfront racketeer.

Anastasia, a native of Italy, is currently a leading figure in the New York State Crime Commission's investigation of alleged gangsterism in the world's largest dock area.

The Justice Department said it had allegations in its files that Anastasia, 50, living at Fort Lee, N. J., was one-time "Lord High Executioner of Murder, Inc."

To File Papers Today

The denaturalization proceeding, a first step looking toward deportation from the United States, will be filed in the Federal District Court at Newark, N. J., probably late today.

It will allege that Anastasia failed to disclose various aliases and a criminal record in obtaining his certificate for entry into this country.

McGranery said Anastasia denied having such a record, although he had been convicted of murder and had been sent to the death house in Sing Sing, prior to a reversal of the conviction on appeal in 1921.

His record, McGranery said, "also shows that he had been arrested three other times, and two of these arrests involved murder."

100 Undesirables

His exclusion is being sought in connection with the attorney general's program for ridding the country of some 100 underworld figures described by McGranery as "undesirables."

More than a dozen denaturalization and deportation proceedings are underway.

Albert Anastasia is a brother of Gerado (Jerry) Anastasio — who spells his name differently. Jerry, a business agent of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, refused to answer questions last week when summoned before the New York investigation.

The Crime Commission has also been trying to get Albert Anastasia on the stand. However, he was recently injured in an automobile accident and his lawyers have said he will be unable to appear for a week or so.

Checking Since October

The Justice Department said its investigation of Anastasia, by the FBI and the Immigration Service, has been going on since early October.

He arrived in the United States

Days Were Warmer In '51 at This Time

If you feel as though the ghost of last summer is breathing on December, you may be right, but you also may be surprised to know that we had warmer days at this time a year ago.

The high temperature yesterday and Sunday was 47 degrees by the city engineer's records, but a year ago the high on Dec. 8 was 60 degrees, and for two days before that the high was 63 degrees.

Again back in 1943 on Dec. 9 the mercury hit 59 and it repeated that high temperature on the same date in 1946.

The overnight low temperature today was 41 degrees at 2 a. m. Monday's was 31 at midnight.

More Snow Forecast

An Associated Press report today said that Pacific coast areas, already hit by a damaging storm, braced for more today, but said no storm clouds appeared in the rest of the country, and no cold weather was reported.

A strong southerly flow held temperatures at unusually high levels during the night between the Appalachians and the Mississippi river.

Readings included 63 in Memphis, 58 in Indianapolis, and 55 in Detroit.

The weekend storm was blamed for 14 deaths in California and Oregon. Many highways were blocked by fallen trees or snow drifts.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The position of the treasury Dec. 5: Net budget receipts, $236,437,874.77; budget expenditures, $277,034,858.49; cash balance, $6,611,619,405.75; customs receipts for month, $13,137,086.37; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $21,856,935,634.53; budget expenditures fiscal year, $30,799,651,470.19; budget deficit, $8,942,715,835.66; total debt, $267,237,480,311.22; decrease under previous day, $43,051,876.86; gold assets, $23,337,227,775.40.

Some 400 laymen from 20 denominations heard the congressman describe Christian religion as "the only hope." It gives hope because it offers the possibility that men can be changed, he said.

Looking over conditions in the Far East, Judd said, "people talk about Japan being a bastion against communism. They'd like it to be but it can't."

Economic conditions are putting Japan on the ropes and forcing her to look toward Red China for trade; the Philippines is "a dead duck," and Indo China is tottering, he said.

"There was never any chance to save it," he said, "once Communists had consolidated power in China."

Judd said the Americans may be having tough going in Korea, but, "it's worse in Indo-China—and they'll be there."

Communism Spreads

Judd said there has been a "terrible contraction of the places where men are free, and an expansion of where they are enslaved."

"We've been at war for 30 years, and don't know it," he said. "That's why we're losing."

In the Philippines, he said, America has sacrificed 50 years of democratic teachings and leadership, but "there's no way for the Philippines" to remain independent if the Communists rule on the mainland.

Cause Is Lost

In China, he said 135 years of missionary work had been lost because the Christian missionaries wouldn't believe "that the devil was the devil."

"They will have to stand before judgment and answer for that mistake," he said.

The roots of our failure, he said, is that America tried to 'make a settlement, an arrangement with the devil (communism)"—instead of spurning him as Christ did when he was tempted.

Prepare to Return

Independence, Mo., Dec. 9 (AP)—President Truman prepared to start back to Washington today to resume, for six more weeks, the duties of a Chief of State. The President and his family returned to their Missouri home for the funeral of Mrs. David W. Wallace, 90, who was buried yesterday. She was Mrs. Truman's mother. The Trumans were expected to remain in near-seclusion until their departure for Washington at 6:15 p. m. (CST).

Cranes Get Rail Cars Off Tracks

Official Estimates That Schedules Will Be Resumed Today as Wreck Is Cleared

Can't Find Cause

Riders Still Transfer by Taxi; Freights Run on Slow Orders

Three steam cranes, working since yesterday morning until 9:15 a. m. today, had cleared wreckage from the West Shore tracks at Highland where 21 cars of a 54-car freight derailed at about 12:50 a. m. Monday.

A railroad official estimated that the line's regular schedules would be resumed this afternoon as soon as work was completed on the relaying of rails in the area where the cars were slewed and piled along the tracks.

Eastbound Cleared

An official at Weehawken said that the eastbound track had been cleared and made ready for traffic limited to a 10-mile-an-hour speed by 10:20 a. m., and it was expected that the westbound track would be ready by 4 p. m.

Cause of the mishap is not yet positively established, he said, but it is still believed to have been caused by a defective journal on the car loaded with sulphur about midway in the train.

No official estimate of damage was announced other than the fact that it runs into "many thousands of dollars."

Use Other Lines

At least three freight trains since the wreck have traveled over the Wallkill Valley between Kingston and Campbell Hall, on the O & W between the latter terminal and Cornwall, and by the West Shore between Cornwall and Weehawken.

Passengers on the few trains now operating on the road transferred to either side of the wreck by taxi as they did yesterday, up until the opening of travel on the one track. All trains were due to go over the eastbound track between Milton and West Park, until both tracks were opened late this afternoon.

An official said that because of the partial use of the O. & W. and Wallkill Valley detours, not many frieghts would be backed up by the wreck, and that probably those resuming schedules today would run "on slow orders."

100 Men Clean Up

The steam cranes, which cleared the wreckage, were from Selkirk, Weehawken and Rensselaer. About 100 men were employed on the clean-up job.

The journal box on a freight car, believed in this instance, to have caused the wreck, is a unit to curb axel friction.

Cleaning up after the wreck included the repair of electric lines and the replacing of poles which had been pushed over or cut off as the cars buckled and piled in the area between the Highland station and the freight house several hundred feet north.

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., reported two of its poles hit, but said only seven customers in the waterfront area of Highland experienced disrupted service.

Kaplan, Galvin Are On Health Board Again

Harry Kaplan of Kingston was re-elected president of the Ulster County Board of Health at the board's annual meeting Monday night.

Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale, vice president of the board, was also re-elected.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner, acted as secretary of the board.

Due for Three-Day Confab With Military Heads at Pearl Harbor on Arrival

Aboard the USS Helena en Route to Hawaii, Dec. 9 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and his party crossed the International Dateline tonight and faced another Tuesday of full discussions on various aspects of problems in the Far East.

The Helena cut throut the dateline at 8 p. m. Tuesday. That set the clock and calendar back to 8 p. m. Monday.

The ship is due at Pearl Harbor at 9 a. m. (2 p. m. EST) Thursday.

Top-level discussions continued yesterday but there was no announcement or report to indicate their trend. Eisenhower and his advisers met first as a unit, then again broke up into smaller groups.

Pearl Harbor Conference

When the Helena reaches Pearl Harbor at the end of its 3,300 mile trip from Guam, the group will confer for possibly three more days with military leaders and advisers now gathered there.

Then the general will fly back to his headquarters at the Hotel Commodore in New York.

Up to Taxpayers

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The American taxpayer eventually will pay for the Pacific travels of President-designate Eisenhower and his advisers. But nobody in

Tough Tony Says Jobs Easy For Cons With Bad Records

McGranery Moves to Take Citizenship From Anastasia

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Attorney General McGranery today ordered proceedings to strip American citizenship from Albert Anastasia, described by the Justice Department as a New York waterfront racketeer.

Anastasia, a native of Italy, is currently a leading figure in the New York State Crime Commission's investigation of alleged gangsterism in the world's largest dock area.

The Justice Department said it had allegations in its files that Anastasia, 50, living at Fort Lee, N. J., was one-time "Lord High Executioner of Murder, Inc."

To File Papers Today

The denaturalization proceeding, a first step looking toward deportation from the United States, will be filed in the Federal District Court at Newark, N. J., probably late today.

It will allege that Anastasia failed to disclose various aliases and a criminal record in obtaining his certificate for entry into this country.

McGranery said Anastasia denied having such a record, although he had been convicted of murder and had been sent to the death house in Sing Sing, prior to a reversal of the conviction on appeal in 1921.

His record, McGranery said, "also shows that he had been arrested three other times, and two of these arrests involved murder."

100 Undesirables

His exclusion is being sought in connection with the attorney general's program for ridding the country of some 100 underworld figures described by McGranery as "undesirables."

More than a dozen denaturalization and deportation proceedings are underway.

Albert Anastasia is a brother of Gerado (Jerry) Anastasio — who spells his name differently. Jerry, a business agent of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, refused to answer questions last week when summoned before the New York investigation.

The Crime Commission has also been trying to get Albert Anastasia on the stand. However, he was recently injured in an automobile accident and his lawyers have said he will be unable to appear for a week or so.

Checking Since October

The Justice Department said its investigation of Anastasia, by the FBI and the Immigration Service, has been going on since early October.

He arrived in the United States

Tells Waterfront Probe Fellow Prisoner Got Him Position in Sing Sing

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—A longshoreman recruited for dock work while he was still in Sing Sing prison says the "worse record you had, the easier it was to get a job" on New York's waterfront.

Ex-convict Anthony (Tough Tony) Tischon testified yesterday before the State Crime Commission in its probe of waterfront crime.

The witness stand appearance of Tischon, who was given police protection for fear of possible reprisals, was pointed up by a plea from a shipping firm official for more city and state protection of the docks.

Moving through a fourth day of testimony yesterday, the Crime Commission was given a picture of rackets along the 700-mile waterfront in both New Jersey and New York, which milk the harbor's seven billion dollar shipping industry of an estimated 350 millions annually.

Tischon, who has spent 11 of his 33 years behind bars, testified that a fellow convict offered him a pier job while both were still

Days Were Warmer In '51 at This Time

If you feel as though the ghost of last summer is breathing on December, you may be right, but you also may be surprised to know that we had warmer days at this time a year ago.

The high temperature yesterday and Sunday was 47 degrees by the city engineer's records, but a year ago the high on Dec. 8 was 60 degrees, and for two days before that the high was 63 degrees.

Again back in 1943 on Dec. 9 the mercury hit 59 and it repeated that high temperature on the same date in 1946.

The overnight low temperature today was 41 degrees at 2 a. m. Monday's was 31 at midnight.

More Snow Forecast

An Associated Press report today said that Pacific coast areas, already hit by a damaging storm, braced for more today, but said no storm clouds appeared in the rest of the country, and no cold weather was reported.

A strong southerly flow held temperatures at unusually high levels during the night between the Appalachians and the Mississippi river.

Readings included 63 in Memphis, 58 in Indianapolis, and 55 in Detroit.

The weekend storm was blamed for 14 deaths in California and Oregon. Many highways were blocked by fallen trees or snow drifts.

One for the Road

Trucks outside of Donner Summit, Calif., line up to wait for U. S. Highway 40 to be cleared of snow. The season's worst storm in California has closed 140 miles of roads in the north where serious floods are threatening ruin. (NEA Telephoto)

Health Films Well Attended

An audience of doctors, nurses, teachers, social workers and other professional persons attended an invitation preview showing of Passion for Life, a French-language, feature length movie produced by Brandon Films Company, at the George Washington School auditorium Monday night.

The showing was sponsored by the Ulster County Mental Health Committee and was followed by a discussion led by Dr. Eugene Link of New Paltz State Teachers College. Among the participants was Dr. Alice Rost, psychiatrist, of Albany and Kingston, who pointed out that the film illustrated the fact that teachers must have confidence in themselves.

Immediately preceeding the showing of the film, a regular meeting of the Mental Health Committee was held with Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman, presiding. Action was deferred for further study on a proposal that the committee disaffiliate itself from its parent organization, the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and become an autonomous society. The proposal came from the New York State Mental Health Society, an outgrowth of the former Mental Health Committee of the State Charities Aid Association and which is now a separately organized society affiliated with the National Association of Mental Health.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Motors and railroads were the leaders today in a substantial advance in the stock market.

Gains between 1 and 2 points appeared in a number of major groups while there was a solid base of fractional plus signs. Nevertheless, several stubborn individual issues persisted on the downside.

Volume clicked along at a rate better than yesterday's 1,790,000 shares.

General Motors also moved into high ground after opening on a block of 3,000 shares up ¼ at 65½. Packard before lunchtime traded blocks of 10,000, 20,000 and 25,000 shares unchanged to an eighth higher.

Local Death Record

Chester L. Wells

Funeral services for Chester L. Wells, who died December 5, at his residence in Ulster Park, were held at A. Carr and Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl street, Monday afternoon with the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church, officiating. Many friends visited the parlors Sunday to pay their respects and there were many beautiful flowers. Burial was in St. Remy Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Lapine

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Lapine was held from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home, 111 West Chester street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. with religious services in charge of the Rev. Fenton C. St. John, pastor of Port Ewen Methodist Church. Floral tributes were many and beautiful and there were many in attendance at the rites, also on Sunday when the funeral home was open to those wishing to pay their last respects to the deceased, a well-known resident of Port Ewen. Burial was in River View Cemetery, there. Bearers were Harry K. Secor, Oakley Maynard, Howard Galbreth and Cleon Jump.

Edward Hartney

Edward Hartney of Vineyard avenue, Highland, died at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, Monday night after a short illness. He was born in Modena, son of the late John and Bridget Kelly Hartney, and had lived in that village until moving to Highland in 1944. A retired fruit grower and dairy farmer he served for many years as chairman of the Democratic party for the Town of Plattekill. He was a member of St. Charles Church, Gardiner, and the Elks Club of Kingston. His wife, Ellen Kelly, died in 1919. He is survived by two daughters, Anna of Newburgh and Ella of Highland; one sister, Mrs. Thomas Shay of Clintondale; two grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from the home on Vineyard avenue at 9:15 a. m. Thursday, thence to St. Charles Church at 10 a. m. where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John H. Mahoney. Burial will be in St. Charles Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

John Thomas Graney

The funeral of John Thomas Graney, was held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home and at St. Mary's Church 10 a. m. where a solemn high Mass was offered by the Rev. John A. Flaherty, with the Rev. William Raftery, as deacon and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly as sub-deacon. Responses to the Mass were by the children's choir under the direction of choirmaster-organist Theodore Riccobono. Many relatives and friends assisted at the requiem as a final religious respect. During the time the body reposed in the funeral home, scores of family acquaintances called to condole with the bereaved. Clergy visiting the home and reciting the prayers for the dead were the right Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, PR, VF and Father Farrelly. Friday night Father Flaherty called and assisted by those present recited the Rosary. There were numerous floral contributions and spiritual bouquets, tokens of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Bearers were Michael Gallagher, Sam J. Turck, Frank Williams, James DeCicco, Raymond Fabysack and John Czarnecki. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where the final blessing was given by Monsignor Drury. Following the service at the grave, a squad under Commander John A. Weber, composed of John Ray Mayone, Abram Singer, Harry Whitney and Donald Moore, fired the three volleys over the flag-draped casket, and taps were sounded by John Ray Mayone.

Day Line Again Plans Greene Stops

Resort owners of the Greene county area have been notified by the Hudson River Day Line that they will again get boat service between New York and Catskill two days a week, it was learned today.

James H. Driscoll, publicity director for the boat line, said the service next year will be on Saturdays and Sundays from June 27 to Labor Day, Sept. 7. This information was sent to more than 800 hotel and boarding house owners in the area.

The boats will leave New York at 9 a. m., and will arrive in Catskill at 3:30 p. m. They will leave Catskill for New York at 4 p. m., and arrive in the city at 10:15 p. m.

Kingston's efforts within the past three years to obtain similar service were unsuccessful because of lack of dock, taxi and bus facilities.

Mac Has Korea Plan

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today President-elect Eisenhower would be wise to "utilize the genius" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in forming any new plans to end the Korean war. MacArthur, who refrained from endorsing Eisenhower in the election campaign although he keynoted the GOP convention, announced Friday he has a plan for "a clear and definite solution of the Korean conflict" without involving unduly heavy allied casualties. He declined to disclose in plan publicity, but left the clear impression he would be glad to discuss it with the incoming President. He made the remarks in a speech to the National Association of Manufacturers.

Immediately preceeding the showing of the film, a regular meeting of the Mental Health Committee was held with Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman, presiding. Action was deferred for further study on a proposal that the committee disaffiliate itself from its parent organization, the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and become an autonomous society. The proposal came from the New York State Mental Health Society, an outgrowth of the former Mental Health Committee of the State Charities Aid Association and which is now a separately organized society affiliated with the National Association of Mental Health.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Motors and railroads were the leaders today in a substantial advance in the stock market.

Gains between 1 and 2 points appeared in a number of major groups while there was a solid base of fractional plus signs. Nevertheless, several stubborn individual issues persisted on the downside.

Volume clicked along at a rate better than yesterday's 1,790,000 shares.

General Motors also moved into high ground after opening on a block of 3,000 shares up ¼ at 65½. Packard before lunchtime traded blocks of 10,000, 20,000 and 25,000 shares unchanged to an eighth higher.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city; branch office, 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Local Death Record

Chester L. Wells

Funeral services for Chester L. Wells, who died December 5, at his residence in Ulster Park, were held at A. Carr and Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl street, Monday afternoon with the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church, officiating. Many friends visited the parlors Sunday to pay their respects and there were many beautiful flowers. Burial was in St. Remy Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Lapine

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Lapine was held from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home, 111 West Chester street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. with religious services in charge of the Rev. Fenton C. St. John, pastor of Port Ewen Methodist Church. Floral tributes were many and beautiful and there were many in attendance at the rites, also on Sunday when the funeral home was open to those wishing to pay their last respects to the deceased, a well-known resident of Port Ewen. Burial was in River View Cemetery, there. Bearers were Harry K. Secor, Oakley Maynard, Howard Galbreth and Cleon Jump.

Edward Hartney

Edward Hartney of Vineyard avenue, Highland, died at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, Monday night after a short illness. He was born in Modena, son of the late John and Bridget Kelly Hartney, and had lived in that village until moving to Highland in 1944. A retired fruit grower and dairy farmer he served for many years as chairman of the Democratic party for the Town of Plattekill. He was a member of St. Charles Church, Gardiner, and the Elks Club of Kingston. His wife, Ellen Kelly, died in 1919. He is survived by two daughters, Anna of Newburgh and Ella of Highland; one sister, Mrs. Thomas Shay of Clintondale; two grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from the home on Vineyard avenue at 9:15 a. m. Thursday, thence to St. Charles Church at 10 a. m. where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John H. Mahoney. Burial will be in St. Charles Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

John Thomas Graney

The funeral of John Thomas Graney, was held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home and at St. Mary's Church 10 a. m. where a solemn high Mass was offered by the Rev. John A. Flaherty, with the Rev. William Raftery, as deacon and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly as sub-deacon. Responses to the Mass were by the children's choir under the direction of choirmaster-organist Theodore Riccobono. Many relatives and friends assisted at the requiem as a final religious respect. During the time the body reposed in the funeral home, scores of family acquaintances called to condole with the bereaved. Clergy visiting the home and reciting the prayers for the dead were the right Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, PR, VF and Father Farrelly. Friday night Father Flaherty called and assisted by those present recited the Rosary. There were numerous floral contributions and spiritual bouquets, tokens of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Bearers were Michael Gallagher, Sam J. Turck, Frank Williams, James DeCicco, Raymond Fabysack and John Czarnecki. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where the final blessing was given by Monsignor Drury. Following the service at the grave, a squad under Commander John A. Weber, composed of John Ray Mayone, Abram Singer, Harry Whitney and Donald Moore, fired the three volleys over the flag-draped casket, and taps were sounded by John Ray Mayone.

Day Line Again Plans Greene Stops

Resort owners of the Greene county area have been notified by the Hudson River Day Line that they will again get boat service between New York and Catskill two days a week, it was learned today.

James H. Driscoll, publicity director for the boat line, said the service next year will be on Saturdays and Sundays from June 27 to Labor Day, Sept. 7. This information was sent to more than 800 hotel and boarding house owners in the area.

The boats will leave New York at 9 a. m., and will arrive in Catskill at 3:30 p. m. They will leave Catskill for New York at 4 p. m., and arrive in the city at 10:15 p. m.

Kingston's efforts within the past three years to obtain similar service were unsuccessful because of lack of dock, taxi and bus facilities.

Mac Has Korea Plan

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today President-elect Eisenhower would be wise to "utilize the genius" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in forming any new plans to end the Korean war. MacArthur, who refrained from endorsing Eisenhower in the election campaign although he keynoted the GOP convention, announced Friday he has a plan for "a clear and definite solution of the Korean conflict" without involving unduly heavy allied casualties. He declined to disclose in plan publicity, but left the clear impression he would be glad to discuss it with the incoming President. He made the remarks in a speech to the National Association of Manufacturers.

Three-Day Party

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP) — The three-day party celebrating President-elect Eisenhower's inauguration "will be a national party," says dancer George Murphy who will direct the entertainment. Murphy, appointed yesterday, said most of the Jan. 18-20 proceedings will be carried by radio and television. Some programs, he said, may be sold to sponsors to cut expenses which the inaugural committee estimates may hit one million dollars. Murphy said highlights will include a concert by the National Symphony Orchestra Jan. 18, a "real variety show, not a vaudeville show" Jan. 10 and an invitation—only ball after the inauguration Jan. 20.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

You can read reams of statistics and economic interpretations and still not come within a mile of guessing what's going to happen.

You hear people carry on intelligently about inflation, industrial production, department-store sales, and other economic weather vanes—but when they come up with their conclusions they are likely to find that the hour hand has become tangled with the minute hand; they're 'way off, in other words, on "the time element."

There is another thing that trips people up in forecasting. It is the human failing of falling for some current economic fetish. Perhaps the best illustration of that at the moment is the slave-like devotion to the idea of "inflation." Heaven knows that inflation has been a bitter pill for millions of persons to swallow in the past few years. It has caused untold hardships throughout the world, and has been keenly felt here by the pensioners, white-collar classes and others whose incomes have not kept up with the advance in prices.

Notwithstanding what has happened, one must recognize that changes are swift in the field of socio-economics. For a good many months inflation has not been galloping along; it has slowed down to a walk. Indeed, in some important components of our economic "whole", inflation has taken many steps backward. Wholesale prices, for example, have been down-trending steadily for some 20 months. Only recently an index of wholesale prices sank to a new low point since the Korean war started.

In calculating economic changes it becomes increasingly evident that the human factor is the "X" in the equation. What are people's opinions and what will be their decisions: these are the questions which must head every forecaster's work sheet.

To carry this thought a little further, let us take the words "confidence" and "fear."

If the minds of the public and businessmen (and investors) become imbued with either confidence or fear it has a quick response, or reflection, in their actions. You have witnessed this many times in your experience, I'm sure. The significant thing to emphasize is that this response to fear or confidence can completely upset pre-conceived opinions and carefully calculated economic predictions.

You can recall any number of instances since the Great Depression when fear has broken loose and upset predictions. Herbert Hoover, in his memoirs of the years following 1929, informatively documents the depression years, showing how time after time, just when hope was held that conditions would stabilize, some new crisis and fear would envelope people's minds.

A "fear psychosis" has been our lot ever since, it would seem. Since the war ended, the "fear" of another depression crops up repeatedly; it has been noticable again in recent months, the talk being a set-back "next year."

We have not had very much experience in late years with the effects of "confidence."

However, it looks as if we might have that welcome experience, following the elections.

The Ruminator has received some interesting communications lately that reveal this creeping confidence.

One man, a manufacturer, wrote that he had a substantial number of orders hanging fire prior to election. He could not quite understand why he didn't receive firm commitments, and wondered if it were because of election jitters. As it turned out, that is what it was. Since Eisenhower's victory, all of the orders have been placed, and he has received others. He says that business acquaintances of his have had the same experience. This would appear to be a direct result of the influence of confidence.

Another friend writes that in his small community the chain-store grocer told him about old coins and bills which have recently been handed in for purchases. Both the coins and paper money definitely showed indications of "coming out of hoarding." Mattress money, in other words. When you consider that money-in-circulation has reached the unheard-of-level of over $30 billion you get some idea of the amount of currency that is hidden away in safe-deposit boxes and under mattresses. (A large proportion of money-in-circulation is thought to be tax-evasion funds, also, but certainly much of it must be hoarded. Nowhere near that amount of currency is needed for business transactions. Check money is the common business medium today, of course.)

It will be most significant to observe the factor of confidence over coming months, because it conceivably could overcome "the psychosis of fear" that has prevailed.

Extended Range

Originally found only in the open country of the west, the coyote has extended its range as far east as Ohio and north into Alaska.

No Comment Yet

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Members of the industrial panel of Region 2 of the Wage Stabilization Board had no immediate comment today on the subject of possible resignations. Panel members met here last night, and there was speculation that a mass resignation was under discussion. There was no announcement after the meeting concerning what took place. C. J. Nagle of Buffalo, chairman of the industry panel, told newsmen only: "We'll have a statement within a few days." The statement, he said, will be issued through the WSB office here. Industry members of the National Wage Stabilization Board resigned last Saturday. The walkout was in protest against President Truman's order allowing the soft coal miners the entire $1.90 a day pay increase they won in a negotiated contract. The WSB had cut the increase to $1.50 a day, on the ground that any more would upset the wage stabilization program.

However, it looks as if we might have that welcome experience, following the elections.

The Ruminator has received some interesting communications lately that reveal this creeping confidence.

One man, a manufacturer, wrote that he had a substantial number of orders hanging fire prior to election. He could not quite understand why he didn't receive firm commitments, and wondered if it were because of election jitters. As it turned out, that is what it was. Since Eisenhower's victory, all of the orders have been placed, and he has received others. He says that business acquaintances of his have had the same experience. This would appear to be a direct result of the influence of confidence.

Another friend writes that in his small community the chain-store grocer told him about old coins and bills which have recently been handed in for purchases. Both the coins and paper money definitely showed indications of "coming out of hoarding." Mattress money, in other words. When you consider that money-in-circulation has reached the unheard-of-level of over $30 billion you get some idea of the amount of currency that is hidden away in safe-deposit boxes and under mattresses. (A large proportion of money-in-circulation is thought to be tax-evasion funds, also, but certainly much of it must be hoarded. Nowhere near that amount of currency is needed for business transactions. Check money is the common business medium today, of course.)

It will be most significant to observe the factor of confidence over coming months, because it conceivably could overcome "the psychosis of fear" that has prevailed.

No Comment Yet

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Members of the industrial panel of Region 2 of the Wage Stabilization Board had no immediate comment today on the subject of possible resignations. Panel members met here last night, and there was speculation that a mass resignation was under discussion. There was no announcement after the meeting concerning what took place. C. J. Nagle of Buffalo, chairman of the industry panel, told newsmen only: "We'll have a statement within a few days." The statement, he said, will be issued through the WSB office here. Industry members of the National Wage Stabilization Board resigned last Saturday. The walkout was in protest against President Truman's order allowing the soft coal miners the entire $1.90 a day pay increase they won in a negotiated contract. The WSB had cut the increase to $1.50 a day, on the ground that any more would upset the wage stabilization program.

PLAN TO STOP ACCIDENTS

The year-end holiday season is the most dangerous period of the year, according to the National Safety Council, which has inaugurated a nationwide Christmas savings plan to stop accidents.

The campaign has been joined by more than 160 national organizations and by public officials and civic leaders. They will unite in creating an awareness of the special holiday hazards and will enlist voluntary cooperation from every American to hold accidents to a minimum.

For a safe and merry Christmas, the council suggests these precautions:

Driving or walking, put the Christmas spirit of "good will toward men" into practical use by being extra courteous to others. And take your time!

If streets are icy or slippery, keep your speed down and your caution up.

If you imbibe Christmas spirit in liquid form, stay away from the steering wheel of a car.

Avoid home hazards, too. Don't use candles, be sure tree lights and wiring are in good condition and keep gift wrappings away from the fireplace or other source of heat.

FRANCE FINDS HOPE

France is constantly being drained of men and munitions because of the never-ending anti-Communist battles in her far eastern colony of Indo-China.

But cheering predictions of internal relief in the colony itself have lately been heard as Traw Vantam, Premier Viet Nam, stated that his native forces would be able to take over the responsibility of fighting from the French within two years. The premier seems confident, admitting the most difficult problem will be obtaining enough trained officers. His people are meeting this with an active program which last year produced eight hundred commissioned and non-commissioned officers. This year the figures rose to a total of four thousand, trained to lead the new Viet Nam army.

France is fighting a long, hard battle to keep a free western foothold in Asia. Much of the prestige held by occidental powers in Asia depends on the failure or success of future help from the natives of her colony. France seems to be achieving some sort of workable policy which may contain communism in southeast Asia for a long time. It will strengthen resistance to Russian imperialism in the East, may give Indian morale a boost and encourage India to resist Red bullying.

WHERE OREGON FAILED

Oregon took a backward step in the recent election. It defeated a proposal to make the State School Superintendent appointive instead of elective. This is the surest possible way to make this position, which should be that of an educational expert, purely political. Now the holder of the post must gain a party nomination by campaigning against rival candidates, and make pledges which should never be made.

Oregon will be lucky if its state superintendents have any qualification for the position whatsoever. Its voters might profitably be reminded of a happening in Kentucky when a corresponding position was to be filled by election. Opponents of one candidate dug up the fact that years before when taking an examination for a teacher's license, he was asked, in one question to define "jeopardize." Nothing daunted, he wrote down, "To act like a jeopard."

When bureaucracy's brainchildren produce they do it, but plenty. The Gettysburg Address contains 266 words, the Declaration of Independence, 300, and the Ten Commandments, 297. And now we're told that a price ceiling order on cabbage used up 26,911.

Today's definition of an isolationist: a public man who votes that way but objects to being called one.

We're impressed not so much by the fellow who wants to be best, but by the one who does his best.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CABINET

The President's Cabinet is not mentioned in the Constitution. George Washington gathered it together among his chief administrative officers because he needed advice and counsel. In it he had such contradictory personalities as Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, Federalist and Democrat.

From the formation of the Cabinet, particularly of a new President, can be drawn many inferences if not conclusions. Without in any way reflecting on the personalities of General Eisenhower's Cabinet, this article will discuss political relationships arising from the Cabinet appointments.

It must be recognized that unity within the Republican Party depends upon the willingness of the Dewey faction and the Taft faction to cooperate with the business men who are represented by General Lucius Clay. Thus, a committee to screen recommendations for appointments, consisting of General Lucius Clay, Herbert Brownell, Jr., and Thomas E. Coleman, representing the business men, Dewey and Taft.

Taft was asked to give General Eisenhower a list of recommendations. Only two on his list were chosen: John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, and Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture. Dulles, however, was also recommended by Dewey, and Benson by Eisenhower's brother Milton. Dulles has, since 1948, placed himself outside of faction; Benson has definitely been for Taft. While George M. Humphrey, the Secretary of the Treasury, comes from Ohio and has been a Taft supporter, he was not on the Senator's list and Taft did not recommend him. He definitely comes out of the business group.

This Cabinet has no geographic pattern that is understandable politically. Maybe, geography was given no thought. New York and Michigan have been given a preponderance of offices. Dulles, Brownell, Wilson, and Summerfield come from these two states. Wilson and Summerfield are General Motors men, which is financially as much New York as Detroit.

George M. Humphrey lives in Cleveland, Ohio, but his business is scattered and is as much Pittsburgh as Cleveland, if not more so. While Humphrey has always been a supporter of Senator Taft, he in no way represents the Senator or the Ohio Republican organization. Taft had recommended Senator Harry Byrd for the Treasury, and while it has been given out that Byrd would not accept, I am informed that the office was never offered to Byrd. Rather, when Senators Taft and Bridges and Congressman Joe Martin spoke of Byrd, they were told that a commitment had already been made, but no name was mentioned.

Martin P. Durkin, the Secretary of Labor, cannot be accredited to Illinois. Neither Senator Everett Dirksen nor the Illinois Republican organization proposed his name, nor were they consulted. Actually, he has been their enemy. Nor were any of the Democrats who supported Eisenhower consulted. He is a victory for the American Federation of Labor over both the Republican Party and the Southern Democrats.

From a strictly political standpoint, the Middle West has been given no distinct representation on the Cabinet, with the possible exception of Arthur Summerfield, who is entitled to the Postmaster-Generalship anyhow by tradition because he was chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The Far West has done well. Those states got Interior, Douglas McKay, and Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson. To them is added the Vice President, Richard Nixon.

The appointment of Sinclair Weeks, as Secretary of Commerce, will please New England. He, and his father before him, have been staunch Republicans with a record of excellent service for the party.

However, the appointment of Sherman Adams, as Chief-of-Staff to the President, with an ex-officio seat in the Cabinet, raises a political issue of prime magnitude. Senator Styles Bridges is one of the three senior Republican Senators. He has the choice of being President Pro Tem, Majority Leader and chairman of the Appropriations Committee. At his option, he can hold any one or all of these jobs because they are his by seniority and service.

However, Senator Bridges will have to run in the New Hampshire primaries in 1954 and up to now, his opponent has been Governor Sherman Adams. The latter's elevation by General Eisenhower politically implies a Presidential preference for Adams over Bridges, which means a fight. A combination of Bridges and Taft could involve the President in tough sledding in Congress. The situation could be resolved by Adams withdrawing from the Senatorial race.

SAVING LIVES

"Seven years ago we knew one definite fact about tuberculosis meningitis—death in every case in about six weeks."

In a special article on tuberculosis meningitis prepared for Modern Medicine, of Canada, by Dr. Gladys L. Boyd, physician in charge of tuberculosis at the Hospital for Sick Children and at the I.O.D.E. Hospital, Toronto, it is stated that this formerly fatal disease is now one in which recovery and return to normal are expected for many patients. "During the six years ending Oct., 1951, the over-all death rate of cases at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, was 31 per cent; the death rate was 100 per cent in 1946 and 16 per cent in 1951."

Dr. Boyd states that, "while treatment is long drawn-out and painful and progress often discouraging to parent and physician alike, success is a modern miracle (every case formerly died) and well compensates for all the bleakness along the way."

Despite the fact that cases of tuberculosis are more common than formerly, even with all our modern knowledge, prevention is still the most successful treatment and treatment by vaccination with B.C.C. in Sweden, a case of tuberculosis meningitis has not been seen in six years.

"This same applies to Denmark. In our hospital alone, 130 cases have been admitted in the same period. Despite all the controversial material published as to results of B.C.G. vaccination, these figures indictae its value and need." Why B.C.G. is not used generally in the United States and Canada is thought to be because one batch of the vaccine caused dangerous reactions.

The next step after prevention is to get the disease diagnosed early, as there are no signs of meningitis for the first three weeks, only a daily rise in temperature, lack of appetite and vomiting.

One definite sign is drawing the nail across the abdomen. When results are positive, a red band develops slowly. This sign occurs in other conditions, but so rarely that it is practically always a sign of tuberculosis meningitis.

The active treatment is considered under four headings: (1) drugs, (2) biologic or body building products, (3) surgery (removing cheese-like masses off the brain through holes bored into the skull), and (4) nursing and general care. When the active disease is over, physiotherapy (treatment by baths, massage, electricity) is given.

It is certainly a great advance in medicine, the curing of a formerly incurable disease.

"Hey, Doesn't That Signal Ever Change?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Rotund Mike Di Salle, the ex-price administrator, called in by Truman to make an emergency report on whether to dump price-wage controls, has written a vigorous recommendation that they must be kept.

Before doing so, however, he conferred with both Republicans and Democrats, also went up to New York to lunch with gaunt, gray Bernie Baruch, the father of price controls. Baruch was adamant that controls must be retained, said it would be dangerous to drop them at this time, that an emergency might develop during the Eisenhower administration that would make them absolutely necessary.

Conferring with Sen. Cabot Lodge, Eisenhower's liaison man in Washingto, Di Salle urged that a Republican be sent over to the Office of Price Stabilization so as to become familiar with that difficult problem.

Conferring with Secretary of Defense Lovett, Di Salle was told that keeping 3,500,000 men under arms, even without new equipment, would cost a total of $25,000,000,000 a year. Therefore some sort of controls must be kept to guard against inflation.

In the end, Di Salle informed Truman that it would be unfair to the Eisenhower administration to drop controls at this time.

Note—The man who urged ending controls and who came within a hair's breadth of putting his ideas across was soft-spoken, busybody John Steelman, assistant to the President. He figured that by dumping all controls, Mr. Truman would get off the hook on granting the wage increase to John L. Lewis. In other words, Steelman wanted to kill the patient in order to cure an ailing finger.

Air Force Advice

Secretary of the Air Force Finletter will recommend to Republicans as he bows out of office that more atomic bombs be rushed to Europe in order to discourage Soviet aggression.

In the Far East, however, he will give the opposite advice. He will warn against using atomic weapons or taking any step that might spread the Korean war. For, while the atomic bomb can be used as a deterrent in Europe, Finletter feels it might touch off World War 3 if unleased without provocation in Asia.

The somber air force boss, who has done one of the best jobs in Washington, is prepared to let down his hair and talk bluntly to the Republican who moves into his shoes. He will warn that the defense budget cannot be trimmed another dime for at least two years, that a 143-group air force does not allow enough reserve planes to care for losses, and that the best insurance against war with Russia is a powerful strategic bombing fleet, capable of penetrating to the heart of Russia.

After another two years of high defense spending, Finletter will advise that perhaps the defense budget can be cut to about $30,000,000,000 yearly, of which he believes the air force should get the lion's share. However, he will condemn in no uncertain terms Congress's meat-ax attacks on the budget. For example, Congress indiscriminately chopped off $130,000,000 last year, thereby retarding air force readiness by two years.

Concealing Army Costs

The boys at the Pentagon are pulling some quiet wires to have Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon's independent Republican, taken off the Senate Armed Forces Committee. They don't like his persistency in probing into military expenditures abroad.

Morse recently came back from a trip to Europe and north Africa, began to ask disagreeable questions about military spending, wrote a letter to Undersecretary of Defense Foster for exact cost figures on certain operations. In reply, he got a maze of misleading figures which meant nothing.

Again writing to Foster, Morse demanded that the Defense Department quit giving him the runaround.

"I intend to get the information," Morse wrote, "or explain to the Senate the danger of a policy which denies to Congress data on the cost of our bases abroad.

"If the Pentagon fails to give me this data," the senator from Oregon continued, "I shall take whatever steps are necessary to advise the public of the concealment policy of the Pentagon."

Meanwhile the boys at the Pentagon are putting their heads together with GOP leaders, who do not like Morse, to get him removed from the Armed Services Committee. After that he will lack the power to probe army costs abroad.

Mysterious Russians

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie is still puzzling over the strange behavior of a Russian associate, who was abruptly recalled to Moscow to see his "sick son" but, before he left, promised to smuggle a personal message back to Lie by secret code. However, the wrong man sent the coded message in an incident that has all the flavor of international drama.

Lie's assistant at the United Nations was an amiable Russian named Arkady Sobolev. The two men became close friends, saw eye-to-eye more often than Sobolev dared admit.

Then, one day, Sobolev rushed over to Lie's house with shattering news. Desperately, he told about a cablegram he had just received from Moscow, summoning him home because his son was sick. Yet regular letters from his wife had contained no hint of their son's illness.

Sobolev suspected something sinister was in store for him, nervously arranged a secret code to notify his friend. If he was detained in Russia against his will, Sobolev promised he would send a cablegram in broken English explaining he was too sick to return to his post.

A few weeks later, Lie received a cable from Sobolev, but it was in perfect English. It declared that he would not be back, but the reason given was not that he was sick, but that his son had taken a turn for the worse.

As if this were not baffling enough, Lie got a second cablegram from another Russian associate, who had returned to Russia for a vacation. Unlike Sobolev, this Russian had kept his distance from Lie. He had been polite, but cold and unfriendly. This unexpected second cable was in broken English, although the man had always used English correctly in the past. And the message from the unfriendly Russian was that he would not return to his post because of illness—the same message that Sobolev had promised to send, but didn't send.

On top of this mystery, Sobolev was appointed Russian ambassador to Poland and sent back to the United Nations this month as a Soviet Delegate. But he is not the old Sobolev anymore. He is now cold and formal, acts as if he hardly knows his old friend, Trygve Lie.

The Well That Breathes!

The Breathing Well, near Great Valley, N. Y., is a dry one dating back to 1841. The phenomena of "inhaling" and "exhaling" are explained by the existence of a chain of subterranean caverns connecting with the well and ending at an as yet undiscovered outlet. Variations in barometic pressure are said to cause the "breathing".

Main Concern of President-Elect Eisenhower Is Finding Competent Men for Posts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 8 — What does a President-elect think about? Policies? Plans? Legislation?

The answer is that above all else Gen. Eisenhower is thinking about men—about personnel. For, while the new Administration probably will do the first real job in overhauling the antiquated and cumbersome Federal mechanism, this cannot mean very much without competent personnel.

Gen. Eisenhower, according to close friends who have discussed the subject with him recently, is now concerned with the caliber and quality of men who will have the No. 2 and No. 3 posts in the big government departments. Some of these appointees are responsible for administration and money expenditure and personnel far larger than many of America's major corporations.

The idea that the Cabinet secretary administers his whole department is obsolete. It may seem that way to large sections of the public, because of the widespread unfamiliarity with Washington operations, but actually an under secretary and a first assistant secretary can exercise far more authority and influence on policy than the head of a department.

Take the case of the Department of State. An assistant secretary who has charge of the Middle East is for all practical purposes the President of the United States for that policy-making function. This is because the Chief Executive delegates to the Secretary of State, and the latter in turn must necessarily delegate power to make policy to the assistant secretary who has charge of a vast region of the world.

Authority is even more dispersed in some of the other government departments, where the No. 2 and No. 3 and sometimes even the No. 4 man have jurisdictions all their own.

How shall competent persons be chosen for these posts? Gen. Eisenhower is determined to find men and women of first-rate ability. He is also determined not to fill these jobs by the selection of party favorites without regard to their capacity or competence. Because recent administrations have appointed to such posts party hacks, cronies and political favorites, many persons in non-governmental positions today who might be asked to serve may feel that the prestige of those so-called secondary offices has been diluted or diminished. But the moment the yardstick is efficiency and real ability and the public knows this from Gen. Eisenhower himself, many persons will consider it an honor to be asked to serve.

General Eisenhower hopes by his selections to show the people that he is interested in merit above anything else. Not only must he pick outstanding men for the assistants to the department heads, but he is up against an even tougher problem in selecting members of the various boards and commissions, like the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and the National Labor Relations Board.

The terms of some of the present members of these boards and commissions do not expire with the ending of the Truman administration. Congress has fixed the terms in most cases so that they are staggered over the years and do not all begin or end at the same time.

Most of the members of these boards and commissions, however, can, if they like, serve out their terms, though many of them, knowing they will not be reappointed, will resign to take advantage of opportunities in private life. The late President Roosevelt did remove the late William E. Humphrey as a member of the Federal Trade Commission in 1933 only to have the Supreme Court of the United States reverse him on the ground that the commission is a quasi-judicial body. Mr. Roosevelt was quite brusque about it—he wrote Mr. Humphrey something to the effect that he didn't think "your mind will go along with mine." Then and there was exposed the real vice of the New Deal. It didn't want fair-minded judges or members of Federal agencies unless they believed in the New Deal ideology. It regarded judicial questions as subject to executive influence.

It is to be hoped that General Eisenhower will make clear to all the quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial agencies that they are to construe the powers granted them by Congress as limited and not to try to usurp powers never intended by Congress for them to exercise.

Much of the resentment accumulated in the last 20 years against New Deal and its successor—which was ironically described as the "Fair Deal"—arose out of the adoption of the Machiavellian concept that the end justifies the means. Executive agencies became instruments and tools of the Democratic National Committee or of the political cronies of the President who told them what to do. As a consequence, scandals arose, and they have not all been exposed as yet either.

Gen. Eisenhower is looking for honest men and women to serve on these commissions and boards—persons who have respect for the law and for the fact that they are temporarily intrusted with the authority of the Government of the United States. The President-elect is thinking about this while he is away from the country, and it is a safe bet that it is one of the topics that comes up often in his conference with the new Cabinet—how to get competent personnel to execute the policies of a reorganized Federal government.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having time on my hands, I went to Freedom House on Fortieth street to look Irving Brown in the eye and ask him whether he was still a totalitarian Lovestoneite communist. For the second time in about nine months, Brown dodged the challenge. The first-flinch took place in Paris. The occasion here was a "conference" of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, a European political project of Dave Dubinsky and his communist stooge, Jay Lovestone.

Freedom House is a dingy propaganda plant with a platitude from Wendell Willkie hung above the portal in black letters on a white board. Above that flies a dark blue banner with a strange device, roughly suggesting a crawfish, the flag of the United Nations. The American flag was not there.

There was a staircase curving up, right, which I climbed to the second floor. I saw a large council room on my right with a horseshoe table. A dozen or 15 men were lounging over sheaves of papers. There was no sign on these double-doors, but this obviously was the International Confederation.

I walked in. An unspoken cheese-it ran through the meeting. They said nothing as I walked up the room. To put them at their ease, I asked in a cheery voice, "Is Lovestone here?"

"Lovestone?" one of them said. "He does not come here."

Jack Lovestone is openly acclaimed as the secretary of state of this dangerous American adventure into communist imperialism in western Europe. Only a little while ago, a man high in the councils of the Truman administration had confirmed my statements that Lovestone had never publicly recanted being a communist. He also verified my statement that Brown has the status of Lovestone's ambassador, a term often used to identify him. And, of course, no ambassador can oppose the political philosophy of his own secretary of state. There has been no indication that Brown would want to. Not the slightest indication that Irving Brown, the loyal, veteran political associate of Lovestone, both being veteran employes of Dubinsky's union, disagrees at all with Lovestone or Lovestoneite communism as distinguished from Kremlin type communism.

No, they said, Lovestone wasn't there.

Well, "my name is Pegler," I said. "I thought I would come to your conference. Where is Brown? Is Brown here? Which one is Brown?"

Two men indicated a shaggy hulk slumped over a mess of mimeographs on the table. This character had black, tangled hair and an advanced case of blackjaw. He glanced up with a drowsy expression as I dropped into the chair next to him.

"I won't talk to you," Mr. Brown said. This, then, this untidy object with the sprout of black whiskers, was the hero of the barricades eulogized in Chinaboy Luce's Time Magazine, in the Reader's Digest, American Mercury and a syndicated daily propaganda column eagerly spread before unsuspecting American readers who have not yet learned to distrust the press. PLAN TO STOP ACCIDENTS

The year-end holiday season is the most dangerous period of the year, according to the National Safety Council, which has inaugurated a nationwide Christmas savings plan to stop accidents.

The campaign has been joined by more than 160 national organizations and by public officials and civic leaders. They will unite in creating an awareness of the special holiday hazards and will enlist voluntary cooperation from every American to hold accidents to a minimum.

For a safe and merry Christmas, the council suggests these precautions:

Driving or walking, put the Christmas spirit of "good will toward men" into practical use by being extra courteous to others. And take your time!

If streets are icy or slippery, keep your speed down and your caution up.

If you imbibe Christmas spirit in liquid form, stay away from the steering wheel of a car.

Avoid home hazards, too. Don't use candles, be sure tree lights and wiring are in good condition and keep gift wrappings away from the fireplace or other source of heat.

FRANCE FINDS HOPE

France is constantly being drained of men and munitions because of the never-ending anti-Communist battles in her far eastern colony of Indo-China.

But cheering predictions of internal relief in the colony itself have lately been heard as Traw Vantam, Premier Viet Nam, stated that his native forces would be able to take over the responsibility of fighting from the French within two years. The premier seems confident, admitting the most difficult problem will be obtaining enough trained officers. His people are meeting this with an active program which last year produced eight hundred commissioned and non-commissioned officers. This year the figures rose to a total of four thousand, trained to lead the new Viet Nam army.

France is fighting a long, hard battle to keep a free western foothold in Asia. Much of the prestige held by occidental powers in Asia depends on the failure or success of future help from the natives of her colony. France seems to be achieving some sort of workable policy which may contain communism in southeast Asia for a long time. It will strengthen resistance to Russian imperialism in the East, may give Indian morale a boost and encourage India to resist Red bullying.

WHERE OREGON FAILED

Oregon took a backward step in the recent election. It defeated a proposal to make the State School Superintendent appointive instead of elective. This is the surest possible way to make this position, which should be that of an educational expert, purely political. Now the holder of the post must gain a party nomination by campaigning against rival candidates, and make pledges which should never be made.

Oregon will be lucky if its state superintendents have any qualification for the position whatsoever. Its voters might profitably be reminded of a happening in Kentucky when a corresponding position was to be filled by election. Opponents of one candidate dug up the fact that years before when taking an examination for a teacher's license, he was asked, in one question to define "jeopardize." Nothing daunted, he wrote down, "To act like a jeopard."

When bureaucracy's brainchildren produce they do it, but plenty. The Gettysburg Address contains 266 words, the Declaration of Independence, 300, and the Ten Commandments, 297. And now we're told that a price ceiling order on cabbage used up 26,911.

Today's definition of an isolationist: a public man who votes that way but objects to being called one.

We're impressed not so much by the fellow who wants to be best, but by the one who does his best.

'These Days'

THE CABINET

The President's Cabinet is not mentioned in the Constitution. George Washington gathered it together among his chief administrative officers because he needed advice and counsel. In it he had such contradictory personalities as Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, Federalist and Democrat.

From the formation of the Cabinet, particularly of a new President, can be drawn many inferences if not conclusions. Without in any way reflecting on the personalities of General Eisenhower's Cabinet, this article will discuss political relationships arising from the Cabinet appointments.

It must be recognized that unity within the Republican Party depends upon the willingness of the Dewey faction and the Taft faction to cooperate with the business men who are represented by General Lucius Clay. Thus, a committee to screen recommendations for appointments, consisting of General Lucius Clay, Herbert Brownell, Jr., and Thomas E. Coleman, representing the business men, Dewey and Taft.

Taft was asked to give General Eisenhower a list of recommendations. Only two on his list were chosen: John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, and Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture. Dulles, however, was also recommended by Dewey, and Benson by Eisenhower's brother Milton. Dulles has, since 1948, placed himself outside of faction; Benson has definitely been for Taft. While George M. Humphrey, the Secretary of the Treasury, comes from Ohio and has been a Taft supporter, he was not on the Senator's list and Taft did not recommend him. He definitely comes out of the business group.

This Cabinet has no geographic pattern that is understandable politically. Maybe, geography was given no thought. New York and Michigan have been given a preponderance of offices. Dulles, Brownell, Wilson, and Summerfield come from these two states. Wilson and Summerfield are General Motors men, which is financially as much New York as Detroit.

George M. Humphrey lives in Cleveland, Ohio, but his business is scattered and is as much Pittsburgh as Cleveland, if not more so. While Humphrey has always been a supporter of Senator Taft, he in no way represents the Senator or the Ohio Republican organization. Taft had recommended Senator Harry Byrd for the Treasury, and while it has been given out that Byrd would not accept, I am informed that the office was never offered to Byrd. Rather, when Senators Taft and Bridges and Congressman Joe Martin spoke of Byrd, they were told that a commitment had already been made, but no name was mentioned.

Martin P. Durkin, the Secretary of Labor, cannot be accredited to Illinois. Neither Senator Everett Dirksen nor the Illinois Republican organization proposed his name, nor were they consulted. Actually, he has been their enemy. Nor were any of the Democrats who supported Eisenhower consulted. He is a victory for the American Federation of Labor over both the Republican Party and the Southern Democrats.

From a strictly political standpoint, the Middle West has been given no distinct representation on the Cabinet, with the possible exception of Arthur Summerfield, who is entitled to the Postmaster-Generalship anyhow by tradition because he was chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The Far West has done well. Those states got Interior, Douglas McKay, and Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson. To them is added the Vice President, Richard Nixon.

The appointment of Sinclair Weeks, as Secretary of Commerce, will please New England. He, and his father before him, have been staunch Republicans with a record of excellent service for the party.

However, the appointment of Sherman Adams, as Chief-of-Staff to the President, with an ex-officio seat in the Cabinet, raises a political issue of prime magnitude. Senator Styles Bridges is one of the three senior Republican Senators. He has the choice of being President Pro Tem, Majority Leader and chairman of the Appropriations Committee. At his option, he can hold any one or all of these jobs because they are his by seniority and service.

However, Senator Bridges will have to run in the New Hampshire primaries in 1954 and up to now, his opponent has been Governor Sherman Adams. The latter's elevation by General Eisenhower politically implies a Presidential preference for Adams over Bridges, which means a fight. A combination of Bridges and Taft could involve the President in tough sledding in Congress. The situation could be resolved by Adams withdrawing from the Senatorial race.

SAVING LIVES

"Seven years ago we knew one definite fact about tuberculosis meningitis—death in every case in about six weeks."

In a special article on tuberculosis meningitis prepared for Modern Medicine, of Canada, by Dr. Gladys L. Boyd, physician in charge of tuberculosis at the Hospital for Sick Children and at the I.O.D.E. Hospital, Toronto, it is stated that this formerly fatal disease is now one in which recovery and return to normal are expected for many patients. "During the six years ending Oct., 1951, the over-all death rate of cases at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, was 31 per cent; the death rate was 100 per cent in 1946 and 16 per cent in 1951."

Dr. Boyd states that, "while treatment is long drawn-out and painful and progress often discouraging to parent and physician alike, success is a modern miracle (every case formerly died) and well compensates for all the bleakness along the way."

Despite the fact that cases of tuberculosis are more common than formerly, even with all our modern knowledge, prevention is still the most successful treatment and treatment by vaccination with B.C.C. in Sweden, a case of tuberculosis meningitis has not been seen in six years.

"This same applies to Denmark. In our hospital alone, 130 cases have been admitted in the same period. Despite all the controversial material published as to results of B.C.G. vaccination, these figures indictae its value and need." Why B.C.G. is not used generally in the United States and Canada is thought to be because one batch of the vaccine caused dangerous reactions.

The next step after prevention is to get the disease diagnosed early, as there are no signs of meningitis for the first three weeks, only a daily rise in temperature, lack of appetite and vomiting.

One definite sign is drawing the nail across the abdomen. When results are positive, a red band develops slowly. This sign occurs in other conditions, but so rarely that it is practically always a sign of tuberculosis meningitis.

The active treatment is considered under four headings: (1) drugs, (2) biologic or body building products, (3) surgery (removing cheese-like masses off the brain through holes bored into the skull), and (4) nursing and general care. When the active disease is over, physiotherapy (treatment by baths, massage, electricity) is given.

It is certainly a great advance in medicine, the curing of a formerly incurable disease.

"Hey, Doesn't That Signal Ever Change?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Rotund Mike Di Salle, the ex-price administrator, called in by Truman to make an emergency report on whether to dump price-wage controls, has written a vigorous recommendation that they must be kept.

Before doing so, however, he conferred with both Republicans and Democrats, also went up to New York to lunch with gaunt, gray Bernie Baruch, the father of price controls. Baruch was adamant that controls must be retained, said it would be dangerous to drop them at this time, that an emergency might develop during the Eisenhower administration that would make them absolutely necessary.

Conferring with Sen. Cabot Lodge, Eisenhower's liaison man in Washington, Di Salle urged that a Republican be sent over to the Office of Price Stabilization so as to become familiar with that difficult problem.

Conferring with Secretary of Defense Lovett, Di Salle was told that keeping 3,500,000 men under arms, even without new equipment, would cost a total of $25,000,000,000 a year. Therefore some sort of controls must be kept to guard against inflation.

In the end, Di Salle informed Truman that it would be unfair to the Eisenhower administration to drop controls at this time.

Note—The man who urged ending controls and who came within a hair's breadth of putting his ideas across was soft-spoken, busybody John Steelman, assistant to the President. He figured that by dumping all controls, Mr. Truman would get off the hook on granting the wage increase to John L. Lewis. In other words, Steelman wanted to kill the patient in order to cure an ailing finger.

Air Force Advice

Secretary of the Air Force Finletter will recommend to Republicans as he bows out of office that more atomic bombs be rushed to Europe in order to discourage Soviet aggression.

In the Far East, however, he will give the opposite advice. He will warn against using atomic weapons or taking any step that might spread the Korean war. For, while the atomic bomb can be used as a deterrent in Europe, Finletter feels it might touch off World War 3 if unleased without provocation in Asia.

The somber air force boss, who has done one of the best jobs in Washington, is prepared to let down his hair and talk bluntly to the Republican who moves into his shoes. He will warn that the defense budget cannot be trimmed another dime for at least two years, that a 143-group air force does not allow enough reserve planes to care for losses, and that the best insurance against war with Russia is a powerful strategic bombing fleet, capable of penetrating to the heart of Russia.

After another two years of high defense spending, Finletter will advise that perhaps the defense budget can be cut to about $30,000,000,000 yearly, of which he believes the air force should get the lion's share. However, he will condemn in no uncertain terms Congress's meat-ax attacks on the budget. For example, Congress indiscriminately chopped off $130,000,000 last year, thereby retarding air force readiness by two years.

Concealing Army Costs

The boys at the Pentagon are pulling some quiet wires to have Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon's independent Republican, taken off the Senate Armed Forces Committee. They don't like his persistency in probing into military expenditures abroad.

Morse recently came back from a trip to Europe and north Africa, began to ask disagreeable questions about military spending, wrote a letter to Undersecretary of Defense Foster for exact cost figures on certain operations. In reply, he got a maze of misleading figures which meant nothing.

Again writing to Foster, Morse demanded that the Defense Department quit giving him the runaround.

"I intend to get the information," Morse wrote, "or explain to the Senate the danger of a policy which denies to Congress data on the cost of our bases abroad.

"If the Pentagon fails to give me this data," the senator from Oregon continued, "I shall take whatever steps are necessary to advise the public of the concealment policy of the Pentagon."

Meanwhile the boys at the Pentagon are putting their heads together with GOP leaders, who do not like Morse, to get him removed from the Armed Services Committee. After that he will lack the power to probe army costs abroad.

Mysterious Russians

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie is still puzzling over the strange behavior of a Russian associate, who was abruptly recalled to Moscow to see his "sick son" but, before he left, promised to smuggle a personal message back to Lie by secret code. However, the wrong man sent the coded message in an incident that has all the flavor of international drama.

Lie's assistant at the United Nations was an amiable Russian named Arkady Sobolev. The two men became close friends, saw eye-to-eye more often than Sobolev dared admit.

Then, one day, Sobolev rushed over to Lie's house with shattering news. Desperately, he told about a cablegram he had just received from Moscow, summoning him home because his son was sick. Yet regular letters from his wife had contained no hint of their son's illness.

Sobolev suspected something sinister was in store for him, nervously arranged a secret code to notify his friend. If he was detained in Russia against his will, Sobolev promised he would send a cablegram in broken English explaining he was too sick to return to his post.

A few weeks later, Lie received a cable from Sobolev, but it was in perfect English. It declared that he would not be back, but the reason given was not that he was sick, but that his son had taken a turn for the worse.

As if this were not baffling enough, Lie got a second cablegram from another Russian associate, who had returned to Russia for a vacation. Unlike Sobolev, this Russian had kept his distance from Lie. He had been polite, but cold and unfriendly. This unexpected second cable was in broken English, although the man had always used English correctly in the past. And the message from the unfriendly Russian was that he would not return to his post because of illness—the same message that Sobolev had promised to send, but didn't send.

On top of this mystery, Sobolev was appointed Russian ambassador to Poland and sent back to the United Nations this month as a Soviet Delegate. But he is not the old Sobolev anymore. He is now cold and formal, acts as if he hardly knows his old friend, Trygve Lie.

The Well That Breathes!

The Breathing Well, near Great Valley, N. Y., is a dry one dating back to 1841. The phenomena of "inhaling" and "exhaling" are explained by the existence of a chain of subterranean caverns connecting with the well and ending at an as yet undiscovered outlet. Variations in barometic pressure are said to cause the "breathing".

Main Concern of President-Elect Eisenhower Is Finding Competent Men for Posts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 8 — What does a President-elect think about? Policies? Plans? Legislation?

The answer is that above all else Gen. Eisenhower is thinking about men—about personnel. For, while the new Administration probably will do the first real job in overhauling the antiquated and cumbersome Federal mechanism, this cannot mean very much without competent personnel.

Gen. Eisenhower, according to close friends who have discussed the subject with him recently, is now concerned with the caliber and quality of men who will have the No. 2 and No. 3 posts in the big government departments. Some of these appointees are responsible for administration and money expenditure and personnel far larger than many of America's major corporations.

The idea that the Cabinet secretary administers his whole department is obsolete. It may seem that way to large sections of the public, because of the widespread unfamiliarity with Washington operations, but actually an under secretary and a first assistant secretary can exercise far more authority and influence on policy than the head of a department.

Take the case of the Department of State. An assistant secretary who has charge of the Middle East is for all practical purposes the President of the United States for that policy-making function. This is because the Chief Executive delegates to the Secretary of State, and the latter in turn must necessarily delegate power to make policy to the assistant secretary who has charge of a vast region of the world.

Authority is even more dispersed in some of the other government departments, where the No. 2 and No. 3 and sometimes even the No. 4 man have jurisdictions all their own.

How shall competent persons be chosen for these posts? Gen. Eisenhower is determined to find men and women of first-rate ability. He is also determined not to fill these jobs by the selection of party favorites without regard to their capacity or competence. Because recent administrations have appointed to such posts party hacks, cronies and political favorites, many persons in non-governmental positions today who might be asked to serve may feel that the prestige of those so-called secondary offices has been diluted or diminished. But the moment the yardstick is efficiency and real ability and the public knows this from Gen. Eisenhower himself, many persons will consider it an honor to be asked to serve.

General Eisenhower hopes by his selections to show the people that he is interested in merit above anything else. Not only must he pick outstanding men for the assistants to the department heads, but he is up against an even tougher problem in selecting members of the various boards and commissions, like the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and the National Labor Relations Board.

The terms of some of the present members of these boards and commissions do not expire with the ending of the Truman administration. Congress has fixed the terms in most cases so that they are staggered over the years and do not all begin or end at the same time.

Most of the members of these boards and commissions, however, can, if they like, serve out their terms, though many of them, knowing they will not be reappointed, will resign to take advantage of opportunities in private life. The late President Roosevelt did remove the late William E. Humphrey as a member of the Federal Trade Commission in 1933 only to have the Supreme Court of the United States reverse him on the ground that the commission is a quasi-judicial body. Mr. Roosevelt was quite brusque about it—he wrote Mr. Humphrey something to the effect that he didn't think "your mind will go along with mine." Then and there was exposed the real vice of the New Deal. It didn't want fair-minded judges or members of Federal agencies unless they believed in the New Deal ideology. It regarded judicial questions as subject to executive influence.

It is to be hoped that General Eisenhower will make clear to all the quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial agencies that they are to construe the powers granted them by Congress as limited and not to try to usurp powers never intended by Congress for them to exercise.

Much of the resentment accumulated in the last 20 years against New Deal and its successor—which was ironically described as the "Fair Deal"—arose out of the adoption of the Machiavellian concept that the end justifies the means. Executive agencies became instruments and tools of the Democratic National Committee or of the political cronies of the President who told them what to do. As a consequence, scandals arose, and they have not all been exposed as yet either.

Gen. Eisenhower is looking for honest men and women to serve on these commissions and boards—persons who have respect for the law and for the fact that they are temporarily intrusted with the authority of the Government of the United States. The President-elect is thinking about this while he is away from the country, and it is a safe bet that it is one of the topics that comes up often in his conference with the new Cabinet—how to get competent personnel to execute the policies of a reorganized Federal government.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having time on my hands, I went to Freedom House on Fortieth street to look Irving Brown in the eye and ask him whether he was still a totalitarian Lovestoneite communist. For the second time in about nine months, Brown dodged the challenge. The first-flinch took place in Paris. The occasion here was a "conference" of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, a European political project of Dave Dubinsky and his communist stooge, Jay Lovestone.

Freedom House is a dingy propaganda plant with a platitude from Wendell Willkie hung above the portal in black letters on a white board. Above that flies a dark blue banner with a strange device, roughly suggesting a crawfish, the flag of the United Nations. The American flag was not there.

There was a staircase curving up, right, which I climbed to the second floor. I saw a large council room on my right with a horseshoe table. A dozen or 15 men were lounging over sheaves of papers. There was no sign on these double-doors, but this obviously was the International Confederation.

I walked in. An unspoken cheese-it ran through the meeting. They said nothing as I walked up the room. To put them at their ease, I asked in a cheery voice, "Is Lovestone here?"

"Lovestone?" one of them said. "He does not come here."

Jack Lovestone is openly acclaimed as the secretary of state of this dangerous American adventure into communist imperialism in western Europe. Only a little while ago, a man high in the councils of the Truman administration had confirmed my statements that Lovestone had never publicly recanted being a communist. He also verified my statement that Brown has the status of Lovestone's ambassador, a term often used to identify him. And, of course, no ambassador can oppose the political philosophy of his own secretary of state. There has been no indication that Brown would want to. Not the slightest indication that Irving Brown, the loyal, veteran political associate of Lovestone, both being veteran employes of Dubinsky's union, disagrees at all with Lovestone or Lovestoneite communism as distinguished from Kremlin type communism.

No, they said, Lovestone wasn't there.

Well, "my name is Pegler," I said. "I thought I would come to your conference. Where is Brown? Is Brown here? Which one is Brown?"

Two men indicated a shaggy hulk slumped over a mess of mimeographs on the table. This character had black, tangled hair and an advanced case of blackjaw. He glanced up with a drowsy expression as I dropped into the chair next to him.

"I won't talk to you," Mr. Brown said. This, then, this untidy object with the sprout of black whiskers, was the hero of the barricades eulogized in Chinaboy Luce's Time Magazine, in the Reader's Digest, American Mercury and a syndicated daily propaganda column eagerly spread before unsuspecting American readers who have not yet learned to distrust the press. the presence of his European henchman and his American coatholders at their grand International Conference Lord Jim Brown just said, "I won't talk to you! I don't want to talk to you!"

"All right," I said, "I want to talk to you!"

Two fellows on the other side of the table said, "But this is a meeting."

I said, "Fine. Go ahead with the meeting!"

One at the head end said, however, "But it is a private meeting. It is private."

"Are you asking me to leave?"

"Yes," Brown said. "We don't want you here."

But what about some propaganda? I saw mineographs there. Weren't they giving any handouts?

Brown kept his seat, looking down at his papers. I thought about the bloody wagon-stake fight in Marseilles where American munitions were unloaded for the western nations in the face of a Muscovite strike. I had read that the brave Irving Brown had led the anti-Russian goons who drove off the Reds intent on dumping the stuff into the water.

"But," Mr. Truman's confidential friend had said, "why, the big bum wasn't anywhere around." He mentioned the name of an Italo-Frenchman. "There is the guy that led the fight. It was a hell of a good fight, too. But Brown, no!"

I was disappointed in Brown. The poor slob wouldn't even argue.

"You fellows are mighty secretive aren't you?" I remarked.

"Yes, when you are here," said one of them.

"You have good reason to be when I am here," I said and so ended my encounter with fee-fi-fo-bum Brown.

Cautions on Debts

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 9 (AP)—Gov. Ivy W. Duggan of the Federal Farm Credit Administration today urged caution in making new farm debts because of a declining level of agricultural prosperity. Duggan said agriculture generally is in a sound economic condition. But, he said, there have been "storm signals recently" which suggest a necessity for a cautious attitude not only by lenders but also by individual farmers. He made the statement in a talk prepared for a meeting of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association.

ADVERTISING IN THE FREEMAN PAYS

As Pegler Sees It

the presence of his European henchman and his American coat-holders at their grand International Conference Lord Jim Brown just said, "I won't talk to you! I don't want to talk to you!"

"All right," I said, "I want to talk to you!"

Two fellows on the other side of the table said, "But this is a meeting."

I said, "Fine. Go ahead with the meeting!"

One at the head end said, however, "But it is a private meeting. It is private."

"Are you asking me to leave?"

"Yes," Brown said. "We don't want you here."

But what about some propaganda? I saw minecographs there. Weren't they giving any hand-outs?

Brown kept his seat, looking down at his papers. I thought about the bloody wagon-stake fight in Marseilles where American munitions were unloaded for the western nations in the face of a Muscovite strike. I had read that the brave Irving Brown had led the anti-Russian goons who drove off the Reds intent on dumping the stuff into the water.

"But," Mr. Truman's confidential friend had said, "why, the big bum wasn't anywhere around." He mentioned the name of an Italo-Frenchman. "There is the guy that led the fight. It was a hell of a good fight, too. But Brown, no!"

I was disappointed in Brown. The poor slob wouldn't even argue.

"You fellows are mighty secretive aren't you?" I remarked.

"Yes, when you are here," said one of them.

"You have good reason to be when I am here," I said and so ended my encounter with fee-fi-fo-bum Brown.

Cautions on Debts

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 9 (AP)—Gov. Ivy W. Duggan of the Federal Farm Credit Administration today urged caution in making new farm debts because of a declining level of agricultural prosperity. Duggan said agriculture generally is in a sound economic condition. But, he said, there have been "storm signals recently" which suggest a necessity for a cautious attitude not only by lenders but also by individual farmers. He made the statement in a talk prepared for a meeting of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association.

Top Member Fired

Berlin, Dec. 9 (AP)—Otto Grotewohl, Communist prime minister of East Germany, announced today the firing of a top cabinet member. He appeared to confirm rumors of a board purge of the party similar to the Czech housecleaning. Grotewohl also admitted that East Germany is having serious economic troubles and promised drastic measures to cure them.

Goes Shopping in Japan

Pfc. Edward F. Dougherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny M. Dougherty, 8 Chapel street, Kingston, recently had an opportunity to catch up on his Christmas shopping in Japan while on a five-day rest and recuperation leave from the Second Infantry Division in Korea. Dougherty, a rifleman, entered the army in July, 1950, and joined the Second in July of this year.

Arrives in Korea

Pfc. James D. Eltinge, whose wife, Janice, lives at 12 E. O'Reilly street, Kingston, recently arrived in Korea and is serving with the 7th Infantry Division. Eltinge entered the army in September, 1951. He was formerly stationed at Camp Drum. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gobe Eltinge, live on Greenfield road, Ellenville.

property. Local interests have constructed about 300 feet of levee, faced with rock, to protect the caving bank, but that work is not of sufficient height and length to prevent overflow and continued erosion damage."

This survey was made by representatives of the District and Division Engineers, accompanied by Supervisor Fichtner, at the request of Senator Wicks and Congressman Wharton. As a result of this inspection of the Esopus creek channel the engineers found that during the past two years "considerable flood damages have been incurred at Mt. Tremper and in the vicinity of Shandaken," and the recommendation that funds be made available for flood control work ensued.

General Chorpening states that it has been found advisable to carry out a program of flood control at Mt. Tremper and also at the Shandaken area.

To Excavate Channel

"Protection of the Mt. Tremper area could be provided by clearing and excavating the stream at that location, and straightening the channel upstream therefrom to increase the discharge capacity of the creek. As an incidental feature, the excavated material that is suitable would be used to construct a levee. This levee would extend along the left bank for about 1,800 feet downstream from the bank protection works constructed by the State of New York. The Shandaken area would be furnished a reasonable degree of flood protection by clearing and excavating the clogged stream channel. The excavated material from this reach that is suitable would also be utilized to increase the height of the existing levee and to extend its length about 200 feet. The above described work, at both locations, is estimated to cost $50,000."

The Corps of Engineers under provisions of the Flood Control Act approved August 28, 1937, (Public Law 406, 75th Congress) as amended, is granted authority for removal of snags and other debris and clearing and straightening channels of navigable streams and tributaries thereof when such work is considered to be advisable in the interest of flood control, provided not more than $50,000 shall be expended for this purpose on any single tributary from the appropriations for any one fiscal year.

General Chorpening writes, "I am pleased to say it has been determined that the above-described channel improvements on Esopus creek may be accomplished under that authority. Accordingly, $50,000 is being allotted to the District Engineer for accomplishment of that work, subject, of course, to the fulfillment of the requirements of local cooperation."

There are 15 standing committees in the U. S. Senate and 19 in the House of Representatives.

when Mrs. Fonda wasn't nearby. How does Lady do it?

I asked Lady that very question.

She hesitated, then slowly spelled out "m-i-n-d."

I asked her if she'd like to be a human.

"Yes," came the answer.

Mrs. Fonda, who calls her pet an "educated horse," bought Lady when she was a baby colt.

Came in Herself

She said she first noticed a strangeness about the animal when Lady would romp into the barn just as Mrs. Fonda was on the verge of calling her.

Possibly, said Mrs. Fonda, Lady picked up the "thought message," and decided to come to the barn before being formally summoned.

Lady is, and always has been, quite a lure for sightseers. And by far the most popular questions are those dealing with love.

Occasionally, smiled Mrs. Fonda, someone tried to "catch" Lady. Like the man who wanted to know if his wife were true to him?

Lady snorted and twitched, then replied:

"Are you!"

Man Is in Custody

Miami, Fla., Dec. 9 (AP) — The marine corps air base here reported it had in custody today a man who admitted slaying a woman, still unidentified, whose nude body was found in a lonely spot north of Miami Sunday. E. F. Lasseter of the County Criminal Bureau of Investigation said the woman had been tortured. Her hands were tied behind her neck, a cloth belt was wrapped around her neck and its ends stuffed in her mouth as a gag, and there were burns on her body.

Ulster Hose No. 5 Elects Officers

Edward Dingledey was elected president and William Norton chief of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, town of Ulster, at the annual meeting on Monday evening.

Administrative officers elected to serve with President Dingledey were Alfrederick Kilmer, vice president; James Krom, financial secretary; Gerald Woodvine, treasurer; George Berry, recording secretary, and John Halwick, director.

Firemanic officers elected in addition to Chief Norton, were John Offermann, assistant chief; Ernest Petersen, captain; Harry Hill, first lieutenant; Donald Reed, second lieutenant, and Otto Buckman, third lieutenant.

Says Needs Underestimated

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The attorney for Algonquin Gas Transmission Co., said today that company's rival for the New England natural gas market has greatly underestimated consumer needs. Northeastern Gas Transmission Co., which is asking power commission authority to take over markets previously allocated to Algonquin, yesterday introduced at an examiner's hearing exhibits showing its estimates of market requirements of public utilities now having contracts with Algonquin. "We are shocked at Northeastern's avowed intention to dispute our customers' estimates of requirements for service to the New England area," said a statement by Charles C. McGee, Algonquin's attorney.

To Excavate Channel

"Protection of the Mt. Tremper area could be provided by clearing and excavating the stream at that location, and straightening the channel upstream therefrom to increase the discharge capacity of the creek. As an incidental feature, the excavated material that is suitable would be used to construct a levee. This levee would extend along the left bank for about 1,800 feet downstream from the bank protection works constructed by the State of New York. The Shandaken area would be furnished a reasonable degree of flood protection by clearing and excavating the clogged stream channel. The excavated material from this reach that is suitable would also be utilized to increase the height of the existing levee and to extend its length about 200 feet. The above described work, at both locations, is estimated to cost $50,000."

The Corps of Engineers under provisions of the Flood Control Act approved August 28, 1937, (Public Law 406, 75th Congress) as amended, is granted authority for removal of snags and other debris and clearing and straightening channels of navigable streams and tributaries thereof when such work is considered to be advisable in the interest of flood control, provided not more than $50,000 shall be expended for this purpose on any single tributary from the appropriations for any one fiscal year.

General Chorpening writes, "I am pleased to say it has been determined that the above-described channel improvements on Esopus creek may be accomplished under that authority. Accordingly, $50,000 is being allotted to the District Engineer for accomplishment of that work, subject, of course, to the fulfillment of the requirements of local cooperation."

There are 15 standing committees in the U. S. Senate and 19 in the House of Representatives.

Writer Says . . .

when Mrs. Fonda wasn't nearby. How does Lady do it?

I asked Lady that very question.

She hesitated, then slowly spelled out "m-i-n-d."

I asked her if she'd like to be a human.

"Yes," came the answer.

Mrs. Fonda, who calls her pet an "educated horse," bought Lady when she was a baby colt.

Came in Herself

She said she first noticed a strangeness about the animal when Lady would romp into the barn just as Mrs. Fonda was on the verge of calling her.

Possibly, said Mrs. Fonda, Lady picked up the "thought message," and decided to come to the barn before being formally summoned.

Lady is, and always has been, quite a lure for sightseers. And by far the most popular questions are those dealing with love.

Occasionally, smiled Mrs. Fonda, someone tried to "catch" Lady. Like the man who wanted to know if his wife were true to him?

Lady snorted and twitched, then replied:

"Are you!"

Man Is in Custody

Miami, Fla., Dec. 9 (AP)—The marine corps air base here reported it had in custody today a man who admitted slaying a woman, still unidentified, whose nude body was found in a lonely spot north of Miami Sunday. E. F. Lasseter of the County Criminal Bureau of Investigation said the woman had been tortured. Her hands were tied behind her neck, a cloth belt was wrapped around her neck and its ends stuffed in her mouth as a gag, and there were burns on her body.

Ulster Hose No. 5 Elects Officers

Edward Dingledey was elected president and William Norton chief of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, town of Ulster, at the annual meeting on Monday evening.

Administrative officers elected to serve with President Dingledey were Alfrederick Kilmer, vice president; James Krom, financial secretary; Gerald Woodvine, treasurer; George Berry, recording secretary, and John Halwick, director.

Firemanic officers elected in addition to Chief Norton, were John Offermann, assistant chief; Ernest Petersen, captain; Harry Hill, first lieutenant; Donald Reed, second lieutenant, and Otto Buckman, third lieutenant.

Says Needs Underestimated

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The attorney for Algonquin Gas Transmission Co., said today that company's rival for the New England natural gas market has greatly underestimated consumer needs. Northeastern Gas Transmission Co., which is asking power commission authority to take over markets previously allocated to Algonquin, yesterday introduced at an examiner's hearing exhibits showing its estimates of market requirements of public utilities now having contracts with Algonquin. "We are shocked at Northeastern's avowed intention to dispute our customers' estimates of requirements for service to the New England area," said a statement by Charles C. McGee, Algonquin's attorney.

No Longer the Finest

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—An expert says New York's "finest"—its 19,000 man police force—doesn't deserve the title anymore because there are better departments in several cities. "There are three or four which can give it cards and spades  and beat it," said Bruce Smith, who reported yesterday on the police department for the mayor's committee on management survey. At a public hearing into his report, Smith said there are better police departments in Milwaukee, Detroit, Cincinnati, and St. Louis. Smith's $85,000 survey is under fire from Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan and other officials. The survey recommended a number of changes in the police department setup.

Against Income Tax

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri denied yesterday he has ever "officially" considered imposition of a municipal income tax, and he declared he is "against it." Asked at a news conference why he has not considered an income surtax, the mayor replied: "I feel that income taxes are now being paid by a very large group on a very substantial basis to the state and federal governments and any additional tax would impose an unusually heavy burden on the taxpayer."

Body Found on Tracks

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—The mangled body of a New York Central Railroad stationary engineer was found on the tracks of the Harlem river bridge last night. The dead man was identified as George Ferguson, 53, of 32-43 48th street, Astoria, Queens. He apparently had been struck by a train, police said.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I always seem to glance through the Twenty & Ten Years Ago column in The Freeman to see how fast time goes by. I see Nov. 20, 1932—Benjamin Suskind was installed as president of the Jewish Community Center on lower Broadway. Then Nov. 20, 1942—Mayor William F. Edelmuth announced appointment of Harry Edson as superintendent of recreation. As the building is next door to me I remember when Barney Mann first had it as a dance hall. Then the Jewish Community group took it over and it became a beehive of activity. I remember one dance netted one of the small social groups there $1,000. The floor space perhaps is about 60 by 30 feet, yet that evening cars full of people came from Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Ellenville and various surrounding cities and towns where the dance was advertised. Every evening, every room had various groups meet. One group of little girls brought shoe boxes full of colored material and thread and a small dressable doll and spent the evenings making doll clothes. Then there was a group of men who weighed around 200 lbs. who had wrestling matches in the back gym with an appreciative audience. The lighter weight young fellows went in for pyramid building. Card parties and various other social events were run by the young married women. There was a definite place for adults and children of all ages and similar tastes.

Then I remember for a time the government took over the building and brought various electrical equipment for carpentry work. Tom McCardle and Milton Wagonfohr were in charge. It was a sort of working project for teen age boys who I understand, learned a trade as well as received a certain remuneration. It certainly was a beehive of activity of humming electric saws and the aroma of fresh cut wood. In time to come the building was finally taken over by the city and became a Downtown Recreation Center mainly for children Mr. Murphy is in charge and Mr. Edson, his assistant, and Bill Van Keuren the custodian.

I wonder how many downtowners remember the Federation House. The Federation of Women's Club November 25, 1911 (41 years ago) leased the former Lindsley Mansion on Hasbrouck avenue between Meadow and Union streets (Lindsley was first mayor of Kingston at its incorporation in 1872). The program was in charge of Mrs. Laura McMillan, a charming lady, now in her 80's. I remember how all the children adored her. She was also known by the adults as she did social work downtown. I remember how she used to come in my father's drug store at 93 Broadway and make out her reports. The women ran the Federation House with dignity and respect. Rudeness was never allowed. Mrs. McMillan knew how to handle even the arrogant with a soft but firm touch, that certainly is an art, especially nowadays. In the past several summers I met Mrs. McMillan on Washington avenue and suggested that she write down some of her experiences in that work. She just smiled modestly. Even today she is a most remarkable dignified little lady.

Fog Hits Capital

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—A dense fog blanketed Washington early today, slowing traffic to a crawl and grounding flights out of National Airport. Drivers in some parts of the city reported they couldn't see the sidewalks, and even pedestrians were having trouble finding their way.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD S. THIBAUT, Jr.

P-TA Elects Mrs. Anthony De Lisio

Woodstock, Dec. 9—At the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock-Parent Teacher Association Thursday night, at the Woodstock School Mrs. Anthony De Lisio was unanimously elected president to take the place of Mrs. Joseph Marr who had resigned.

Mrs. Marr's letter of resignation was read by Mrs. Melvin Leshen, secretary. Mrs. Marr stated that she was unable to continue as head of the P-TA due to outside pressures. Her resignation was accepted with regret.

Mrs. Edward Gurland was unanimously elected vice-president, to take the place of Mrs. De Lisio.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Leshen and in the absence of Mrs. Milton Houst. Mrs. George Kelley gave the financial report.

Mrs. Gurland was asked to head a committee to select room mothers. This committee will also take charge of PTA contributions for the purpose of decorating the school at Christmas. One member suggested that permanent decorations be given, so that the school could use them every year.

Mrs. Gurland announced that the program of weekly assemblies would be inaugurated beginning Friday, Dec. 5. Clementine Nessel performed on her accordion. Programs for the assemblies have been planned to extend through February 3.

After the business meeting the parents enjoyed a session of singing nursery rhymes, folk tunes, accompanied by siren sound effects. The incentive for their uninhibited behavior was the talk on music for children given by Miss Margaret Harding of New Paltz State Teachers College.

In her animated discussion, Miss Harding showed the parents through these juvenile musical experiences, how children learn to distinguish between speaking and singing sounds. She claimed that everyone can learn to carry a tune and she strongly condemned the old practice of relegating some children to the role of listeners rather than performers. She also said that the ideal school would have a piano, a record-player and a tape-recorder in every room.

The next P-TA meeting will be held Jan. 8, the second Thursday of the month, as the first Thursday, the regular meeting date, falls on New Year's Day.

Woodstock Artists Exhibited in Texas

Woodstock, Dec. 9 — According to the December 8 issue of Time magazine, a "group calling themselves Young Collections, in Dallas, Texas, borrowed a gallery in the city's Museum of Fine Arts, opened it to a list of 300 Dallasites who looked like potential customers. On view were 56 paintings by such contemporary artists as Hazel Janicki, John Marin, Ben Shahn (who spoke at the Fourth Annual Art Conference here last summer). Within an hour of the opening, eight paintings were sold. Texas' ten-gallon prices from $50 for Woman Setting Table by Jenne Magafan to $500 for Lyonel Feininger's Village in Thuringia."

Home Bureau to Give Christmas Party

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The annual Christmas party of the Woodstock Home Bureau was held today at the regular meeting of the unit, in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach led the carol singing. The Misses Katherine and Maude Shelton decorated the hall and Mrs. Charles Duane was hostess. Refreshments were served.

Lodge Plans Party

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge was held Wednesday evening at the Bearsville Lodge Hall. Regular business was transacted and plans completed for the Christmas party to be held next meeting night, Wednesday, Dec. 17, for the children of members and also members of the lodge. Each member is asked to bring a small gift to be exchanged. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Parents of Nursery Children Will Meet

Woodstock, Dec. 9—All parents of nursery-school age children are cordially invited to the next meeting of the Tinker Street Nursery School on Mill Hill Road to be held Thursday, Dec. 11, at 8:15 p. m.

A film, the Social Development of the Child, will be shown. This movie is being loaned from the Tuberculosis and Health Association in Kingston. Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, teacher at the school, will discuss the film and answer questions by parents.

This meeting will provide interested mothers and fathers an opportunity to see a nursery school and to meet the parents who have their children in the school this year.

Exhibition Opens

Woodstock, Dec. 9—An exhibition of retrospective and recent paintings by Milton opens December 8 at the Grace Borgenicht Gallery, 65 East 57th street, New York. The show will continue through December 27.

WSCS Meets Tuesday

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The WSCS will hold its regular monthly meeting and Christmas party tonight at 7 o'clock with a covered dish supper at the home of Mrs. Nelson Shultis of Wittenberg. Gifts will be exchanged.

PO Schedule Listed

Woodstock, Dec. 9 — Howard Bell, postmaster of the Woodstock post office, announces that on Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, the post office will be open from 7 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m., to facilitate the sending of Christmas mail. There will be an incoming mail at 3 p. m. but no outgoing mail.

Bureau Plans Party

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The Overlook Home Bureau will meet Thursday, Dec. 11, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Victor Allen, at which time the unit will have its annual Christmas party. Each member is asked to bring a small gift for exchange.

Shultis Is Elected

Woodstock, Dec. 9—DeWitt A. Shultis was re-elected to serve a term of five years as a member of the board of fire commissioners of this village. The other commissioners are William West, chairman, Victor Lasher, Arthur Stone and Montcena DeWitt.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Dec. 9—Mrs. Irwin Arlt is recuperating at the Benedictine Hospital where she underwent an operation last Tuesday.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I always seem to glance through the Twenty & Ten Years Ago column in The Freeman to see how fast time goes by. I see Nov. 20, 1932—Benjamin Suskind was installed as president of the Jewish Community Center on lower Broadway. Then Nov. 20, 1942—Mayor William F. Edelmuth announced appointment of Harry Edson as superintendent of recreation. As the building is next door to me I remember when Barney Mann first had it as a dance hall. Then the Jewish Community group took it over and it became a beehive of activity. I remember one dance netted one of the small social groups there $1,000. The floor space perhaps is about 60 by 30 feet, yet that evening cars full of people came from Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Ellenville and various surrounding cities and towns where the dance was advertised. Every evening, every room had various groups meet. One group of little girls brought shoe boxes full of colored material and thread and a small dressable doll and spent the evenings making doll clothes. Then there was a group of men who weighed around 200 lbs. who had wrestling matches in the back gym with an appreciative audience. The lighter weight young fellows went in for pyramid building. Card parties and various other social events were run by the young married women. There was a definite place for adults and children of all ages and similar tastes.

Then I remember for a time the government took over the building and brought various electrical equipment for carpentry work. Tom McCardle and Milton Wagonfohr were in charge. It was a sort of working project for teen age boys who I understand, learned a trade as well as received a certain remuneration. It certainly was a beehive of activity of humming electric saws and the aroma of fresh cut wood. In time to come the building was finally taken over by the city and became a Downtown Recreation Center mainly for children Mr. Murphy is in charge and Mr. Edson, his assistant, and Bill Van Keuren the custodian.

I wonder how many downtowners remember the Federation House. The Federation of Women's Club November 25, 1911 (41 years ago) leased the former Lindsley Mansion on Hasbrouck avenue between Meadow and Union streets (Lindsley was first mayor of Kingston at its incorporation in 1872). The program was in charge of Mrs. Laura McMillan, a charming lady, now in her 80's. I remember how all the children adored her. She was also known by the adults as she did social work downtown. I remember her how she used to come in my father's drug store at 93 Broadway and make out her reports. The women ran the Federation House with dignity and respect. Rudeness was never allowed. Mrs. McMillan knew how to handle even the arrogant with a soft but firm touch, that certainly is an art, especially nowadays. In the past several summers I met Mrs. McMillan on Washington avenue and suggested that she write down some of her experiences in that work. She just smiled modestly. Even today she is a most remarkable dignified little lady.

Fog Hits Capital

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—A dense fog blanketed Washington early today, slowing traffic to a crawl and grounding flights out of National Airport. Drivers in some parts of the city reported they couldn't see the sidewalks, and even pedestrians were having trouble finding their way.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

P-TA Elects Mrs. Anthony De Lisio

Woodstock, Dec. 9—At the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock-Parent Teacher Association Thursday night, at the Woodstock School Mrs. Anthony De Lisio was unanimously elected president to take the place of Mrs. Joseph Marr who had resigned.

Mrs. Marr's letter of resignation was read by Mrs. Melvin Leshen, secretary. Mrs. Marr stated that she was unable to continue as head of the P-TA due to outside pressures. Her resignation was accepted with regret.

Mrs. Edward Gurland was unanimously elected vice-president, to take the place of Mrs. De Lisio.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Leshen and in the absence of Mrs. Milton Houst. Mrs. George Kelley gave the financial report.

Mrs. Gurland was asked to head a committee to select room mothers. This committee will also take charge of PTA contributions for the purpose of decorating the school at Christmas. One member suggested that permanent decorations be given, so that the school could use them every year.

Mrs. Gurland announced that the program of weekly assemblies would be inaugurated beginning Friday, Dec. 5. Clementine Nessel performed on her accordion. Programs for the assemblies have been planned to extend through February 3.

After the business meeting the parents enjoyed a session of singing nursery rhymes, folk tunes, accompanied by siren sound effects. The incentive for their uninhibited behavior was the talk on music for children given by Miss Margaret Harding of New Paltz State Teachers College.

In her animated discussion, Miss Harding showed the parents through these juvenile musical experiences, how children learn to distinguish between speaking and singing sounds. She claimed that everyone can learn to carry a tune and she strongly condemned the old practice of relegating some children to the role of listeners rather than performers. She also said that the ideal school would have a piano, a record-player and a tape-recorder in every room.

The next P-TA meeting will be held Jan. 8, the second Thursday of the month, as the first Thursday, the regular meeting date, falls on New Year's Day.

Woodstock Artists Exhibited in Texas

Woodstock, Dec. 9 — According to the December 8 issue of Time magazine, a "group calling themselves Young Collections, in Dallas, Texas, borrowed a gallery in the city's Museum of Fine Arts, opened it to a list of 300 Dallasites who looked like potential customers. On view were 56 paintings by such contemporary artists as Hazel Janicki, John Marin, Ben Shahn (who spoke at the Fourth Annual Art Conference here last summer). Within an hour of the opening, eight paintings were sold. Texas' ten-gallon prices from $50 for Woman Setting Table by Jenne Magafan to $500 for Lyonel Feininger's Village in Thuringia."

Home Bureau to Give Christmas Party

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The annual Christmas party of the Woodstock Home Bureau was held today at the regular meeting of the unit, in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach led the carol singing. The Misses Katherine and Maude Shelton decorated the hall and Mrs. Charles Duane was hostess. Refreshments were served.

Lodge Plans Party

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge was held Wednesday evening at the Bearsville Lodge Hall. Regular business was transacted and plans completed for the Christmas party to be held next meeting night, Wednesday, Dec. 17, for the children of members and also members of the lodge. Each member is asked to bring a small gift to be exchanged. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Parents of Nursery Children Will Meet

Woodstock, Dec. 9—All parents of nursery-school age children are cordially invited to the next meeting of the Tinker Street Nursery School on Mill Hill Road to be held Thursday, Dec. 11, at 8:15 p. m.

A film, the Social Development of the Child, will be shown. This movie is being loaned from the Tuberculosis and Health Association in Kingston. Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, teacher at the school, will discuss the film and answer questions by parents.

This meeting will provide interested mothers and fathers an opportunity to see a nursery school and to meet the parents who have their children in the school this year.

Exhibition Opens

Woodstock, Dec. 9—An exhibition of retrospective and recent paintings by Milton opens December 8 at the Grace Borgenicht Gallery, 65 East 57th street, New York. The show will continue through December 27.

WSCS Meets Tuesday

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The WSCS will hold its regular monthly meeting and Christmas party tonight at 7 o'clock with a covered dish supper at the home of Mrs. Nelson Shultis of Wittenberg. Gifts will be exchanged.

PO Schedule Listed

Woodstock, Dec. 9 — Howard Bell, postmaster of the Woodstock post office, announces that on Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, the post office will be open from 7 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m., to facilitate the sending of Christmas mail. There will be an incoming mail at 3 p. m. but no outgoing mail.

Bureau Plans Party

Woodstock, Dec. 9—The Overlook Home Bureau will meet Thursday, Dec. 11, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Victor Allen, at which time the unit will have its annual Christmas party. Each member is asked to bring a small gift for exchange.

Shultis Is Elected

Woodstock, Dec. 9—DeWitt A. Shultis was re-elected to serve a term of five years as a member of the board of fire commissioners of this village. The other commissioners are William West, chairman, Victor Lasher, Arthur Stone and Montcena DeWitt.

State Commander Urges Training and Criticizes VA Cuts

Approximately 200 persons attended a testimonial dinner at Williams Lake Hotel in Rosendale Saturday night for Bruce Perry of Rochester, first World War 2 veteran to be New York Department Commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. Leo Carey, Department Commander for the Legion Auxiliary.

In an address, Percy stressed the Legion's past efforts to assure the country of adequate preparedness, asserting that "if Congress had believed the American Legion," there would have been no World War 2 and no "police action" in Korea.

He told of the formation prior to World War 2 of the Sons of the Legion, with the intent of interesting the youth in the value of preparedness.

Behind Freedom Crusade

Percy also revealed that at the national executive board meeting in Indianapolis, the Legion directed its national commander to submit a proposed Universal Military Training bill to Congress as soon as it convenes next year. The executive board also went on record urging the more effective use of psychological warfare, for a restoration of the $31 million cut from Veterans Administration medical and surgical funds and backing the "Crusade for Freedom."

Reporting a "new enthusiasm" in Legion ranks, Percy estimated the Department of New York will have a membership of 85,000 by Dec. 31 of this year. He urged all post commanders to continue a drive for new members and to seek especially renewals from all present members.

Percy was introduced by James G. Connelly, toastmaster, who pointed out that the guest speaker had held office on various committees and was commander of his post, county and district before becoming state commander.

Auxiliary Welfare Report

Also addressing those present was Mrs. Carey, who stated the membership goal in the state for the Legion Auxiliary is 60,000. She told of the work the Auxiliary is doing in furnishing sweaters for children of Korea, in the donation over the years of $50,000 to children in Memorial Hospital, New York, and the project of furnishing an outdoor relaxation and recreation area at the Veterans Hospital in Albany.

Mrs. Carey was introduced by Mrs. Stanley Matthews, past department Auxiliary president.

The dinner meeting was sponsored by the Ulster County American Legion and Auxiliary. At the opening of the meeting, the colors were advanced by a color guard consisting of Clarence Hyde, Sgt. Joseph Sills, Jr., of the Air Force who had just returned from Korea; Thomas Bohan and Louis Tudoroff. The Star Spangled Banner was led by Mrs. John Spirnenweber, and invocation was by County Chaplain Clarence Brown.

Welcome was by C. W. Barth, county commander, and Mrs. Lester Sanford, county auxiliary president.

Letters From Legislators

A letter from State Senator Arthur H. Wicks was read, stating in part, "I regret very much I shall be unable to accept your invitation because I am still on vacation in Florida. . . . Please extend my warmest greetings to your state commander, and your officers and members, and assure them that as their legislative representative in the Senate of the State of New York I shall cooperate with your state legislative committee in the future as I have in the past in the enactment of legislation affecting veterans."

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, who was unable to attend because he was in Washington, wrote, "I trust that you will have a very successful occasion and you may rest assured that I will continue to have the Legionnaires in mind at all times."

Regrets were also expressed by Assemblyman John Wadlin, who planned to attend but telephoned that he was unable to be present due to a virus attack.

Pocket-Size Whiz

New York (AP) — A new non-sliding slide-rule does your mathematics quickly for you. It can multiply, divide, find square roots, measure the area of circles and rectangles, and the volume of cylinders and cubes. It has no moving parts. It's simply a square of transparent plastic, 5 by 5 inches, marked with a family of numbered parabolic curves, two diagonal lines, and a numbered horizontal and vertical grid system. This arithmetical wizard was developed by John D. Kreuttner of New-Era Products, New York, who calls it the Space-Scale. To find the area of a rectangle, as for example a scale drawing of a room on an architectural plan, you place the Space-Scale over the drawing, with the upper left corner of the device on the upper left corner of the drawing. The number on the curve cutting the lower right corner of the room gives you the area.

Israel's New President

Jerusalem, Dec. 8 (AP)—Itzhak Ben-Zvi, 68, leader of the Labor party, was elected Israel's second president today.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Dec. 9—Dan Lawlor of New York came from the city Thursday to do a little hunting. He is superintendent of the Washington Heights apartment house in which the Bernard Casablancas, local summer residents, make their winter home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Flad of Long Island are building a house on a lot which they bought of Ann Ingalls. The Onteora Trail lot adjoins the Edmund Gearon, or former Reformed Church parsonage, property on the west. The Flads are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rast whom they have often visited here in the past.

Dr. Hans Cohn, who with Mrs. Cohn recently returned to their home in Woodstock from a vacation trip to the West Indies, was a caller at the Julia Winchell home last week. The doctor recalled that Mrs. Winchell was the first local resident to welcome him to Shokan when he came here to practice, 18 years ago last spring. The Cohns and their small children resided here in the present John McGovern house before removing to Woodstock.

William and Charles (Buddy) Jackson are expected to join their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson of Ashokan, for Christmas. Billy will come from Camp Gordon, Ga., where he recently received high scholastic honors in his Signal Corps classes, and Buddy plans to fly here from the San Diego naval base. Both young servicemen were outstanding local athletes in their high school days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phillips of Glenford Heights, town of Hurley, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Saturday, Dec. 6. Clarence and the former Edith Gray were married in Hurley by the Rev. G. L. Tiffany and they lived in Shokan several years. They have five grown children and 15 grandchildren . . . Having an anniversary Wednesday, Dec. 10, are Herman and Edna (Crispell) Morris, both of whom are natives of the reservoir country. The couple have two married children. Verna (Mrs. Walter) Cook, Ashokan, and Richard Morris of Kingston.

Fred Osterhoudt, well known Shandaken business man who died recently, resided in the old village of Shokan while employed as a young man on the Ashokan Reservoir job. Fred and his bride who was Grace Churchill of Boiceville, lived in the Mary Carlile house following their marriage. Edna Longyear, local Red Cross chairman, was hostess to a number of out of town hunters during the deer season. Edna was assisted in the kitchen by young Jimmy Freese of the old state road.

Bob Usher, Olive Bridge Legionnaire, while hunting Thanksgiving Day with George Rothman and several other young men, bagged a 300-lb. black bear in the vicinity of the old Nichols homestead near High Point mountain.

Mrs. Frank Van Etten, Sr., the former Bertha Every, who died Dec. 2 at her home in Port Ewen, had a number of friends in this section where she was born and spent her early married life. Mrs. VanEtten's girlhood home here was the present Gabriel Richard place along the north side of the old state road.

Echo of Waterworks Days: Thursday, Dec. 8, 1910 — Esther Dewitt Whittle died yesterday in Washington, D. C., where her husband, George Whittle of Olive, has been employed in the government printing office many years. She was a sister of Louisa Stewart of Kingston and an aunt by marriage of Mrs. Bert Jones. . . . Canfield Supply Company advertises "Priming cups for Autos" in The Freeman. . . . An unusual hunting season sight in neighboring Phoenicia was that of nine black bears hanging in front of a local butcher shop.

State Commander Urges Training and Criticizes VA Cuts

Approximately 200 persons attended a testimonial dinner at Williams Lake Hotel in Rosendale Saturday night for Bruce Perry of Rochester, first World War 2 veteran to be New York Department Commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. Leo Carey, Department Commander for the Legion Auxiliary.

In an address, Percy stressed the Legion's past efforts to assure the country of adequate preparedness, asserting that "if Congress had believed the American Legion," there would have been no World War 2 and no "police action" in Korea.

He told of the formation prior to World War 2 of the Sons of the Legion, with the intent of interesting the youth in the value of preparedness.

Behind Freedom Crusade

Percy also revealed that at the national executive board meeting in Indianapolis, the Legion directed its national commander to submit a proposed Universal Military Training bill to Congress as soon as it convenes next year. The executive board also went on record urging the more effective use of psychological warfare, for a restoration of the $31 million cut from Veterans Administration medical and surgical funds and backing the "Crusade for Freedom."

Reporting a "new enthusiasm" in Legion ranks, Percy estimated the Department of New York will have a membership of 85,000 by Dec. 31 of this year. He urged all post commanders to continue a drive for new members and to seek especially renewals from all present members.

Percy was introduced by James G. Connelly, toastmaster, who pointed out that the guest speaker had held office on various committees and was commander of his post, county and district before becoming state commander.

Auxiliary Welfare Report

Also addressing those present was Mrs. Carey, who stated the membership goal in the state for the Legion Auxiliary is 60,000. She told of the work the Auxiliary is doing in furnishing sweaters for children of Korea, in the donation over the years of $50,000 to children in Memorial Hospital, New York, and the project of furnishing an outdoor relaxation and recreation area at the Veterans Hospital in Albany.

Mrs. Carey was introduced by Mrs. Stanley Matthews, past department Auxiliary president.

The dinner meeting was sponsored by the Ulster County American Legion and Auxiliary. At the opening of the meeting, the colors were advanced by a color guard consisting of Clarence Hyde, Sgt. Joseph Sills, Jr., of the Air Force who had just returned from Korea; Thomas Bohan and Louis Tudoroff. The Star Spangled Banner was led by Mrs. John Spirnenweber, and invocation was by County Chaplain Clarance Brown.

Welcome was by C. W. Barth, county commander, and Mrs. Lester Sanford, county auxiliary president.

Letters From Legislators

A letter from State Senator Arthur H. Wicks was read, stating in part, "I regret very much I shall be unable to accept your invitation because I am still on vacation in Florida. . . . Please extend my warmest greetings to your state commander, and your officers and members, and assure them that as their legislative representative in the Senate of the State of New York I shall cooperate with your state legislative committee in the future as I have in the past in the enactment of legislation affecting veterans."

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, who was unable to attend because he was in Washington, wrote, "I trust that you will have a very successful occasion and you may rest assured that I will continue to have the Legionnaires in mind at all times."

Regrets were also expressed by Assemblyman John Wadlin, who planned to attend but telephoned that he was unable to be present due to a virus attack.

Pocket-Size Whiz

New York (AP) — A new non-sliding slide-rule does your mathematics quickly for you. It can multiply, divide, find square roots, measure the area of circles and rectangles, and the volume of cylinders and cubes. It has no moving parts. It's simply a square of transparent plastic, 5 by 5 inches, marked with a family of numbered parabolic curves, two diagonal lines, and a numbered horizontal and vertical grid system. This arithmetical wizard was developed by John D. Kreuttner of New-Era Products, New York, who calls it the Space-Scale. To find the area of a rectangle, as for example a scale drawing of a room on an architectural plan, you place the Space-Scale over the drawing, with the upper left corner of the device on the upper left corner of the drawing. The number on the curve cutting the lower right corner of the room gives you the area.

Israel's New President

Jerusalem, Dec. 8 (AP)—Itzhak Ben-Zvi, 68, leader of the Labor party, was elected Israel's second president today.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Dec. 9—Dan Lawlor of New York came from the city Thursday to do a little hunting. He is superintendent of the Washington Heights apartment house in which the Bernard Casablancas, local summer residents, make their winter home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Flad of Long Island are building a house on a lot which they bought of Ann Ingalls. The Onteora Trail lot adjoins the Edmund Gearon, or former Reformed Church parsonage, property on the west. The Flads are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rast whom they have often visited here in the past.

Dr. Hans Cohn, who with Mrs. Cohn recently returned to their home in Woodstock from a vacation trip to the West Indies, was a caller at the Julia Winchell home last week. The doctor recalled that Mrs. Winchell was the first local resident to welcome him to Shokan when he came here to practice, 18 years ago last spring. The Cohns and their small children resided here in the present John McGovern house before removing to Woodstock.

William and Charles (Buddy) Jackson are expected to join their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson of Ashokan, for Christmas. Billy will come from Camp Gordon, Ga., where he recently received high scholastic honors in his Signal Corps classes, and Buddy plans to fly here from the San Diego naval base. Both young servicemen were outstanding local athletes in their high school days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phillips of Glenford Heights, town of Hurley, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Saturday, Dec. 6. Clarence and the former Edith Gray were married in Hurley by the Rev. G. L. Tiffany and they lived in Shokan several years. They have five grown children and 15 grandchildren . . . Having an anniversary Wednesday, Dec. 10, are Herman and Edna (Crispell) Morris, both of whom are natives of the reservoir country. The couple have two married children. Verna (Mrs. Walter) Cook, Ashokan, and Richard Morris of Kingston.

Fred Osterhoudt, well known Shandaken business man who died recently, resided in the old village of Shokan while employed as a young man on the Ashokan Reservoir job. Fred and his bride who was Grace Churchill of Boiceville, lived in the Mary Carlile house following their marriage. Edna Longyear, local Red Cross chairman, was hostess to a number of out of town hunters during the deer season. Edna was assisted in the kitchen by young Jimmy Freese of the old state road.

Bob Usher, Olive Bridge Legionnaire, while hunting Thanksgiving Day with George Rothman and several other young men, bagged a 300-lb. black bear in the vicinity of the old Nichols homestead near High Point mountain.

Mrs. Frank Van Etten, Sr., the former Bertha Every, who died Dec. 2 at her home in Port Ewen, had a number of friends in this section where she was born and spent her early married life. Mrs. VanEtten's girlhood home here was the present Gabriel Richard place along the north side of the old state road.

Echo of Waterworks Days: Thursday, Dec. 8, 1910 — Esther Dewitt Whittle died yesterday in Washington, D. C., where her husband, George Whittle of Olive, has been employed in the government printing office many years. She was a sister of Louisa Stewart of Kingston and an aunt by marriage of Mrs. Bert Jones. . . . Canfield Supply Company advertises "Priming cups for Autos" in The Freeman. . . . An unusual hunting season sight in neighboring Phoenicia was that of nine black bears hanging in front of a local butcher shop.

Smith Is Chairman

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith, Jr., son of the late governor of New York, today has been named chairman of the board of the Electromath Corp., of White Plains, N. Y. The company manufactures precision electronic equipment.

IT COULDN'T BE DONE...

so Emerson did it!

Now In Television . . . as before in radio . . . Emerson's "pioneering-engineering" is giving you more for your money than any other set!

You don't have to be a graybeard to remember when radio sets were about as bulky as grand pianos—and cost a young fortune.

Then a young, aggressive company named Emerson stepped into the picture . . . and the whole picture changed. They weren't just engineers . . . but pioneers.

They cut out the bulk—and the "bunk." They rolled up their sleeves, stepped up the quality, and cut down the costs, by miracles of mass production.

Overnight Emerson became America's Best Buy. Tops in performance, value, and style.

NOW IT'S HAPPENING AGAIN IN TELEVISION

And when Television arrived, again the "engineer-pioneers" looked around them and said . . . "Uh-uh . . . none of this 'me-too' point of view for us."

They said, "Let's do in television what we did in radio. We've got the experience and 'know-how' in this kind of operation that nobody else can match."

That's true! Nobody else has Emerson's background. And that is why Emerson—and Emerson alone—can give you the performance, quality and style you'll see at your nearest dealer's at a price you've never seen anywhere before!

Once again the "experts" said it couldn't be done.
And once again we did it!

And you can be the judge of how well. Before you lay down a single dollar for that TV set you want to buy . . . look at Emerson! Yes, if you place any value at all upon those dollars you earned with the proverbial sweat of your brow . . . look at Emerson! Emerson . . . more than ever, America's Best Buy!

Newlyweds Have Reception

Ida Shirley Geuss Becomes Bride of Ronald Costello

The marriage of Miss Ida Shirley Geuss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Geuss, 79 German street, to Ronald Costello, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Costello, Port Ewen, took place Sunday, Nov. 30, at 2:30 p. m. in St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Joseph A. Geis, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 150 guests was held at the Yacht Club. Lou Perry's orchestra provided the music.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums. Traditional wedding selections were played by Miss Anne A. Goldrick, organist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory slipper satin and imported lace. Her full length veil was secured to a seed-pearl tiara. She carried a prayer-book with a white orchid and streamers of white pompons.

Miss Nancy Oulton, 149 West O'Reilly street, was the maid of honor. Attired in a purple strapless gown, fashioned with a velvet bodice and net skirt over purple taffeta, a matching stole, and matching tulle and velvet bonnet, she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow pompons.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Maureen Geuss, the bride's sister; and Margaret Costello, sister to the bridegroom. Their gowns and bonnets, identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant, were in colors of dark green and gold, respectively, and they carried cascade bouquets of pink pompons, and rust and yellow pompons.

Miss Ellen Carter was the flower girl. With her mint green taffeta and net gown, fashioned with a hooped skirt, she wore a flower headpiece and carried a nosegay bouquet.

Ralph Carpino of East Kingston was his cousin's best man. Serving as ushers were John Costello, the bridegroom's brother and George Geuss, Jr., brother of the bride. Gene Rios, nephew to the bride, was the child ringbearer.

The bride attended Kingston High School and is employed at the Barclay Knitwear Co., Inc. The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School and is serving with the U. S. Army. He is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

The couple will make their future home in Port Ewen.

Catholic Leader Will Address St. Ursula Mothers' Association

The Rev. Richard L. Rooney, S. J., prominent Catholic youth leader, will address parents and friends of the students of the Academy of St. Ursula, Thursday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. The Mothers' Association is sponsoring the address.

Father Rooney is a sectional director of the Queen's Work Sodality, whose main office is in St. Louis, Mo. He is a nationally known authority on the problems of teen-agers and college students, especially where the parent-teacher-child relationship is concerned.

All persons interested in youth work are invited to attend the lecture.

Pupils Present Musicales

The pupils of Mrs. Bert Bishop, Richmond Park, presented two musicales recently at her studio. The first was given by the girl pupils and included piano work, vocal solos and dance numbers.

The boys participated in the second musicale and offered flute and french horn solos in addition to piano selections.

Fashions, Perfumes Are Peace Weapons, Says Head of Patou

(A.P. Women's Editor)

Fashions and perfumes are weapons in the fight for peace, says Raymond Barbas, head of the House of Patou and president of the Chambre Syndicale De La Couture Parisienne, the French National Federation of Arts and Creation Industries and the National Federation of the French Couture, as well as a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

This sprightly Frenchman explains that people who deal with fashion are true internationalists, and the best world ambassadors of good will.

Rips Iron Curtain

If anything rips the Iron Curtain, Barbas says, it is likely to be the Russian woman's desire for capitalist fashions, rather than the atom bomb as a case in point, he says:

"Recently a friend of mine was a delegate to an International Economic Conference in Moscow. He took with him a batch of French fashion magazines which he left in his hotel. When he returned, the magazines had vanished. This, I think, is telling proof that women are women the world over, and that interest in fashion is universal."

On his 63d trip to New York recently, Barbas explained his strong feeling about the fundamental importance of fashion in world history. Says he:

Always Have Fashion

"There will always be fashion. People in the business should never worry about the future, because fashion is part of the story of the world.

"We identify periods of history by the fashions of the day. Many persons may not know much about the history of ancient Rome, but practically everyone knows that Caesar wore a toga.

"We may not be intimately acquainted with historical events in France during the reign of Louis XIV, but we remember the fashions.

"When novelists start writing about the future world of space travel, what do they describe first? The clothes people will wear, naturally. You can't visualize a new period of history without people, and you can't visualize people without fashions."

Pointing out that fashion is not a frivolity, but a basic industry, Barbas says there are 40,000 couture houses in France—not just the big famous houses in Paris, but small dressmaking establishments in every little town, where women may have their clothes made to order with the individual touches so dear to the hearts of French women.

Predicts 1953 Silhouette

As to the 1953 silhouette, Barbas predicts no drastic changes, but says:

"Women are getting tired of big, full skirts, because all women look alike in them. The slim silhouette is increasingly important, which means that women will have to watch their figures more closely. Fashions of the new season will be figure-revealing."

He thinks that Americans are superlative in the making of casual clothes, but that nobody can approach the French in the creation of elaborate fashions requiring fine detail and hand work. He has a businessman's healthy respect for the $11 billion fashion industry in the United States, but feels that American buyers and designers must go to Paris regularly for inspiration.

Barbas enjoys New York, admires American women, industry and shops, but his heart belongs to Paris.

Newlyweds Have Reception

Ida Shirley Geuss Becomes Bride of Ronald Costello

The marriage of Miss Ida Shirley Geuss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Geuss, 79 German street, to Ronald Costello, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Costello, Port Ewen, took place Sunday, Nov. 30, at 2:30 p. m. in St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Joseph A. Geis, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 150 guests was held at the Yacht Club. Lou Perry's orchestra provided the music.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums. Traditional wedding selections were played by Miss Anne A. Goldrick, organist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory slipper satin and imported lace. Her full length veil was secured to a seed-pearl tiara. She carried a prayer-book with a white orchid and streamers of white pompons.

Miss Nancy Oulton, 149 West O'Reilly street, was the maid of honor. Attired in a purple strapless gown, fashioned with a velvet bodice and net skirt over purple taffeta, a matching stole, and matching tulle and velvet bonnet, she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow pompons.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Maureen Geuss, the bride's sister; and Margaret Costello, sister to the bridegroom. Their gowns and bonnets, identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant, were in colors of dark green and gold, respectively, and they carried cascade bouquets of pink pompons, and rust and yellow pompons.

Miss Ellen Carter was the flower girl. With her mint green taffeta and net gown, fashioned with a hooped skirt, she wore a flower headpiece and carried a nosegay bouquet.

Ralph Carpino of East Kingston was his cousin's best man. Serving as ushers were John Costello, the bridegroom's brother and George Geuss, Jr., brother of the bride. Gene Rios, nephew to the bride, was the child ringbearer.

The bride attended Kingston High School and is employed at the Barclay Knitwear Co., Inc. The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School and is serving with the U. S. Army. He is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

The couple will make their future home in Port Ewen.

Holiday High Lights

Kingston, N. Y., Dec. 9—We're looking ahead into a bright new holiday season . . . Christmas and New Years. And with all the color of the Christmas Season and the excitement of the New Year, what could be smarter than a new and individually styled coiffure?

Now is the time to get your permanent so that the natural softness of your hair can be returned by having a set before the glamorous holidays.

Permanent Wave Gift Certificates are available for Christmas Giving at Mickey's.

MICKEY'S Beauty & Barber Shop, 50 N. Front St., Phone 3275. Closed Mondays. Open Tues. and Thurs. evenings.

Catholic Leader Will Address St. Ursula Mothers' Association

The Rev. Richard L. Rooney, S. J., prominent Catholic youth leader, will address parents and friends of the students of the Academy of St. Ursula, Thursday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. The Mothers' Association is sponsoring the address.

Father Rooney is a sectional director of the Queen's Work Sodality, whose main office is in St. Louis, Mo. He is a nationally known authority on the problems of teen-agers and college students, especially where the parent-teacher-child relationship is concerned.

All persons interested in youth work are invited to attend the lecture.

Pupils Present Musicales

The pupils of Mrs. Bert Bishop, Richmond Park, presented two musicales recently at her studio. The first was given by the girl pupils and included piano work, vocal solos and dance numbers.

The boys participated in the second musicale and offered flute and french horn solos in addition to piano selections.

Fashions, Perfumes Are Peace Weapons, Says Head of Patou

(A.P. Women's Editor)

Fashions and perfumes are weapons in the fight for peace, says Raymond Barbas, head of the House of Patou and president of the Chambre Syndicale De La Couture Parisienne, the French National Federation of Arts and Creation Industries and the National Federation of the French Couture, as well as a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

This sprightly Frenchman explains that people who deal with fashion are true internationalists, and the best world ambassadors of good will.

Rips Iron Curtain

If anything rips the Iron Curtain, Barbas says, it is likely to be the Russian woman's desire for capitalist fashions, rather than the atom bomb as a case in point, he says:

"Recently a friend of mine was a delegate to an International Economic Conference in Moscow. He took with him a batch of French fashion magazines which he left in his hotel. When he returned, the magazines had vanished. This, I think, is telling proof that women are women the world over, and that interest in fashion is universal."

On his 63d trip to New York recently, Barbas explained his strong feeling about the fundamental importance of fashion in world history. Says he:

Always Have Fashion

"There will always be fashion. People in the business should never worry about the future, because fashion is part of the story of the world.

"We identify periods of history by the fashions of the day. Many persons may not know much about the history of ancient Rome, but practically everyone knows that Caesar wore a toga.

"We may not be intimately acquainted with historical events in France during the reign of Louis XIV, but we remember the fashions.

"When novelists start writing about the future world of space travel, what do they describe first? The clothes people will wear, naturally. You can't visualize a new period of history without people, and you can't visualize people without fashions."

Pointing out that fashion is not a frivolity, but a basic industry, Barbas says there are 40,000 couture houses in France—not just the big famous houses in Paris, but small dressmaking establishments in every little town, where women may have their clothes made to order with the individual touches so dear to the hearts of French women.

Predicts 1953 Silhouette

As to the 1953 silhouette, Barbas predicts no drastic changes, but says:

"Women are getting tired of big, full skirts, because all women look alike in them. The slim silhouette is increasingly important, which means that women will have to watch their figures more closely. Fashions of the new season will be figure-revealing."

He thinks that Americans are superlative in the making of casual clothes, but that nobody can approach the French in the creation of elaborate fashions requiring fine detail and hand work. He has a businessman's healthy respect for the $11 billion fashion industry in the United States, but feels that American buyers and designers must go to Paris regularly for inspiration.

Barbas enjoys New York, admires American women, industry and shops, but his heart belongs to Paris.

Hold Open House on Golden Wedding Day

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE W. SHULTIS

To celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shultis, 279 Washington avenue, held open house last Saturday from 4 to 8 p. m., when 80 guests were present from this city, Saugerties, Woodstock, Rhinebeck, Schenectady, Rensselaer, and Bridgeport, Conn.

Yellow and white were the colors used to decorate the couple's home. The conventional wedding cake was used for a table centerpiece and was flanked with yellow candles. Mrs. Rodney B. Chipp and Mrs. Robert B. Evory presided at the tea table.

Mrs. Shultis, the former Miss Lillian Shufelt, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Shufelt of Woodstock. Mr. Shultis is the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Shultis, also of Woodstock. Both families were well known for their work in civic and religious circles.

The couple was married at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Clearfield Park, then pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church, Woodstock, performed the ceremony and was assisted by the Rev. Walter Frederick, pastor of the Lutheran Church, of which Mr. Shultis was a member. It was a double wedding as Mr. Shultis' twin sister was married to Frederick J. Short.

Mr. and Mrs. Shultis have one child, a daughter, Mrs. Edgar H. Freese of Bridgeport, Conn.

IN COUNTY GRANGES

Tax return time for farmers is getting short and we remind you that next month is the deadline. If two-thirds or more of your income is from farming and your business year figures from January 1, as most do, you may file your return and pay the tax on or before January 31, 1953, or file an estimate of your tax and pay this amount by January 15, 1953, then file your complete return and pay any balance by March 15, 1953. The Grange has issued a folder entitled "Good Tax News" which calls attention to the feature of the income tax law which now permits farmers to class certain sales of livestock as capital gains and thus represent a substantial savings in tax payments. Agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue will always help you with tax returns, or there is a tax service recommended by Grange which has proven valuable.

"Grange Speaks" is the title of a folder just released by State Grange Secretary Harold Stanley, who has once more performed one of those valuable services for all of us by condensing major resolutions adopted at recent annual sessions which are now Grange policy. Copies were made available at the legislative conference held last week in Albany for Pomona Grange masters and legislative chairmen, but all Granges will receive them, as will members of the Legislature. There are 39 of the more than 80 resolutions adopted and are listed under the six headings: Agriculture, Conservation, Education, Highways, Public Welfare and National Considerations. An added, and helpful feature this year is the inclusion of the number attached to each, which corresponds to its number in the Journal of Proceedings, soon to be issued to all Granges, and which will provide easy reference. Since resolutions affecting Grange policies in the past are not always repeated from year to year, it has been wisely suggested that copies of these folders may be kept on file for use of each Grange or its legislative committee. A similar summary of National Grange resolutions called "On This We Stand" has also been released, following recent actions at sessions in Illinois, and containing Grange platform for 1953.

Alert Grange members find themselves better informed by full use of these aids, when, as is increasingly happening, information by local legislative representatives and prospective new members is sought. Be prepared, be intelligent, be progressive on Grange thinking.

Says Protest Weak

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) says he is disappointed in Secretary of State Acheson's attitude toward Communist penetration of America's United Nations staff. "A shockingly weak protest" was the way O'Conor described a letter, dated Oct. 12, from Acheson to Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.). According to O'Conor, Acheson told Wiley "we do not regard the employment of United States citizens who are Communists as being in the best interest of the organization (UN) or of this government."

Boy Spotter Cited

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy who spotted President Truman's plane flying over northern New York state was commended today by Gen. Hoyt. S. Vandeberg, air force chief of staff. Due to a mixup in flight plans, the air force in the area had no record of the plane and sent up interceptor planes to check. The pilots discovered it was the President's plane the Independence. Ronald Hutchins, of Newcomb, N. Y., was here as a guest of the air force.

YWCA Annual Hanging of Greens' Ceremony Attracts 150

Fog Leaving London

London, Dec. 9 (AP)—The great fog that had gripped London by the throat for four choking days began blowing away this morning. A cold wind came happily out of the southwest. In the gray-blue dawn, the nine million prisoners of London's worst mist of modern times began to breathe more easily again. Air minister weather experts said the fog should clear completely during the day.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

ALLERGIC TO GARLIC

A reader tells me: "I dislike the taste of garlic so intensely that, if anything is even slightly seasoned with it, I am made deathly sick. And as many hostesses do use this flavoring in their food, I am in constant fear of coming in contact with it whenever I am invited to anyone's house for a meal. Under the circumstances, would it be at all permissible to ask the hostess if the food is seasoned with garlic before eating it? This must sound very strange to you, but really, Mrs. Post, it presents quite a problem to me and I hope you can offer a solution."

In this age when allergies are recognized, any hostess would understand your very strong one to garlic and certainly not resent your question.

Concerning Men's Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: I am especially fond of wearing a black bow tie with a white shirt and do so practically all of the time. However, I have been told by other men, who consider themselves well dressed, that this is quite all right for formal occasions, but it is not good taste for casual or business attire. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: The black bow tie with white shirt is, of course, correct with a tuxedo; but really wrong with a daytime suit.

Use Grape Scissors

Dear Mrs. Post: During supper the other evening, a bowl of fruit was standing in the middle of the table. After the dessert, I broke off a small bunch of grapes and started eating them. I was reproached for this and told that I should have used scissors to cut off the grapes and not my fingers. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: It is very hard to break off a little bunch of grapes without disturbing the careful arrangement of fruit, and that is why grape scissors are provided.

Should a leafy salad be cut with a knife? Is it good manners to put crackers in soup? These and other questions are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-16, "Table Rules of Importance." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand was played by Dr. Kalman Apfel of New York City. "Doc" is a big burly man, more like a football player than a physician, but he plays the cards with the precision and delicacy of a surgeon.

The final contract of six no-trump was not unduly ambitious. With 11 tricks in top cards, declarer needed only a successful club finesse or a successful play in hearts. Neither of these maneuvers would have succeeded, but "Doc" nevertheless found a way to make his contract.

West opened his singleton club, and East's ten forced out declarer's king. The lead was quite clearly a singleton or doubleton, and Dr. Apfel pessimistically, but quite accurately, decided that the ace of hearts would be offside.

Just for the fun of it, try to make the contract with the advantage of seeing all the cards. You won't find it easy.

"Doc" won the first trick with the king of clubs, and followed with four rounds of diamonds, discarding a club from his hand. He then continued with five rounds of spades, reducing all hands to three cards.

East had to have the queen and a low club to prevent dummy from taking two club tricks. East was therefore able to save only one heart.

Dr. Apfel thereupon led the low heart from his hand, putting the pistol to the head of both defenders at the same time. If East won the trick with his blank queen of hearts, he would be forced to lead clubs up to dummy's ace-jack.

If West tried to rescue his partner, he would have to play the ace of hearts, which would set up declarer's king for the twelfth trick.

New Fight on Polio

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—The American Red Cross and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are embarking on new gamma globulin projects. The Red Cross announced here yesterday it is expanding its blood collection program to raise supplies of the serum, newest derivative for treatment of polio. The Red Cross will be in charge of production of globulin, made from blood. At the request of the Office of Defense Mobilization, the Red Cross will turn over to it all supplies of globulin for allocation. Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said in Seattle yesterday that the foundation hopes to administer globulin to 1,500,000 children next year.

Proposes Economic Staff

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, proposed today that the United States create an International Economic General Staff. The head of the movie producers group offered the plan as a major step "to give us the initiative in the economic warfare the Kremlin is waging against us." He said: It would be the job of this general staff to take a constant look at the whole international trade pattern and to organize effective measures for our participation, private and public, in the efforts to build up the economic might of the free world. "It would serve also as a clearing house for information on economic opportunities abroad for the benefit of American investors."

Priest Going to Moscow

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Rev. Georges Bissonette has been issued a visa by the Soviet embassy permitting him to enter Russia and take over as the only Roman Catholic priest there. Father Bissonette, now with the Assumption College at Worcester, Mass., will be the fourth priest in Moscow under the treaty in which the United States recognized Russia's revolutionary government in 1933.

Took Jewels, Glasses

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—A Brooklyn diamond merchant was robbed of $15,000 in jewelry early today by three men who met him outside his home and took his glasses to prevent his identifying them. Police said Jack Kastin, 48, of Brooklyn, was entering his automobile parked in front of his home at about midnight when two men approached him from behind. One man who was armed grabbed Kastin's glasses before he could see them. Then the two forced him to enter another automobile in which a third man was waiting. Most of the jewels, which Kastin carried in a leather bag, were cut and polished diamonds not yet mounted, police said.

Negro Doctors Accepted

Charleston, S. C., Dec. 9 (AP)—For the first time in the segregation history of South Carolina medical groups, five Negro physicians have been admitted to membership in the Charleston County Medical Association. The local organization's action makes them eligible for membership in the South Carolina Medical Association and the American Medical Association. The state group voted last May to delete any mention of color or race from its by-laws.

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand was played by Dr. Kalman Apfel of New York City. "Doc" is a big burly man, more like a football player than a physician, but he plays the cards with the precision and delicacy of a surgeon.

The final contract of six no-trump was not unduly ambitious. With 11 tricks in top cards, declarer needed only a successful club finesse or a successful play in hearts. Neither of these maneuvers would have succeeded, but "Doc" nevertheless found a way to make his contract.

West opened his singleton club, and East's ten forced out declarer's king. The lead was quite clearly a singleton or doubleton, and Dr. Apfel pessimistically, but quite accurately, decided that the ace of hearts would be offside.

Just for the fun of it, try to make the contract with the advantage of seeing all the cards. You won't find it easy.

"Doc" won the first trick with the king of clubs, and followed with four rounds of diamonds, discarding a club from his hand. He then continued with five rounds of spades, reducing all hands to three cards.

East had to have the queen and a low club to prevent dummy from taking two club tricks. East was therefore able to save only one heart.

Dr. Apfel thereupon led the low heart from his hand, putting the pistol to the head of both defenders at the same time. If East won the trick with his blank queen of hearts, he would be forced to lead clubs up to dummy's ace-jack.

If West tried to rescue his partner, he would have to play the ace of hearts, which would set up declarer's king for the twelfth trick.

New Fight on Polio

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—The American Red Cross and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are embarking on new gamma globulin projects. The Red Cross announced here yesterday it is expanding its blood collection program to raise supplies of the serum, newest derivative for treatment of polio. The Red Cross will be in charge of production of globulin, made from blood. At the request of the Office of Defense Mobilization, the Red Cross will turn over to it all supplies of globulin for allocation. Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said in Seattle yesterday that the foundation hopes to administer globulin to 1,500,000 children next year.

Proposes Economic Staff

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, proposed today that the United States create an International Economic General Staff. The head of the movie producers group offered the plan as a major step "to give us the initiative in the economic warfare the Kremlin is waging against us." He said: It would be the job of this general staff to take a constant look at the whole international trade pattern and to organize effective measures for our participation, private and public, in the efforts to build up the economic might of the free world. "It would serve also as a clearing house for information on economic opportunities abroad for the benefit of American investors."

Priest Going to Moscow

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Rev. Georges Bissonette has been issued a visa by the Soviet embassy permitting him to enter Russia and take over as the only Roman Catholic priest there. Father Bissonette, now with the Assumption College at Worcester, Mass., will be the fourth priest in Moscow under the treaty in which the United States recognized Russia's revolutionary government in 1933.

Kingston High Places Massa, Kozlowski and Engle on ALL-DUSO

NFA Gets Four Spots; Three Awarded Blues

Newburgh Free Academy's repeat football champions dominate the 1952 All-DUSO selections with four places on the first team announced today by members of the DUSO League Sportswriters Association.

Kingston High and Poughkeepsie High were awarded three berths each, the other going to Port Jervis.

The 1952 array includes six seniors, four juniors and one freshman.

Members of the first team will receive All-DUSO certificates to be presented by Association members in the respective citis.

Coach Willard Burke's second place Maroons landed Gene Massa, Bob Kozlowski and Bill Engle on the first team. Orville Giles, Chris Gallo and Fred Jackson were listed on the second squad. Several other Maroons were nosed out in close balloting.

The Academians placed three members of their stout line—George Roe, Ben Corrado and Dick Pavlik, the No. 1 lineman of the league—and their durable back, Jack Burger.

Heading the Poughkeepsie selections was 15-year-old freshman halfback sensation, Charles "Bobby" Johnson, who will be around to haunt DUSO opposition for three more seasons. The Blues also placed Charles Smith, senior guard, and Dan Dahowski, brilliant junior wingman.

The sportswriters took cognizance of Mel Decker's brilliant performances with a so-so Port Jervis squad in naming him fullback on the first string team.

Predominantly a running team, since there wasn't a single outstanding passer in the DUSO, 1952 selections feature three standout runners in Gene Massa, Johnson and Jack Burger, and a solid all-round performer in Decker.

Pavlik, the Newburgh center, and Bill Engle of Kingston were singled out for consistently high grade performances in the line.

Unlike the past few years, the DUSO sportswriters passed up the mail balloting to make their selections in an opening meeting at the Hotel Newburgh. Although several players were outstanding enough to merit unanimous selection, the other positions were filled after spirited debates between the writers.

Virtually all of the Kingston line was mentioned for first or second team positions, while Roger Billings and Pat Manfro figured in the balloting for the second team.

Bill Lillard and Val Mikiel Lead All-Star Tourney

Chicago, Dec. 9 (AP)—The field in the National All-Star bowling tournament will begin the chase after leaders Bill Lillard of Chicago and Val Mikiel of Detroit in the final day of the preliminaries today.

The 160 men bowlers will be fighting it out for 46 semi-final spots and also the honor of leading the qualifying round. Lillard appears to have a strangle hold on the lead with 3794 pins for 18 games while runnerup Ed Lubanski of Detroit only has 3755. In third place is Don Carter of Detroit with 3734.

Lillard moved into the top spot Sunday, after Joe Rouse of Antioch, Calif., had led on opening day. Rouse since slipped to a tie for seventh place with Walter Ward of Cleveland.

Miss Mikiel is the only woman bowler in the field of 64 who is currently averaging better than 200. The slender Detroit kegler has knocked down 2410 pins in 12 games while runnerup Laverne Haverley of Los Angeles has 2375.

All-DUSO Second Team

E—Fred Jackson, Kingston
T—Roger Schilling, Poughkeepsie
G—Jerry Horton, Port Jervis
C—Mickey Dineen, Middletown
G—Chris Gallo, Kingston
T—Don Kearney, Poughkeepsie
E—Forrest Weyte, Middletown
B—Orville Giles, Kingston
B—Leo Elwell, Poughkeepsie
B—Dick Mills, Middletown
B—Frank Stellitano, Newburgh

DUSO Basketball Openers Scheduled Friday

Coach G. Warren Kias returned from a scouting trip into the wilds of Sullivan county Friday night with a unanimous one-man verdict:

"The Fallsburg Comets are tough."

The Kingston High School basketball mentor had suspected that the Comets would be rugged enough with Aaron Podhurst, the heir aparent to ALL-DUSO Bob Laskowitz, the 1000-point man.

It now develops that Fallsburg has Podhurst, a veteran scorer, and Melvin Feldman, too. The DUSO hadn't heard much about Feldman but after his brilliant performance against Liberty in the DUSO opener, Coach Kias thinks he will be one of the best shooters in the loop.

"He hits well from the inside and outside," Kias commented, "and handles the ball beautifully. He and Podhurst will make Fallsburg one of the toughest teams we'll have to face this season." They'll be at the muncipal auditorium Friday night in the local basketball opener.

Feldman unloaded 20 points as the Comets mauled the Liberty Indians, 68-45, in the early mountain opener. Podhurst, an ALL-DUSO candidate, dropped 17 points.

In the other DUSO opener, Monticello defeated Ellenville, 71-68, in overtime.

The Monties led at all the quarter marks but Coach Pete Roberts' boys battled back to deadlock the game at the final buzzer. Monticello was in front at the quarter, 17-7, led 31-20 at the half and 41-30 heading for the stretch. Herb Gold led the winners with 17, while Jerry Kaplan hit a similar number for the Ellies.

Newburgh's three-time champions are reported "loaded" again, with all-conference Mickey "The Marvel" Burkowski and Bobby Spreer returning to spearhead NFA's bid for an unprecedented fourth straight pennant.

Competition for NFA berths has been so keen, according to Hill City reports, that no member of last year's Jayvee squad has been able to cinch a varsity position this season.

Although Kingston lost its first seven men, Coach Kias is hopeful that the Maroons' "new look" can prevail against the highly charged Comets.

Kias hasn't announced his starting lineup but Bill Haber and Bill DuBois appear to be likely backcourt starters, with Palmer Broadhead Jr. and George Telepas up front. Harry LaForge or Dick Bezemer, the squad's tallest operator at 6 feet 4, will start in the pivot.

John Godwin, Fred Jackson, the football end, Bob Maines, Ray Lawrence, Bucky Miller, Jack Houghtaling, Joe Markle and Jim Colclough are in the thick of the battle for the remaining spots on the varsity squad.

DUSO Schedule

The regular DUSO season gets underway Friday with the following schedule:

Newburgh at Middletown.
Ellenville at Liberty.
Port Jervis at Beacon.
Fallsburg at Kingston.
Poughkeepsie at Monticello.

Ellis Ryan Says He Wants to Stay As Tribe Prexy

Cleveland, Dec. 9 (AP) — Ellis Ryan, who now says he wants to retain his job as Cleveland Indians president, promises to settle the club's front-office squabble some time this week.

"Definitely, I want to remain president of the Indians, said the publicity-shy, former insurance man who seemed worried the uproar would be bad for baseball.

"I want to wind this thing up as quickly as I possibly can," he continued. "There has been so much conjecture that I think the public is entitled to know what's going on."

Declining to comment on how stiff a fight he would put up to retain his post, Ryan admitted he had the support of five other directors—Joseph Broderick, B. F. (Bo) Bernet, Guy Waters, David R. Jones and Jack Johns.

Together with Ryan, they are reported to control 1,200 of the team's 3,000 shares of stock. There are 12 directors counting Ryan.

"These men came into this venture with me and they have promised to stick it out to the finish," Ryan said.

The dispute broke into the open last Thursday while Ryan was attending the major leagues meeting at Phoenix, Ariz. It was not until last night that he made it clear he wanted to remain president, although he indicated that previously.

Details of the squabble never came into the open. Insiders said it started when Ryan pushed the purchase of the Indianapolis team in the American Association. Indianapolis lost money for the Tribe last year.

Fordham End Rates Best Pass Catcher

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Six-foot Ed Brown, senior end from Jersey City, N. J., played only eight football games this season with Fordham, but still managed to smash the major college pass catching record.

Playing two less games than many of his rivals and previous record holders, Brown wound up with 57 caught, 10 more than his closest pursuer, final statistics of the NCAA Service Bureau disclosed today.

This was five more than the previous national mark set in 1947 by Mississippi's Barney Poole and tied by Art Weiner of North Carolina in 1949—both in 10-game schedules.

Brown put on a tremendous performance in his final game against New York U., catching 15 and setting a record by gaining 233 yards.

With 91 passes caught in two seasons, Brown also broke the record of 83 made by Weiner. The Fordham end led this year's receivers in yardage with 774, fifth highest single season total on record.

Second place went to Joe McClaran of Drake, catching 47 which would have been good enough to win the title in all but three previous seasons. John Carroll of Holy Cross was third with 46, and Rocky Ryan and Rex Smith, Illinois, next with 45 apiece.

Goodman To Speak Before Gun Club

District Game Protector Bill Goodman will discuss the "375 permit" in a talk before the monthly meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club tonight at 8 o'clock.

The nomination and election of officers also will take place and plans will be made for the annual banquet.

A discussion on pheasant shooting also will be held. Refreshments will be served.

Onteora Indians Cop 46-45 Win Over Fleischmanns

Onteora Central's Indians made the victory column after four unsuccessful attempts Saturday by shading Fleischmanns High, 46-45, in a schoolboy thriller at the Onteora gym.

Henry Maben's foul shot — the only action in the last two minutes of play—was the deciding point.

Foster was the individual scoring ace with 16 points and his 10 conversions set the tempo for the Indians' victory. Outscored from the field 14-12, the Onteorians showed remarkable accuracy from the foul line with 22 conversions in 20 calls against the losers.

Onteora led 12-8 at the quarter and 24-18 at halftime. The Fleischmanns cagers started coming on in the third period, eventually wrested the lead before the Indians knotted the score at 45-45. Maben's foul shot followed.

Grant and Ballard rimmed 12 points apiece for the losers.

The boxscore:

Fleischmanns High (45)

KHS Gets Two Awards At Red Barber Dinner

500 Persons Expected For Annual Function

Kingston High School will receive the DUSO League golf trophy and Section 9 cross country cup at the annual KHSAA banquet Thursday at the high school cafeteria.

Walter "Red" Barber, the famous Voice of the Dodgers, will be the principal speaker.

The scarcity of trophies points up a lean year for KHS athletes since the last dinner. The golf squad, led by Harvey Bostic, swept through DUSO and Section 9 opposition.

Coach G. Warren Kias' harriers lost the DUSO title by two points to Monticello, but rallied to capture Section 9 honors.

According to the program released by Athletic Director G. Warren Kias the banquet will start promptly at 6 p. m. with an estimated 500 persons scheduled to hear the Old Redhead of CBS and Ebbets Field.

Martin Toastmaster

Principal John Martin will be the toastmaster and short speeches will be given by Coach Kias, Richard Kalish, chairman of the Board of Education's Athletic Committee; and Joseph Stein, president of the KHSAA. Coach Kias will introduce the athletic staff.

Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Board of Education, will introduce Red Barber. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has been invited. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly of St. Mary's. The Rev. William J. McVey of the First Presbyterian Church will give the benediction.

It was announced today that ticket holders can use the main entrance and both side entrances. Study Hall A and the locker rooms will be used as cloak rooms.

All members of the Hershey Bears in the American Hockey League are married men. They have a total of 16 children.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
(Fishing Editor)

We have odd winter jobs to clean up today. Carlos Samanca wants to know how to put his hip boots away so they won't mildew. The best way I know of is to use a large cardboard mailing tube. If you slip the tube inside of the boots, it will prevent them from cracking or sticking—which they often do when folded.

The tube will also aid in supplying ventilation to the inside of the boot and it will absorb any remaining moisture. You can usually get these mailing tubes at a hardware store, and they're made in a variety of sizes.

There's another letter here from a man who wants to know whether chubs and suckers are detrimental to a stream inhabited by brook trout. This has long been a source of dispute. While both species are blamed as being spawn-eaters, in this particular situation I'd venture the opinion that they have little effect on the stream.

Brook trout are largely head water spawners, and I doubt if the coarse fish would follow the trout in their Fall migration. In addition, brook trout bury their eggs under the gravel, and only dead or waste eggs would be found by the suckers.

Every species of fish could be accused of being a spawn-eater, including the trout, if the opportunity were presented, but on the other hand, there appears to be a certain agreeable biological relationship betwen the chubs, suckers and trout. The brook trout and suckers have been natural associates since the glacial periods.

Plenty of good eastern streams contain all three species, and the only time the coarse fish become conspicuous and overbalance the trout population is when the stream incurs so much fishing pressure on the game species that the coarse fish can multiply without interference. Kingston High Places Massa, Kozlowski and Engle on ALL-DUSO

NFA Gets Four Spots; Three Awarded Blues

Newburgh Free Academy's repeat football champions dominate the 1952 All-DUSO selections with four places on the first team announced today by members of the DUSO League Sportswriters Association.

Kingston High and Poughkeepsie High were awarded three berths each, the other going to Port Jervis.

The 1952 array includes six seniors, four juniors and one freshman.

Members of the first team will receive All-DUSO certificates to be presented by Association members in the respective citis.

Coach Willard Burke's second place Maroons landed Gene Massa, Bob Kozlowski and Bill Engle on the first team. Orville Giles, Chris Gallo and Fred Jackson were listed on the second squad. Several other Maroons were nosed out in close balloting.

The Academians placed three members of their stout line—George Roe, Ben Corrado and Dick Pavlik, the No. 1 lineman of the league—and their durable back, Jack Burger.

Heading the Poughkeepsie selections was 15-year-old freshman halfback sensation, Charles "Bobby" Johnson, who will be around to haunt DUSO opposition for three more seasons. The Blues also placed Charles Smith, senior guard, and Dan Dahowski, brilliant junior wingman.

The sportswriters took cognizance of Mel Decker's brilliant performances with a so-so Port Jervis squad in naming him fullback on the first string team.

Predominantly a running team, since there wasn't a single outstanding passer in the DUSO, 1952 selections feature three standout runners in Gene Massa, Johnson and Jack Burger, and a solid all-round performer in Decker.

Pavlik, the Newburgh center, and Bill Engle of Kingston were singled out for consistently high grade performances in the line.

Unlike the past few years, the DUSO sportswriters passed up the mail balloting to make their selections in an opening meeting at the Hotel Newburgh. Although several players were outstanding enough to merit unanimous selection, the other positions were filled after spirited debates between the writers.

Virtually all of the Kingston line was mentioned for first or second team positions, while Roger Billings and Pat Manfro figured in the balloting for the second team.

1952 All-DUSO

Fordham End Rates Best Pass Catcher

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Six-foot Ed Brown, senior end from Jersey City, N. J., played only eight football games this season with Fordham, but still managed to smash the major college pass catching record.

Playing two less games than many of his rivals and previous record holders, Brown wound up with 57 caught, 10 more than his closest pursuer, final statistics of the NCAA Service Bureau disclosed today.

This was five more than the previous national mark set in 1947 by Mississippi's Barney Poole and tied by Art Weiner of North Carolina in 1949—both in 10-game schedules.

Brown put on a tremendous performance in his final game against New York U., catching 15 and setting a record by gaining 233 yards.

With 91 passes caught in two seasons, Brown also broke the record of 83 made by Weiner. The Fordham end led this year's receivers in yardage with 774, fifth highest single season total on record.

Second place went to Joe McClaran of Drake, catching 47 which would have been good enough to win the title in all but three previous seasons. John Carroll of Holy Cross was third with 46, and Rocky Ryan and Rex Smith, Illinois, next with 45 apiece.

Goodman To Speak Before Gun Club

District Game Protector Bill Goodman will discuss the "375 permit" in a talk before the monthly meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club tonight at 8 o'clock.

The nomination and election of officers also will take place and plans will be made for the annual banquet.

A discussion on pheasant shooting also will be held. Refreshments will be served.

Bill Lillard and Val Mikiel Lead All-Star Tourney

Chicago, Dec. 9 (AP)—The field in the National All-Star bowling tournament will begin the chase after leaders Bill Lillard of Chicago and Val Mikiel of Detroit in the final day of the preliminaries today.

The 160 men bowlers will be fighting it out for 46 semi-final spots and also the honor of leading the qualifying round. Lillard appears to have a strangle hold on the lead with 3794 pins for 18 games while runnerup Ed Lubanski of Detroit only has 3755. In third place is Don Carter of Detroit with 3734.

Lillard moved into the top spot Sunday, after Joe Rouse of Antioch, Calif., had led on opening day. Rouse since slipped to a tie for seventh place with Walter Ward of Cleveland.

Miss Mikiel is the only woman bowler in the field of 64 who is currently averaging better than 200. The slender Detroit kegler has knocked down 2410 pins in 12 games while runnerup Laverne Haverley of Los Angeles has 2375.

Ellis Ryan Says He Wants to Stay As Tribe Prexy

Cleveland, Dec. 9 (AP) — Ellis Ryan, who now says he wants to retain his job as Cleveland Indians president, promises to settle the club's front-office squabble some time this week.

"Definitely, I want to remain president of the Indians, said the publicity-shy, former insurance man who seemed worried the uproar would be bad for baseball.

"I want to wind this thing up as quickly as I possibly can," he continued. "There has been so much conjecture that I think the public is entitled to know what's going on."

Declining to comment on how stiff a fight he would put up to retain his post, Ryan admitted he had the support of five other directors—Joseph Broderick, B. F. (Bo) Bernet, Guy Waters, David R. Jones and Jack Johns.

Together with Ryan, they are reported to control 1,200 of the team's 3,000 shares of stock. There are 12 directors counting Ryan.

"These men came into this venture with me and they have promised to stick it out to the finish," Ryan said.

The dispute broke into the open last Thursday while Ryan was attending the major leagues meeting at Phoenix, Ariz. It was not until last night that he made it clear he wanted to remain president, although he indicated that previously.

Details of the squabble never came into the open. Insiders said it started when Ryan pushed the purchase of the Indianapolis team in the American Association. Indianapolis lost money for the Tribe last year.

DUSO Basketball Openers Scheduled Friday

"The Fallsburg Comets are tough."

The Kingston High School basketball mentor had suspected that the Comets would be rugged enough with Aaron Podhurst, the heir aparent to ALL-DUSO Bob Laskowitz, the 1000-point man.

It now develops that Fallsburg has Podhurst, a veteran scorer, and Melvin Feldman, too. The DUSO hadn't heard much about Feldman but after his brilliant performance against Liberty in the DUSO opener, Coach Kias thinks he will be one of the best shooters in the loop.

"He hits well from the inside and outside," Kias commented, "and handles the ball beautifully. He and Podhurst will make Fallsburg one of the toughest teams we'll have to face this season." They'll be at the muncipal auditorium Friday night in the local basketball opener.

Feldman unloaded 20 points as the Comets mauled the Liberty Indians, 68-45, in the early mountain opener. Podhurst, an ALL-DUSO candidate, dropped 17 points.

In the other DUSO opener, Monticello defeated Ellenville, 71-68, in overtime.

The Monties led at all the quarter marks but Coach Pete Roberts' boys battled back to deadlock the game at the final buzzer. Monticello was in front at the quarter, 17-7, led 31-20 at the half and 41-30 heading for the stretch. Herb Gold led the winners with 17, while Jerry Kaplan hit a similar number for the Ellies.

Newburgh's three-time champions are reported "loaded" again, with all-conference Mickey "The Marvel" Burkowski and Bobby Spreer returning to spearhead NFA's bid for an unprecedented fourth straight pennant.

Competition for NFA berths has been so keen, according to Hill City reports, that no member of last year's Jayvee squad has been able to cinch a varsity position this season.

Although Kingston lost its first seven men, Coach Kias is hopeful that the Maroons' "new look" can prevail against the highly charged Comets.

Kias hasn't announced his starting lineup but Bill Haber and Bill DuBois appear to be likely backcourt starters, with Palmer Broadhead Jr. and George Telepas up front. Harry LaForge or Dick Bezemer, the squad's tallest operator at 6 feet 4, will start in the pivot.

John Godwin, Fred Jackson, the football end, Bob Maines, Ray Lawrence, Bucky Miller, Jack Houghtaling, Joe Markle and Jim Colclough are in the thick of the battle for the remaining spots on the varsity squad.

DUSO Schedule

The regular DUSO season gets underway Friday with the following schedule:

Newburgh at Middletown.
Ellenville at Liberty.
Port Jervis at Beacon.
Fallsburg at Kingston.
Poughkeepsie at Monticello.

Onteora Indians Cop 46-45 Win Over Fleischmanns

Onteora Central's Indians made the victory column after four unsuccessful attempts Saturday by shading Fleischmanns High, 46-45, in a schoolboy thriller at the Onteora gym.

Henry Maben's foul shot — the only action in the last two minutes of play—was the deciding point.

Foster was the individual scoring ace with 16 points and his 10 conversions set the tempo for the Indians' victory. Outscored from the field 14-12, the Onteorians showed remarkable accuracy from the foul line with 22 conversions in 20 calls against the losers.

Onteora led 12-8 at the quarter and 24-18 at halftime. The Fleischmanns cagers started coming on in the third period, eventually wrested the lead before the Indians knotted the score at 45-45. Maben's foul shot followed. Grant and Ballard rimmed 12 points apiece for the losers.

The boxscore:

Fleischmanns High (45)

	FG	FP	TP
Ballard, f	5	2	12
Blish, f	2	5	9
Somerville, f	3	2	8
Barrett, c	0	3	3

KHS Gets Two Awards At Red Barber Dinner

500 Persons Expected For Annual Function

Kingston High School will receive the DUSO League golf trophy and Section 9 cross country cup at the annual KHSAA banquet Thursday at the high school cafeteria.

Walter "Red" Barber, the famous Voice of the Dodgers, will be the principal speaker.

The scarcity of trophies points up a lean year for KHS athletes since the last dinner. The golf squad, led by Harvey Bostic, swept through DUSO and Section 9 opposition.

Coach G. Warren Kias' harriers lost the DUSO title by two points to Monticello, but rallied to capture Section 9 honors.

According to the program released by Athletic Director G. Warren Kias the banquet will start promptly at 6 p. m. with an estimated 500 persons scheduled to hear the Old Redhead of CBS and Ebbets Field.

Martin Toastmaster

Principal John Martin will be the toastmaster and short speeches will be given by Coach Kias, Richard Kalish, chairman of the Board of Education's Athletic Committee; and Joseph Stein, president of the KHSAA. Coach Kias will introduce the athletic staff.

Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Board of Education, will introduce Red Barber. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has been invited. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly of St. Mary's. The Rev. William J. McVey of the First Presbyterian Church will give the benediction.

It was announced today that ticket holders can use the main entrance and both side entrances. Study Hall A and the locker rooms will be used as cloak rooms.

All members of the Hershey Bears in the American Hockey League are married men. They have a total of 16 children.

By AL McCLANE
(Fishing Editor)

We have odd winter jobs to clean up today. Carlos Samanca wants to know how to put his hip boots away so they won't mildew. The best way I know of is to use a large cardboard mailing tube. If you slip the tube inside of the boots, it will prevent them from cracking or sticking—which they often do when folded.

The tube will also aid in supplying ventilation to the inside of the boot and it will absorb any remaining moisture. You can usually get these mailing tubes at a hardware store, and they're made in a variety of sizes.

There's another letter here from a man who wants to know whether chubs and suckers are detrimental to a stream inhabited by brook trout. This has long been a source of dispute. While both species are blamed as being spawn-eaters, in this particular situation I'd venture the opinion that they have little effect on the stream.

Brook trout are largely head water spawners, and I doubt if the coarse fish would follow the trout in their Fall migration. In addition, brook trout bury their eggs under the gravel, and only dead or waste eggs would be found by the suckers.

Every species of fish could be accused of being a spawn-eater, including the trout, if the opportunity were presented, but on the other hand, there appears to be a certain agreeable biological relationship betwen the chubs, suckers and trout. The brook trout and suckers have been natural associates since the glacial periods.

Plenty of good eastern streams contain all three species, and the only time the coarse fish become conspicuous and overbalance the trout population is when the stream incurs so much fishing pressure on the game species that the coarse fish can multiply without interference. Both chubs and suckers compete with the trout for food, but, on the other hand, the young of both species furnish a food supply for the trout.

While I think of it, now that winter fishing is under way, a word on cooking yellow perch and wall-eye is in order. I ate some in Minnesota once that were really a taste sensation. The way culinary artists around Red Lake fixed them didn't destroy the natural flavor—and that's important with delicate white-fleshed fish.

Simply fillet your fish and put plenty of bacon drippings into the skillet; while the grease gets smoking hot, roll the fillets in flower. Lay them into the smoking fat. They sear quickly, forming a crusty outside to hold the juices in. Use a squeeze of lime juice, if possible, over these hot crusty brown chunks.

Bev Port Sets Major Mark with 605; Pete Nagy City Minor Leader With 612

Mrs. Port compiled her new mark with solos of 207, 181 and 217.

Pete Nagy, the chunky Hutton Brick strike specialist, led the male contingent with a 612 blast in the City Minor League. He fired games of 227, 192 and 193.

Schoonmaker Raps 562

Elizabeth Schoonmaker was runnerup in the Women's Major with 200-562 and Ada Markle fashioned 223-533. Rose Schatzel shot 515, Marge Jansen 504, Dot Rawding and Eleanor Singer 484 and Tess Moss 476.

Team results:

Sportsmen's Park 2, Williams Lake 1; Bert Bishop 2, SRS 1; Jones Dairy 3, Jake's Grill 0.

NATIONAL NOTES: Although the 49th annual American Bowling Congress tournament lasted a record of 85 days—approximately 2,040 hours—the major championships were won in a period of less than two days—33 hours. There have been 4,151,985 games rolled in 49 ABC tournaments since 1901. When Al Sharkey won the 1952 ABC singles championship he never sat down between shots. The Chicagoan, who won the title with 758, said that he never sits down when he's bowling good. In winning the ABC team title in 1952, the E&B Beer team of Detroit scored 1037, 1028 and 1050—3115, the seventh highest team total in the ABC's history. This was the 15th team to score three "1000" games in an ABC.

Parker Raps 574

Tom Parker's 208-574 was second best in the City Minor where Johnny's Drive-In increased its league lead to two games over Mannie's with a 2-1 triumph over the Barbers.

Ralph Dumenigo shot 549; Ben Galitzky 215-547; Joe Spadafore 546; Joe Maurer 201-201-544; Joe Dulin 539; John Keizer, Millie Berardi and Frank Deuire 536; Bob Myers 204-534; John Guido 532, and Harry Secreto 531.

Team results:

Cities Service 3, Donato Bros. 0; Johnny's Drive-In 2, Mannie's Barber Shop 1; Veterans Barber Shop 2, D-D's Drive-In 1; Mauro's Grill 2, Hutton Brick 1; Joe Epstein's 3, Crystal Gardens 0; Stone Ridge Firemen 2, Tommy's Tavern 1; Kingston Knitting Mills 2, Broadway Chop House 1.

Tie in Junior Major

B. Conlin and Joe Roche tied for high series honors in the Junior Major at the Centrals, the latter blasting a 254 solo in his third set.

Conlin compiled his series with 197-183-215 and Roche fired 147-194-254. Herb Sleight shot 562; Ted Wood 539; Eddie Esposito 542; Tony Canzoneri 200—529; A. Lansperry and Hans Maylahn 528; Angelo Corrado 527; Ed Oughel-tree 205—526 and Howard Minard 201—522

Team results:

Shults Paint 2, Donnaruma and Augustine 1; American Legion 2, Esposito's 1; Five-in-One 3, Haber's Grill 0. Al's Sea Food-Ertels (postponed).

Anna Maccaline powered 480, with 169-183-128, to lead the Junior Women's Major and Dot Donnaruma posted 469. Dot Khederian had 450; Mabel Mackey 446; Fran Hogan 434; Yoland Benicase 418; M. Leach 410; J. Argulewicz 408; M. O'Donnell 404 and L. Garafola 401.

Team results:

Tropical Inn 2, Hilltoppers 1; Schilling Sales 2, Mac's Market 1; Rosendale Florist 2, Elston Sports Shops 1; Colonial Cleaners 3, J.P.'s 0.

Milt Cole, Jr.—575

Milt Cole, Jr.'s 575 (192-178-205) was best-of-night in the Independent League, with Bill Davis trailing at 203—565 and Tom Welch firing 562 with a pair of 203s.

Ray DuBois opened with 206 and closed with 557; Junior Davis had 553, Craig Plough 204—542, Orv Van Alstyne 202—544, Ray Cornish 539, Ray Roux 535, Knute Beichert 534, Don Vogel 215—534, Art Shelightner 528 and Rudy Kubicek 524. John Reis posted a 212.

Team results:

Beichert's Studies 2, Martin's Market 1; Welch Grocery 3, Callanan Road 0; Sickler's Delivery 3, Vogel's Dairy 0; Stone Ridge Firemen 2, Jump's Market 1; Stone Ridge Firemen 2, Vogel's Dairy 1 (postponed match).

HOW TO SLEEP WARM IN CAMP!

WHEN SLEEPING ON THE GROUND IN COLD WEATHER, BUILD A FIRE WHERE YOU INTEND TO SLEEP. PUT SOME LARGE STONES IN THE FIRE TO HEAT THEM THROUGH. WHEN READY TO RETIRE, SCRAPE THE FIRE TO ONE SIDE AND BURY THE STONES JUST UNDER THE SURFACE OF WARMED EARTH. IT WILL AID COMFORT TO SHAPE SHALLOWS TO FIT YOUR HIPS AND SHOULDERS IN THE EARTH. USE A GROUND CLOTH UNDER YOUR BEDDING. MORE STONES MAY BE LEFT TO HEAT IN A FIRE AS YOU SLEEP IN CASE YOU NEED TO REMAKE BED DURING THE NIGHT.

A CANTEEN FILLED WITH BOILING WATER MAKES A GOOD FOOT WARMER. CHANGE TO DRY GARMENTS BEFORE RETIRING.

Napanoch Prison Five Edges Three Bros. With Last Second Foul Shot, 84 to 83

Three Brothers Farms trailed the powerful Napanoch cagers until the last few seconds of play when they tied the count 83-83 last night at Napanoch.

Then came a foul shot by Dockery and the inmates snatched a thrilling 84-83 triumph over the Esopus basketeers.

Coach Earle O. Terwilliger's quintet moved out in front 25-20 at the quarter and shared a 45-45 stalemate at the intermission. Napanoch went ahead to stay in the third quarter.

The institution quintet won its fourth straight game behind the brilliant shooting of Smith and Dockery, who hit 25 and 20 points respectively. Both are rated big time calibre.

Gil, Jack Stay

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers still are in the market for an established pitcher today but they won't give up first baseman Gil Hodges or second baseman Jackie Robinson to land one.

Dodger President Walter O'Malley made it clear yesterday that Robinson and Hodges are untouchables.

"Neither Robinson nor Hodges will be traded or sold," O'Malley said. "Any talk of their leaving Brooklyn is ridiculous."

Both NBA Leaders Victims of Upsets

(By The Associated Press)

Winning streaks went a-tumbling last night as the lowly Milwaukee Hawks and Indianapolis Olympians knocked off the divisional leaders in a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Milwaukee.

In the opening game, Indianapolis ended Minneapolis' five-game winning streak by whipping the Western division pace-setters, 81-76.

Then, in the second game, Milwaukee pulled upset No. 2 by trimming Syracuse, the Eastern division leader, 101-89. That ended the Nats' seven-game streak.

Bob Lavoy was the gent responsible for ending the Lakers' streak. He caged 11 points in the third period as Indianapolis took a 59-56 lead. And it was his field goal with four minutes left which gave the Olympians the lead for keeps.

Lavoy wound up with 18 points, two less than teammate Joe Graboski.

George Mikan of the Lakers, however, was the game's high scorer with 25 points.

In the nightcap, two former Nats — Bill Calhoun and George Ratkovitz—ruined their old club. Calhoun scored 26 points and Ratkovitz 15. Both had played with Syracuse earlier this season.

All other teams were idle.

Utah State and Brigham Young have played two nip and tuck football games the last two seasons. State won recently, 27-26, but in 1951 BY scored by 28-27.

The first radio broadcast of a Michigan State football game was in 1923 from a phone booth anchored atop Macklin Field Stadium.

Dom DiMaggio of the Boston Red Sox hit. 283 in 1941 and 1947. He has never hit below that mark since entering organized baseball in 1937.

Good Time Voted Top Harness Horse

Columbus, O., Dec. 9 (AP)—Good Time, winner of 23 of his 33 starts in 1952, is the harness racing horse of the year. It is the second time in five years the nation's turf writers voted Good Time this honor.

Owned by Bill Cane of Goshen, the horse will take with him track records at Ohio, New York, Maryland, Massachusetts and Kentucky raceways when he retires to stud next season.

Good Time was the first place choice of 80 of the 99 turf writers who voted in the poll conducted by the U. S. Trotting Association.

The horse, son of Hal Dale-on Time finished lower than third only five times this season. Besides his 23 firsts, he raced to three places and two shows.

Other horses garnering votes in the turf writers' poll include in the first top 10:

Sharp Note, owned by C. W. Clark, Dearborn, Mich.; Star's Pride; E. R. Harriman and L. B. Sheppard, Goshen, N. Y.; Chris Spencer, Dunbar W. Bostwick, Shelburne, Vt., Meadow Rice, W. G. Reynolds, Louisville, Ky.; Direct Rhythm, W. G. Reynolds; Dudley Hanover, Hayes Fair Acres Stable, Du Quoin, III.; Pronto Don, Hayes Fair Acres; Yankee Hanover, Mrs. John L. Wehle, Scottsville, N. Y., and Lively Lady, Gary Acres Stable (leasee), Wooster, O.

A total of 7,903,590 fans attended pari-mutuel harness racing at tracks in all states during 1952.

Bev Port Sets Major Mark with 605; Pete Nagy City Minor Leader With 612

Beverly Port, the tall, dark cannoneer with the fastest ball in town, joined the seasonal "600" club last night with a record breaking 605 performance in the Women's Major League at the Bowlodrome.

Mrs. Port compiled her new mark with solos of 207, 181 and 217.

Pete Nagy, the chunky Hutton Brick strike specialist, led the male contingent with a 612 blast in the City Minor League. He fired games of 227, 192 and 193.

Schoonmaker Raps 562

Elizabeth Schoonmaker was runnerup in the Women's Major with 200-562 and Ada Markle fashioned 223-533. Rose Schatzel shot 515, Marge Jansen 504, Dot Rawding and Eleanor Singer 484 and Tess Moss 476.

Team results:

Sportsmen's Park 2, Williams Lake 1; Bert Bishop 2, SRS 1; Jones Dairy 3, Jake's Grill 0.

NATIONAL NOTES: Although the 49th annual American Bowling Congress tournament lasted a record of 85 days—approximately 2,040 hours—the major championships were won in a period of less than two days—33 hours. There have been 4,151,985 games rolled in 49 ABC tournaments since 1901. When Al Sharkey won the 1952 ABC singles championship he never sat down between shots. The Chicagoan, who won the title with 758, said that he never sits down when he's bowling good. In winning the ABC team title in 1952, the E&B Beer team of Detroit scored 1037, 1028 and 1050—3115, the seventh highest team total in the ABC's history. This was the 15th team to score three "1000" games in an ABC.

Parker Raps 574

Tom Parker's 208-574 was second best in the City Minor where Johnny's Drive-In increased its league lead to two games over Mannie's with a 2-1 triumph over the Barbers.

Ralph Dumenigo shot 549; Ben Galitzky 215-547; Joe Spadafore 546; Joe Maurer 201-201-544; Joe Dulin 539; John Keizer, Millie Berardi and Frank Deuire 536; Bob Myers 204-534; John Guido 532, and Harry Secreto 531.

Team results:

HOW TO SLEEP WARM IN CAMP!

WHEN SLEEPING ON THE GROUND IN COLD WEATHER, BUILD A FIRE WHERE YOU INTEND TO SLEEP. PUT SOME LARGE STONES IN THE FIRE TO HEAT THEM THROUGH. WHEN READY TO RETIRE, SCRAPE THE FIRE TO ONE SIDE AND BURY THE STONES JUST UNDER THE SURFACE OF WARMED EARTH. IT WILL AID COMFORT TO SHAPE SHALLOWS TO FIT YOUR HIPS AND SHOULDERS IN THE EARTH. USE A GROUND CLOTH UNDER YOUR BEDDING. MORE STONES MAY BE LEFT TO HEAT IN A FIRE AS YOU SLEEP IN CASE YOU NEED TO REMAKE BED DURING THE NIGHT.

A CANTEEN FILLED WITH BOILING WATER MAKES A GOOD FOOT WARMER. CHANGE TO DRY GARMENTS BEFORE RETIRING.

Napanoch Prison Five Edges Three Bros. With Last Second Foul Shot, 84 to 83

Three Brothers Farms trailed the powerful Napanoch cagers until the last few seconds of play when they tied the count 83-83 last night at Napanoch.

Then came a foul shot by Dockery and the inmates snatched a thrilling 84-83 triumph over the Esopus basketeers.

Coach Earle O. Terwilliger's quintet moved out in front 25-20 at the quarter and shared a 45-45 stalemate at the intermission. Napanoch went ahead to stay in the third quarter.

The institution quintet won its fourth straight game behind the brilliant shooting of Smith and Dockery, who hit 25 and 20 points respectively. Both are rated big time calibre.

Big Jack Doyle rimmed 20 points and Frank Fiore had 17 as the Brothers placed all nine men in the scoring column.

Gil, Jack Stay

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers still are in the market for an established pitcher today but they won't give up first baseman Gil Hodges or second baseman Jackie Robinson to land one.

Dodger President Walter O'Malley made it clear yesterday that Robinson and Hodges are untouchables.

"Neither Robinson nor Hodges will be traded or sold," O'Malley said. "Any talk of their leaving Brooklyn is ridiculous."

Both NBA Leaders Victims of Upsets

(By The Associated Press)

Winning streaks went a-tumbling last night as the lowly Milwaukee Hawks and Indianapolis Olympians knocked off the divisional leaders in a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Milwaukee.

In the opening game, Indianapolis ended Minneapolis' five-game winning streak by whipping the Western division pace-setters, 81-76.

Then, in the second game, Milwaukee pulled upset No. 2 by trimming Syracuse, the Eastern division leader, 101-89. That ended the Nats' seven-game streak.

Bob Lavoy was the gent responsible for ending the Lakers' streak. He caged 11 points in the third period as Indianapolis took a 59-56 lead. And it was his field goal with four minutes left which gave the Olympians the lead for keeps.

Lavoy wound up with 18 points, two less than teammate Joe Graboski.

George Mikan of the Lakers, however, was the game's high scorer with 25 points.

In the nightcap, two former Nats — Bill Calhoun and George Ratkovitz—ruined their old club. Calhoun scored 26 points and Ratkovitz 15. Both had played with Syracuse earlier this season.

All other teams were idle.

Utah State and Brigham Young have played two nip and tuck football games the last two seasons. State won recently, 27-26, but in 1951 BY scored by 28-27.

The first radio broadcast of a Michigan State football game was in 1923 from a phone booth anchored atop Macklin Field Stadium.

Dom DiMaggio of the Boston Red Sox hit .283 in 1941 and 1947. He has never hit below that mark since entering organized baseball in 1937.

Good Time Voted Top Harness Horse

Columbus, O., Dec. 9 (AP)—Good Time, winner of 23 of his 33 starts in 1952, is the harness racing horse of the year. It is the second time in five years the nation's turf writers voted Good Time this honor.

Owned by Bill Cane of Goshen, the horse will take with him track records at Ohio, New York, Maryland, Massachusetts and Kentucky raceways when he retires to stud next season.

Good Time was the first place choice of 80 of the 99 turf writers who voted in the poll conducted by the U. S. Trotting Association.

The horse, son of Hal Dale-on Time finished lower than third only five times this season. Besides his 23 firsts, he raced to three places and two shows.

Other horses garnering votes in the turf writers' poll include in the first top 10:

A total of 7,903,590 fans attended pari-mutuel harness racing at tracks in all states during 1952.

SINGLE OR DOUB

Rhinebeck Named In Dewey Program

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—Gov. Dewey has announced a program costing up to $90,000 a year for treatment and study of emotionally disturbed children at special volunteer centers in New York, Buffalo and Rhinebeck.

The program, which was announced yesterday, was recommended by the governor in his 1952 message to the legislature.

The program, his office said, was designed for children "suffering from personality disorders, who are too emotionally disturbed to be cared for in foster homes or in institutions for normal children, but not ill enough to be placed in mental hospitals."

Each of the three child-care centers will provide residential treatment for 20 to 30 children. The state will contribute a maximum of $30,000 a year to each center.

The agencies are the Children's Aid Society and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children of Erie County, in Buffalo; the Astor Home for Children at Rhinebeck, operated by the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York, and the Henry Ittleson Center for Child Research of the Jewish Board of Guardians, New York city.

The governor's office said the aim was to uncover causes of personality disturbances and to test modern methods of treating and curing them.

Home Bureau

Tillson Unit

The regular meeting of the Tillson unit of the Home Bureau will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the church hall. The lesson will be on advanced Christmas decorations under the leadership of Mrs. N. Kellar. Since this is the only lesson scheduled, all those interested are urged to attend.

West Hurley Unit

The West Hurley unit of the Home Bureau will hold its Christmas decoration class Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 10 a. m. in the town hall. Everyone interested is requested to bring all the material required for the project, as well as lunch. For information, telephone Mrs. Nettie Every, 1324-J-1, or Mrs. Marie Saszka, 167-M-2.

Wiltwyck Unit

Wiltwyck Unit held its monthly business meeting Tuesday at the Home Bureau rooms, 410 Broadway. Mrs. Adam Thiel presided. A class in advance Christmas greens will be held Friday. For information, telephone Mrs. Harry Van De Mark, 933; Mrs. Eugene Rider, 2224; or Mrs. Thiel, 2575-J.

Last week, on Thursday, the unit enjoyed a dinner and Christmas party at Judie's. A Home Bureau skit which followed, was presented by Mrs. Thiel, Mrs. William Abernethy, Mrs. Joseph Scholar, Mrs. Joseph Dugan, Mrs. Edmund Demski and Miss Loretta Noble. Gifts were exchanged, and Mrs. Abernethy entertained with musical selections.

In attendance besides those already mentioned, were the Mmes. Charles Lamphere, Joseph Lamphere, Peter Lonigan, Norman Niles, Harry VanWagenen, Durwood Freer, Walton Fallon, William Lifer, Milfred Wendland, Stanley VanWagenen, Paul Zucca, Joseph Scholar, Edward Reynolds, Thomas Connolly, Edward Parmelee, Bessie Arnold, Thomas Goodman, Joseph Stout, A. THE LITTLE PEOPLE'S CHRISTMAS — FOR THE BIRDS, TOO — By WALT SCOTT

Eisenhower Faces

the Defense Department now seems to know how much the bill will be.

Questioners who raised the issue of free rides for people who have no official or military status—at least until the Jan. 20 presidential inauguration—got his reply from the Pentagon:

"Gen. Eisenhower's trip to Korea was directly concerned with military operations, and also with the orderly transition of government—both of which are clearly in the national interest."

Truman Gave Offer

The department cited the highest possible authority for this statement—President Truman. A spokesman said, "as Commander-in-Chief and Chief Executive (President Truman) offered Gen. Eisenhower the transportation he needed."

As for the advisers who accompanied the next chief executive or later joined him aboard the cruiser Helena, the Department said the President's offer "included transportation for such staff as the General desired to be with him at any time during the trip."

The defense officials questioned was unable to say whether this interpretation covered the newsmen and photographers who went with Eisenhower. One official thought it barely possible that the reporters and cameramen eventually would get bills for their shares of the airplane transportation, on the basis of commercial rates for trans-Pacific air travel.

All of the military services have had a part in the Eisenhower trip and will absorb varying shares of the cost. But the principal burden was born by the air force through its Military Air Transportation Service (MATS).

The Air Force is quite accustomed to flying congressmen and military and civilian brass all over the world.

Will Hit Sex Deviates

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 9 (AP)—Acting because of what he calls "a sharp increase in the use of motor vehicles for immoral purposes," State Motor Vehicles Commissioner Charles F. Kelley says he will suspend the driving licenses of all convicted sex deviates. So that the action will not be haphazard, Ekley said yesterday, the Motor Vehicles Department will conduct a thorough, confidential investigation of each case before suspension of the operator's permit.

Going to Red Parley

Mexico City, Dec. 9 (AP)—Mural painter Diego Rivera, Mexico's in-and-out Communist, said today he would leave shortly for the Communist "peace conference" which opens Dec. 12 in Vienna. He will go via Havana since he is not permitted to enter the United States.

The Sawkill Fire Company held a meeting at the firehouse Monday evening. A meeting will be held at the firehouse Dec. 10. All members are requested to be present. Election of officers will be on the agenda.

The Sawkill Home Bureau Unit's annual Christmas party and Christmas decorations project which was scheduled to be held last week was postponed due to inclement weather. It will be held at the schoolhouse tonight at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to bring a small gift for exchange.

Plans for TB Yule Party Due Wednesday

A meeting of the steering committee for the Christmas party which will be given patients of the Ulster County TB Hospital will be held Wednesday at 1:45 p. m. The Christmas party for patients will be held at the hospital Dec. 29. Representatives of various organizations in the county which make up the Patients Service Committee will be in charge. Plans will be made to purchase gifts for the patients. These gifts will be wrapped by Mrs. Henry DeWitt's Teen Age Group. Santa Claus will come from the Knights of Columbus in Kingston to distribute the gifts from the tree. B'nai B'rith Auxiliary will furnish the refreshments.

Ever since 1910, when the first TB hospital was opened in Ulster county, citizens have carried on a Christmas party for the patients with presents, a Christmas tree, entertainment, and refreshments. To carry out this tradition, the same program will be followed for 1952. Several organizations and individuals have already forwarded contributions to the committee who will purchase gifts for each patient. Organizations and individuals interested in participating may contact the chairman of the planning committee, Alice Scardefield, 317 Clinton avenue, or Edmund P. Rochford, chairman of the Patients Service Committee.

Didn't Blame Sailor

San Francisco, Dec. 9 (AP)—A 64-year-old news vendor said he didn't want to prosecute the sailor who knocked him down and scattered his papers in the gutter. "He didn't mean it judge, he was just drunk. I know how servicemen like to frolic on their day off. I'm an ex-serviceman myself." "You're an ex-serviceman?" asked Municipal Judge John J. McMahon. "Yes, your honor—Imperial Russian Army. A captain," replied Vassili Zakharoff.

Father, Son Reunited

Wellesley, Mass., Dec. 9 (AP)—Francis X. Emery, 31, of Somerville, was reunited with his three-year-old son yesterday for the first time since both were stricken with polio last September. Nurses at the Mary MacArthur Resiratory Center where the reunion took place yesterday said it was one of the most dramatic meetings ever to take place at the center. The father is in an iron lung while little Gerald's leg is in a cast.

Water passes rapidly through the human stomach without being absorbed.

Action Is Started On Injury Charge

An action arising out of injuries which Mrs. Philip Zwilling received August 6, 1951, when she tripped over a plank which had been laid to aid in removal of a safe from a North Front street store, was taken up for trial in Supreme Court before a jury and Justice Elsworth today. Mrs. Jennie Zwilling and her husband proprietors of a second hand furniture and antique store two doors from the scene of the accident bring the action against the Van Etten & Hogan Trucking firm of this city.

Mrs. Zwilling alleges that a plank was laid from the store and partially across the side walk in preparation for removal of a safe. After the plank was laid a second plank was found to be defective and the workmen went to the moving van and began repairs on the damaged plank, leaving the first plank unguarded from the doorway and extending over the walk. She tripped and suffered injuries and was a patient at the hospital for several weeks.

Abraham Streifer appears for the plaintiffs and Stanley Johnson of Johnson and McCann of Newburgh appears for the defendants.

Four Cases Settled

Meanwhile four cases on the day calendar in Supreme Court were announced settled Monday afternoon when Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth convened the court for the afternoon session. The case which had been expected to go to trial was among the cases settled and consequently there was no other case ready and court was recessed until today and jurors excused until 10 a. m. today.

Following the call Monday morning and additions to the ready calendar, Justice Elsworth announced the next call for additions to the day calendar would be Monday, Dec. 15, at 10 a. m.

Settled was:

No. 146, Verna M. Osterhoudt against Lester Osterhoudt, action for separation. Manuel Dittenheimer for plaintiff and Connelly & Connelly for defendant.

No. 140, Elsie Hiltbrant against Sam Astolas, Sr., negligence. N. LeVan Haver for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant.

No. 136, Sadie Lachterman against Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation and another, negligence with regard to real property. Louis B. Scheinman for plaintiff and Johnson and McCann for defendant.

No. 132, Nettie Belmont against Ohrbach's, Inc., negligence. Abraham Streifer for plaintiff and Johnson and McCann for defendants.

No. 119, Doreen Scott and another against Tisch Enterprises, Inc., negligence. Abraham Streifer for plaintiff and Cashin and Ewig for defendants.

Taunts Red Deputies

Paris, Dec. 9 (AP)—Premier Antoine Pinay taunted Communist deputies today as sellers of hangman's ropes. The deputies yelled in rage and set off a brief uproar in the National Assembly. Pinay was defending his 1953 budget of more than 11 billion dollars on which he is seeking a vote of confidence. A Communist deputy shouted "leather merchant" at Pinay, who owns a small leather tannery in central France.

Probe Money Grants

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Reputed Rockefeller Foundation money grants to the Institute of Pacific Relations and Hans Eisler, brother of Communist Gerhardt Eisler, came under scrutiny of House investigators today. A special House committee investigating tax-exempt foundations called John D. Rockefeller, 3rd, and Dean Rusk, president of the foundation, for questioning about these and other foundation activities.

Tough Tony Says

in Sing Sing prison at Ossining, N. Y.

Saying ex-convicts were preferred for waterfront jobs, Tischon said he spent most of his working time "playing cards and looking to steal something."

Companies Helpless

John E. Slater, president of the big American Export Lines, told the commission that company officials were helpless about conditions which he said forced them to take on ex-convict pier supervisors.

Slater, whose line operates the big new luxury liners Independence and Constitution, said there "isn't much sense" in reforms "unless we could be assured that the proper protection would be given all the way down the line."

"I mean protection by the city and the state," he added.

The testimony by Slater and Tischon, was in contrast to the silence of a number of other witnesses, among them three local officials of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association.

Tischon, who no longer works on the waterfront, said he was sent to Denny St. John, a hiring boss, by Joe Powell, an ILA shop steward. Tischon said Powell is the ex-convict who recruited him at Sing Sing. St. John was among witnesses who refused to answer commission questions, on ground of possible self incrimination.

Would Pilfer Bags

Some longshoremen, Tischon said, used insurance records to find ships' passenger luggage of more than ordinary value. "They then would break into that particular bag," he added.

His orders, Tischon said, were: "If anything's stolen, don't forget the bosses down here."

Tischon testified that he believed the bosses to be taken care of were Powell and St. John, who has a record of 20 arrests.

Tischon told the commission the work force on his pier was made up of 50 to 60 per cent ex-convicts and added:

"Everybody's got larceny in his heart, wanting to make a fast buck, but working with people you were in prison with—the chances of somebody suggesting committing a crime is so much greater. Some turn out very good * * *, but the temptation is there."

Liquor in Prison Gym

New York, Dec. 9 (AP) — Sing Sing prison's gymnasium once was called "Duffy's Tavern," after the inmate in charge and because of contraband liquor and food stored there, an ex-convict says.

Anthony Tischon, testifying yesterday before the New York State Crime Commission, said Johnny Duff was one of his pals when he was in Sing Sing at Ossining, N. Y.

Tischon said Duff—now dead—was in charge of the gym while it was used as a storeroom for "stamps, money, liquor, all kinds of contraband outside of guns" smuggled into the prison.

Rhinebeck Named In Dewey Program

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—Gov. Dewey has announced a program costing up to $90,000 a year for treatment and study of emotionally disturbed children at special volunteer centers in New York, Buffalo and Rhinebeck.

The program, which was announced yesterday, was recommended by the governor in his 1952 message to the legislature.

The program, his office said, was designed for children "suffering from personality disorders, who are too emotionally disturbed to be cared for in foster homes or in institutions for normal children, but not ill enough to be placed in mental hospitals."

Each of the three child-care centers will provide residential treatment for 20 to 30 children. The state will contribute a maximum of $30,000 a year to each center.

The agencies are the Children's Aid Society and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children of Erie County, in Buffalo; the Astor Home for Children at Rhinebeck, operated by the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York, and the Henry Ittleson Center for Child Research of the Jewish Board of Guardians, New York city.

The governor's office said the aim was to uncover causes of personality disturbances and to test modern methods of treating and curing them.

Home Bureau

Tillson Unit

The regular meeting of the Tillson unit of the Home Bureau will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the church hall. The lesson will be on advanced Christmas decorations under the leadership of Mrs. N. Kellar. Since this is the only lesson scheduled, all those interested are urged to attend.

West Hurley Unit

The West Hurley unit of the Home Bureau will hold its Christmas decoration class Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 10 a. m. in the town hall. Everyone interested is requested to bring all the material required for the project, as well as lunch. For information, telephone Mrs. Nettie Every, 1324-J-1, or Mrs. Marie Saszka, 167-M-2.

Wiltwyck Unit

Wiltwyck Unit held its monthly business meeting Tuesday at the Home Bureau rooms, 410 Broadway. Mrs. Adam Thiel presided. A class in advance Christmas greens will be held Friday. For information, telephone Mrs. Harry Van De Mark, 933; Mrs. Eugene Rider, 2224; or Mrs. Thiel, 2575-J.

Last week, on Thursday, the unit enjoyed a dinner and Christmas party at Judie's. A Home Bureau skit which followed, was presented by Mrs. Thiel, Mrs. William Abernethy, Mrs. Joseph Scholar, Mrs. Joseph Dugan, Mrs. Edmund Demski and Miss Loretta Noble. Gifts were exchanged, and Mrs. Abernethy entertained with musical selections.

In attendance besides those already mentioned, were the Mmes. Charles Lamphere, Joseph Lamphere, Peter Lonigan, Norman Niles, Harry VanWagenen, Durwood Freer, Walton Fallon, William Lifer, Milfred Wendland, Stanley VanWagenen, Paul Zucca, Joseph Scholar, Edward Reynolds, Thomas Connolly, Edward Parmelee, Bessie Arnold, Thomas Goodman, Joseph Stout, A. THE LITTLE PEOPLE'S CHRISTMAS — FOR THE BIRDS, TOO — By WALT SCOTT

the Defense Department now seems to know how much the bill will be.

Questioners who raised the issue of free rides for people who have no official or military status—at least until the Jan. 20 presidential inauguration—got his reply from the Pentagon:

"Gen. Eisenhower's trip to Korea was directly concerned with military operations, and also with the orderly transition of government—both of which are clearly in the national interest."

Truman Gave Offer

The department cited the highest possible authority for this statement—President Truman. A spokesman said, "as Commander-in-Chief and Chief Executive (President Truman) offered Gen. Eisenhower the transportation he needed."

As for the advisers who accompanied the next chief executive or later joined him aboard the cruiser Helena, the Department said the President's offer "included transportation for such staff as the General desired to be with him at any time during the trip."

The defense officials questioned was unable to say whether this interpretation covered the newsmen and photographers who went with Eisenhower. One official thought it barely possible that the reporters and cameramen eventually would get bills for their shares of the airplane transportation, on the basis of commercial rates for trans-Pacific air travel.

All of the military services have had a part in the Eisenhower trip and will absorb varying shares of the cost. But the principal burden was born by the air force through its Military Air Transportation Service (MATS).

The Air Force is quite accustomed to flying congressmen and military and civilian brass all over the world.

Will Hit Sex Deviates

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 9 (AP)—Acting because of what he calls "a sharp increase in the use of motor vehicles for immoral purposes," State Motor Vehicles Commissioner Charles F. Kelley says he will suspend the driving licenses of all convicted sex deviates. So that the action will not be haphazard, Ekley said yesterday, the Motor Vehicles Department will conduct a thorough, confidential investigation of each case before suspension of the operator's permit.

Going to Red Parley

Mexico City, Dec. 9 (AP)—Mural painter Diego Rivera, Mexico's in-and-out Communist, said today he would leave shortly for the Communist "peace conference" which opens Dec. 12 in Vienna. He will go via Havana since he is not permitted to enter the United States.

Plans for TB Yule Party Due Wednesday

A meeting of the steering committee for the Christmas party which will be given patients of the Ulster County TB Hospital will be held Wednesday at 1:45 p. m. The Christmas party for patients will be held at the hospital Dec. 29. Representatives of various organizations in the county which make up the Patients Service Committee will be in charge. Plans will be made to purchase gifts for the patients. These gifts will be wrapped by Mrs. Henry DeWitt's Teen Age Group. Santa Claus will come from the Knights of Columbus in Kingston to distribute the gifts from the tree. B'nai B'rith Auxiliary will furnish the refreshments.

Ever since 1910, when the first TB hospital was opened in Ulster county, citizens have carried on a Christmas party for the patients with presents, a Christmas tree, entertainment, and refreshments. To carry out this tradition, the same program will be followed for 1952. Several organizations and individuals have already forwarded contributions to the committee who will purchase gifts for each patient. Organizations and individuals interested in participating may contact the chairman of the planning committee, Alice Scardefield, 317 Clinton avenue, or Edmund P. Rochford, chairman of the Patients Service Committee.

Didn't Blame Sailor

San Francisco, Dec. 9 (AP)—A 64-year-old news vendor said he didn't want to prosecute the sailor who knocked him down and scattered his papers in the gutter. "He didn't mean it judge, he was just drunk. I know how servicemen like to frolic on their day off. I'm an ex-serviceman myself." "You're an ex-serviceman?" asked Municipal Judge John J. McMahon. "Yes, your honor—Imperial Russian Army. A captain," replied Vassili Zakharoff.

Father, Son Reunited

Wellesley, Mass., Dec. 9 (AP)—Francis X. Emery, 31, of Somerville, was reunited with his three-year-old son yesterday for the first time since both were stricken with polio last September. Nurses at the Mary MacArthur Resiratory Center where the reunion took place yesterday said it was one of the most dramatic meetings ever to take place at the center. The father is in an iron lung while little Gerald's leg is in a cast.

Action Is Started On Injury Charge

An action arising out of injuries which Mrs. Philip Zwilling received August 6, 1951, when she tripped over a plank which had been laid to aid in removal of a safe from a North Front street store, was taken up for trial in Supreme Court before a jury and Justice Elsworth today. Mrs. Jennie Zwilling and her husband proprietors of a second hand furniture and antique store two doors from the scene of the accident bring the action against the Van Etten & Hogan Trucking firm of this city.

Mrs. Zwilling alleges that a plank was laid from the store and partially across the side walk in preparation for removal of a safe. After the plank was laid a second plank was found to be defective and the workmen went to the moving van and began repairs on the damaged plank, leaving the first plank unguarded from the doorway and extending over the walk. She tripped and suffered injuries and was a patient at the hospital for several weeks.

Four Cases Settled

Meanwhile four cases on the day calendar in Supreme Court were announced settled Monday afternoon when Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth convened the court for the afternoon session. The case which had been expected to go to trial was among the cases settled and consequently there was no other case ready and court was recessed until today and jurors excused until 10 a. m. today.

Following the call Monday morning and additions to the ready calendar, Justice Elsworth announced the next call for additions to the day calendar would be Monday, Dec. 15, at 10 a. m.

Settled was:

No. 146, Verna M. Osterhoudt against Lester Osterhoudt, action for separation. Manuel Dittenheimer for plaintiff and Connelly & Connelly for defendant.

No. 140, Elsie Hiltbrant against Sam Astolas, Sr., negligence. N. LeVan Haver for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant.

No. 136, Sadie Lachterman against Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation and another, negligence with regard to real property. Louis B. Scheinman for plaintiff and Johnson and McCann for defendant.

No. 132, Nettie Belmont against Ohrbach's, Inc., negligence. Abraham Streifer for plaintiff and Johnson and McCann for defendants.

No. 119, Doreen Scott and another against Tisch Enterprises, Inc., negligence. Abraham Streifer for plaintiff and Cashin and Ewig for defendants.

Taunts Red Deputies

Paris, Dec. 9 (AP)—Premier Antoine Pinay taunted Communist deputies today as sellers of hangman's ropes. The deputies yelled in rage and set off a brief uproar in the National Assembly. Pinay was defending his 1953 budget of more than 11 billion dollars on which he is seeking a vote of confidence. A Communist deputy shouted "leather merchant" at Pinay, who owns a small leather tannery in central France.

Probe Money Grants

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Reputed Rockefeller Foundation money grants to the Institute of Pacific Relations and Hans Eisler, brother of Communist Gerhardt Eisler, came under scrutiny of House investigators today. A special House committee investigating tax-exempt foundations called John D. Rockefeller, 3rd, and Dean Rusk, president of the foundation, for questioning about these and other foundation activities.

Tough Tony Says

in Sing Sing prison at Ossining, N. Y.

Saying ex-convicts were preferred for waterfront jobs, Tischon said he spent most of his working time "playing cards and looking to steal something."

Companies Helpless

John E. Slater, president of the big American Export Lines, told the commission that company officials were helpless about conditions which he said forced them to take on ex-convict pier supervisors.

Slater, whose line operates the big new luxury liners Independence and Constitution, said there "isn't much sense" in reforms "unless we could be assured that the proper protection would be given all the way down the line."

"I mean protection by the city and the state," he added.

The testimony by Slater and Tischon, was in contrast to the silence of a number of other witnesses, among them three local officials of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association.

Tischon, who no longer works on the waterfront, said he was sent to Denny St. John, a hiring boss, by Joe Powell, an ILA shop steward. Tischon said Powell is the ex-convict who recruited him at Sing Sing. St. John was among witnesses who refused to answer commission questions, on ground of possible self incrimination.

Would Pilfer Bags

Some longshoremen, Tischon said, used insurance records to find ships' passenger luggage of more than ordinary value. "They then would break into that particular bag," he added.

His orders, Tischon said, were: "If anything's stolen, don't forget the bosses down here."

Tischon testified that he believed the bosses to be taken care of were Powell and St. John, who has a record of 20 arrests.

Tischon told the commission the work force on his pier was made up of 50 to 60 per cent ex-convicts and added:

"Everybody's got larceny in his heart, wanting to make a fast buck, but working with people you were in prison with—the chances of somebody suggesting committing a crime is so much greater. Some turn out very good * * *, but the temptation is there."

Liquor in Prison Gym

New York, Dec. 9 (AP) — Sing Sing prison's gymnasium once was called "Duffy's Tavern," after the inmate in charge and because of contraband liquor and food stored there, an ex-convict says.

Anthony Tischon, testifying yesterday before the New York State Crime Commission, said Johnny Duff was one of his pals when he was in Sing Sing at Ossining, N. Y.

Tischon said Duff—now dead—was in charge of the gym while it was used as a storeroom for "stamps, money, liquor, all kinds of contraband outside of guns" smuggled into the prison.

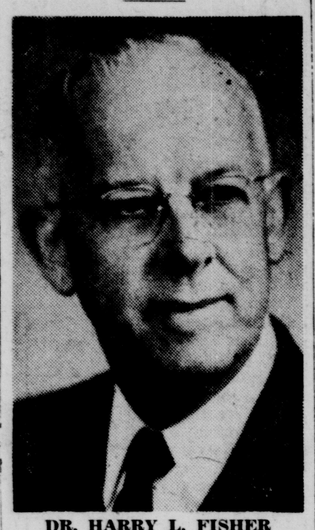
Former Resident To Head Nation's Chemists in 1954



DR. HARRY L. FISHER

A former Kingston resident, Dr. Harry L. Fisher, has been chosen president-elect of the American Chemical Society, it was announced today.

Dr. Fisher, who was born in this city in 1885, is special assistant to the director of the Office of Synthetic Rubber, Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington, D. C., and is regarded as an internationally known authority on the chemistry of rubber.

He will take over as head of the nation's chemists in 1954 while Professor Farrington Daniels, head of the department of chemistry in the University of Wisconsin, will be president in 1953.

Holds Many Honors

Dr. Fisher, a former director of the organic research of U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc., New York, was elected in a national ballot of the Society's 67,000 chemists and chemical engineers.

He has been winner of many scientific honors including the Charles Goodyear Medal in rubber chemistry, the Modern Pioneer Award of the National Association of Manufacturers and the Edgar Marburg Lectureship of the American Society for Testing Materials.

The former Kingston man is a graduate of Williams College, 1909, and received the AM in 1910 and the Ph.D. in 1912 from Columbia University.

Editors Elect Waters

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—William J. Waters, managing editor of the Ithaca Journal, is the new president of the New York State Associated Press Association. Waters was elected yesterday to succeed Thomas Berrigan, editor of the Niagara Falls Gazette. The group is composed of editors of AP member newspapers. Hugh V. Robertson, vice president of the Westchester County Publishers, Inc., was elected vice president and Norris Paxton, chief of the AP Albany Bureau, was renamed secretary-treasurer. Gov. Dewey made an off-the-record speech last night at a dinner that closed the association's annual meeting.

The text will be taken from the Prophet Zechariah, Chapter 13, which is generally accepted as a prophet regarding a Messiah or Savior. The organist, Russell Schmidt, will give a brief recital of Advent selections before the service. The public is invited.

TILLSON

Tillson, Dec. 9—The regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company will be held tonight in the firehall at 8 o'clock. A brief resume of the past year's activities will be given by the executive committee and plans will be made for the 1953 program of activities. Recommendations made at a meeting of the executive committee last week will be presented to the membership. All members are urged to attend. Following the regular business session refreshments will be served.

The board of fire commissioners of the Tillson fire district will hold the regular monthly meeting Wednesday at the fire hall at 8 p. m.

The annual Christmas party for members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Tillson Reformed Church will be held Thursday night, Dec. 11, at the church hall. Members are requested to bring a small gift for the exchange of gifts which will take place during the party. Hostesses will be Mrs. Floyd Craig and Mrs. Leslie Barringer.

The Tillson Firehall is nearly ready to accommodate students of the Tillson school who will shortly be transferred due to an overflow of children in the schoolhouse. A ceiling has been installed, heating plant repaired and enlarged and plumbing facilities completed. No definite date has yet been set for the transfer, according to members of the school board, nor has it been announced which students will be sent to the firehall.

Following the regular business session of the Tillson school association Thursday evening a Christmas party was held with Mrs. George Segelken and Mrs. Arthur Deyo in charge. Gifts were exchanged and refreshments served. The association donated $5 toward the movie and Christmas party for the children of the Town of Rosendale Dec. 23 at the Rosendale theatre. Former Resident To Head Nation's Chemists in 1954

A former Kingston resident, Dr. Harry L. Fisher, has been chosen president-elect of the American Chemical Society, it was announced today.

Dr. Fisher, who was born in this city in 1885, is special assistant to the director of the Office of Synthetic Rubber, Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington, D. C., and is regarded as an internationally known authority on the chemistry of rubber.

He will take over as head of the nation's chemists in 1954 while Professor Farrington Daniels, head of the department of chemistry in the University of Wisconsin, will be president in 1953.

Holds Many Honors

Dr. Fisher, a former director of the organic research of U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc., New York, was elected in a national ballot of the Society's 67,000 chemists and chemical engineers.

He has been winner of many scientific honors including the Charles Goodyear Medal in rubber chemistry, the Modern Pioneer Award of the National Association of Manufacturers and the Edgar Marburg Lectureship of the American Society for Testing Materials.

The former Kingston man is a graduate of Williams College, 1909, and received the AM in 1910 and the Ph.D. in 1912 from Columbia University.

Editors Elect Waters

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—William J. Waters, managing editor of the Ithaca Journal, is the new president of the New York State Associated Press Association. Waters was elected yesterday to succeed Thomas Berrigan, editor of the Niagara Falls Gazette. The group is composed of editors of AP member newspapers. Hugh V. Robertson, vice president of the Westchester County Publishers, Inc., was elected vice president and Norris Paxton, chief of the AP Albany Bureau, was renamed secretary-treasurer. Gov. Dewey made an off-the-record speech last night at a dinner that closed the association's annual meeting.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Dec. 9 — Mrs. Lela A Locke spent the weekend with the Markles in lower Leibhardt.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Quick, Jr., and daughter Susan of Pataukunk recently visited Mr. Quick's mother Mrs. Herman Quick.

Charles Bohem of New York visited Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lindgren last week.

Jacob Gray of Tabasco bagged a deer on the last day of the season.

Pvt. Norman Gray, stationed in Pennsylvania, spent last weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gray of Wallkill spent Sunday with their nephew and niece Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Markle.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Anderson of Rochester Center attended the funeral of Mrs. Anderson's brother in Brooklyn last week.

Mrs. Fred Simpson and two children and Miss Betty Dewitt of Kerhonkson visited Mrs. Herman Quick last Sunday.

Mrs. Ada Van Gaasbeck is now a patient at Kingston Hospital.

E. B. Markle visited his aunt Mrs. Mary Markle in Mombaccus recently.

Second Advent Service

A second mid-week Advent service will be held at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte will preach a sermon on the theme the Open Fountain. The text will be taken from the Prophet Zechariah, Chapter 13, which is generally accepted as a prophet regarding a Messiah or Savior. The organist, Russell Schmidt, will give a brief recital of Advent selections before the service. The public is invited.

TILLSON

Tillson, Dec. 9—The regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company will be held tonight in the firehall at 8 o'clock. A brief resume of the past year's activities will be given by the executive committee and plans will be made for the 1953 program of activities. Recommendations made at a meeting of the executive committee last week will be presented to the membership. All members are urged to attend. Following the regular business session refreshments will be served.

The board of fire commissioners of the Tillson fire district will hold the regular monthly meeting Wednesday at the fire hall at 8 p. m.

The annual Christmas party for members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Tillson Reformed Church will be held Thursday night, Dec. 11, at the church hall. Members are requested to bring a small gift for the exchange of gifts which will take place during the party. Hostesses will be Mrs. Floyd Craig and Mrs. Leslie Barringer.

The Tillson Firehall is nearly ready to accommodate students of the Tillson school who will shortly be transferred due to an overflow of children in the schoolhouse. A ceiling has been installed, heating plant repaired and enlarged and plumbing facilities completed. No definite date has yet been set for the transfer, according to members of the school board, nor has it been announced which students will be sent to the firehall.

Following the regular business session of the Tillson school association Thursday evening a Christmas party was held with Mrs. George Segelken and Mrs. Arthur Deyo in charge. Gifts were exchanged and refreshments served. The association donated $5 toward the movie and Christmas party for the children of the Town of Rosendale Dec. 23 at the Rosendale theatre. The school Christmas exercises will be held Friday afternoon Dec. 19. Parents and the public are invited.

Mrs. Howard Sutherland entertained at a birthday party for her son Howard in observance of his ninth birthday Thursday afternoon. Games were played and refreshments served. Those attending were Roger Yarter, Randolph VanKeuren, George Taylor, Thomas Rowe, John Rowe, Lawrence Born, Garry Sutherland and Glenn Sutherland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cipolli and daughter Lynn recently moved to their new home on Browning Terrace, Kingston.

Herman Osmers, Fred Briege and Oliver Keator attended the Cyprus Temple fall ceremonial at the New Scotland Avenue Armory in Albany Saturday.

Mrs. Oliver Keator visited her son Joseph Gallagher and family in Kingston Saturday.
